Environment, Cost Control Keys To Successful Grazing

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

CARLISLE (Cumberland Co.) — With a keen eye on controlling costs and making effective use of supplemental feeds in a rotational grazing program, a large dairy located in north Florida is slowly realizing returns on its initial investment.

The 500-acre Piedmont Dairy, Trenton, Fla., begun in November 1994 as a 1,400-cow rotationally grazed, New Zealand-style dairy — an all-season rotationally grazed enterprise — is successfully meeting the challenges of a subtropical climate and has learned lessons that are valuable to all dairy farms throughout the country:

Lesson one: keep an eye on maximizing the investment by controlling costs.

Lesson two: environmental issues can literally break a farm if not followed keenly.

Those were the messages conveyed to more than 180 producers and agri-industry representatives on Wednesday, the first of the two-day Pennsylvania Grazing Conference held at The Embers in

USDA Seeks Comments On Dairy Pricing

WASHINGTON D.C. — March 31 is the deadline for submitting comments on the way the USDA prices milk through its basic formula price (BFP), especially on the role of the National Cheese Exchange.

Interested parties wishing to comment on the use of NCE prices in the determination of the BFP may send their comments to Dairy Division, AMS, USDA, ATTN: BFP Evaluation, Room 2968-S, P.O. Box 96456, Washington DC 20090-6456.

Comments should be postmarked no later than March 31.

Prior to attending a recent meeting in Scranton, U.S. Secretary of Agriculutre Dan Glickman had announced that he was taking steps to address concerns raised by dairy producers about how milk prices are calculated.

Glickman was then, and still is, seeking public comment on whether National Cheese Exchange (NCE) price data should be used in the determination of the Basic Formula Price (BFP) used in

Maryland Jersey Club Elects Officers, Presents Awards

KAREN BUTLER
Maryland Correspondent

WOODSBORO, Md. — Jersey cattle enthusiasts gathered for the 76th annual Maryland Jersey Cattle Club meeting recently. The luncheon meeting took place at the fireman's activities building in Woodsboro. The day's agenda included the regular business meeting, election of officers, and crowning of a new Jersey queen.

Robert and Kerrie Anderson, a young dairy farming couple from Australia, shared their experiences with seasonal grazing on their 320-acre farm in Nar Nar Goon, Victoria, Australia with the group. This was Rob's second trip to the United States; he was awarded a trip to the U.S. as the national youth dairy winner in 1993. The Andersons milk 300 Jerseys, and have about 110 calves on their farm. By the end of 1997, they

Yorkshire, Duroc, Hampshire Breeders Hold Spring Show, Sale

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — The Yorkshire/Duroc/Hampshire Spring Show and Sale was held March 1 at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds and saw 17 breeders exhibit and sell 61 breeding quality animals.

The highest selling animal of the sale was the champion Yorkshire boar, exhibited and consigned by Neutzel Brothers and Neutzel Yorks and Hamps of Felton, and sold to Henry Johnson III of Selbyville, Del., for $775.

Jim Neutzel shows his champion Yorkshire boar and high seller of the Pennsylvania Yorkshire/Duroc/Hampshire Spring Show and Sale. It sold for $775 to Henry Johnson III of Selbyville, Del.

The champion Duroc boar, exhibited and consigned by Clyde McConaughey, of Smicksburg, was second highest selling. It was purchased by Kenneth Moyer of Jonestown for $550.

There were 80 register buyers representing six states as the sale, with an overflow crowd in the fairground's Hog Barn. Harry H. Bachman, of Annville, served as auctioneer.

Charles Hall is president of the Yorkshire Association which holds the show and sale twice a year. For information on the association call him at (814) 355-1647.

Also, Bachman is involved in the breed associations and can be contacted for more information at (717) 867-1809.

The fall show, which also includes offerings for youth project pigs for the Farm Show, has

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
MARCH 5, 1997

Wheat bids were slightly higher on light export orders overnight and concerns over soft red winter wheat crop due to flooding in the Ohio and Tennessee Valleys. Corn and soybean bids fell moderately lower as profit taking was the major factor. Wheat 1 to 3 cents higher. Corn 1 to 4 cents lower. Sorghum 2 to 5 cents lower. Soybeans 3 to 5 cents lower. Severe flooding in the Ohio valley has traders concerned over the soft red wheat crop. Overnight export sales to the Philippines offered some support to bids but sales remain very low. Lack of foreign orders have pushed corn and soybean bids lower and light profit taking helped pressure bids. Soybean bids declined on reports China has been reselling meal and oil contracts. Brazilian port workers went on strike today, halting bean loadings and limiting declines. ## The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC THIS WEEK WITH

MARCH 10-16, 1997

MAYFLOWER LAUNCHING

Forty years ago, on March 16, 1957, the Mayflower's shallop was launched in Plymouth, Massachusetts It was a reproduction of the Pilgrim ship, of course, not the original, but we salute it nonetheless. A shallop (from the French chaloupe or Dutch sloep, for sloop) is an open boat fitted with oars or sails or both Despite the animosity that brought the early settlers from England in the first place, the English and Americans would have agreed on the old English saying, "A ship under sail, a man complete with armour, and a woman with a great belly are three of the handsomest sights"

A dear ship stays long in the harbor.

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ If you're trying to increase your fertility, decrease your caffeine consumption.

BROILED EGGPLANT

1 medium eggplant
2 tablespoons olive oil
4 tablespoons basil pesto
salt and pepper
juice of 1 lemon
grated Parmesan

Coat broiler pan with some of the olive oil Slice eggplant into ½-inch rounds and place on the pan, then brush with remaining olive oil Broil a few inches from the heat for about 10 minutes, until the eggplant is golden and soft in the center Remove from heat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, coat with a thin layer of basil pesto, and sprinkle with lemon juice Return to the broiler for just a couple of minutes to warm, then serve immediately with grated Parmesan

Makes 4 servings, as a side dish.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

If it does not freeze on March 10, a fertile year may be expected.

Blue Sky Through Dark Clouds

When you get together with farmers, optimism is not usually a word you can use to describe the mood or theme of the meeting. Farmers talk about low prices, high costs, and what government should do or not do to help them survive. Certainly, it has been a long time since we heard a farm speaker indicate that a farming operation or practice has resulted in "bulging hip pockets" or "swelling bank accounts."

That's why the discussion at the Southeast Pennsylvania Grazing Conference in Lancaster last week was so electrifying. Jim Landis, the dairy farmer from Virginia with a large herd in Georgia, sought to remove all doubt that grass farming pays. From his enthusiasm that could be labeled religious fervor, we gather that the reasoning behind intensive grazing goes deeper than the bottom line. Reducing cow stress and farmer stress and fulfiling God's call on your life rated right up there with reducing input costs and receiving higher returns per acre than almost any other crop.

In addition, calling 1996 one of the best dairy price years ever, with net average of $15.32 per hundered weight, is not often acknowledged. But Landis did. And he said U.S. farmers get twice as much for milk as farmers in New Zealand.

Is intensive grazing for everyone? We don't know. Like every other farm method, this method takes a lot of planning and some changing of the way you do things.

But we do know it was refreshing to hear farmers being optimistic. Joy and enthusiasm can be just as self- fulfiling as gloom and doom. Thank you grazers for letting a little blue sky break through the black clouds we so often hear about in the dairy industry.

Sincerest thanks and appreciation to all who have shown their concern for the dairy farmers plight. We ask for your continued support and pressure on our elected officials. They must realize the cry being heard throughout the country from the dairy farmers is one that can no longer be ignored.

Until recently there has been an attitude of unconcern simply because no one saw the loss of one farmer as a threat. Inconsequential may have been the term for one, but what of 400? Inconsequential to the nation as a whole perhaps, but is it when 400 has occurred in one country, in one state? It's simply multiplication to see the seriousness of the situation.

Some say we must be poor managers. Why then was it possible just a few years ago to travel 5 miles and see 25 farmers and today just the opposite is true. Yet everyone is still eating the healthiest, most nutritious, economical food worldwide. This food doesn't come from the store or a fast food restaurant, it comes from the farmers.

We deal with many variables, from the weather, the animals' health, government regulations, and now the volatile price fluctations.

We produce a top quality product as efficiently and economically as possible, that is business. We are trying to hang on to a way of life that founded this country, a way of life that was thought of as a

To Ask Some Questions

Recently I heard a presentation by Harold Rank, New Holland North America, on 21st Century Management Strategies for Commercial Farms.

In his presentation, he identified several key questions every farmer should ask himself.

These questions were:

1. Do you know why you are in business?
2. Do you have SMART goals? Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Reasonable and goals with Timing defined.
3. Do you have a vision of where you are going and a well defined plan to get there?
4. Do you know your Strengths, your Weaknesses, your Opportunities and the Threats to your business? and
5. Do you have the skills, abilities, resources and financial support that will be required for you to succeed in the 21st century?

These are key questions every farm family need to discuss. They will help you to focus your efforts so you will achieve your goals. Now is a good time to start these discussions.

To Ask More Questions

Harold Rank, New Holland North America, stated farmers need to ask the following questions as they prepare to enter the 21st century.

1. Do you know the industry trends and your customer needs?
2. Do you know the desires of the end customers of your products?
3. How well do you know the producers both locally and globally?
4. What are the critical assumptions impacting your business strategy?
5. Can the strategy be implemented?
6. How flexible are you to change? and
7. What are the alternatives that need to be considered?

Do you have the answers to these questions? If not, you need to spend time developing their answers.

The farms that will survive into the next century will know these answers.

Spend time reading, listening and developing resources that will keep you in tune to changes and how you must adjust your farm to theses changes.

To Look At Your Business

Last week I attended a meeting that featured Dr. David Kohl, Virginia Tech, discussing management strategies.

He made several interesting points I think every small business owner needs to consider, including farmers.

These include:

1. Need to consider labor as an investment rather than a cost. Invest accordingly!
2. Need to be involved in two to six hours of professional improvement per week. This includes reading, attending meetings, taking a course, etc.
3. People do not care how much you know until you demonstrate you care.
4. Need to differentiate between what is important vs. what is urgent.
5. Need to think rather than process. and
6. Things I have direct control over, I manage. Things I have no control over, I manage around.

MORE AND MORE
March 9, 1997

Background Scripture:
I Thessalonians 3:6 through 4:12
Devotional Reading:
I Peter 1:13-22

Whenever I am tempted to think glowingly about my 36.75 years of experience as a pastor, I am reminded of the headmaster of a New England school who appointed a young man to be department chairman, even though several of his colleagues had served the school for longer periods of time. One of these complained to the headmaster, pointing out that he had twenty years of experience in this department. But the headmaster replied, "In reality, you haven't had twenty years' experience. You have had one year's experience twenty times over."

The important questions is not how long we have been on the job, but what we have leearned during that time. It is quite possible to spend a long time in a vocation and, like the teacher quoted above, to learn or grow very little, to simply relive the same experience over and over again. We forget that putting in time is not the same as growing. And, when we are gone, we may not leave a vacancy.

One of our problems, if I may generalize a bit from my own experience, is that we approach life in general pretty much the way we approached school. We took a particular course or subject and, when we passed it, we went on to something else. So, have you had geometry? Yes, I had that in 10th grade! Next subject, please.

PASSING THE COURSE?

But life — especially life as a follower of Jesus Christ — is not like school for we never finish with any of the subjects. Love is not a course to be passed and then forgotten. As Christians, we never master the course of love. What we learn about love propels us to learn more and more. None of us ever become totally proficient in love.

This is what lies behind much of what Paul writes to the church at Thessalonika. He is delighted at what Timothy has told him concerning that congregation: "Timothy ... has brought us the good news of your faith and love and reported that you always remember us kindly and long to see us ..." (3:6). He is so happy with this report that he gives thanksgiving to God for the spiritual vitality of the Thessalonian church.

Reading this far, the Thessalonian Christians might feel a sense of pride. But then Paul goes on to say," ... may the Lord make you increase and abound in love to one another and to all men, as we do to you ..." (3:12). Does that mean that the level of love in the church at Thessalonika is encouraging, but that there's room for growth? Yes — and not just in Thessalonika — there is always room and need for growth in love and faith.

OUT OF SIGHT

So, Paul commends the Thessalonians for their love and faith and then exhorts them to more. "Finally, brethren, we ... exhort you in the Lord Jesus, that as you learned from us how you ought to live and to please God, just as you are doing, you do so more and more" (4:1). They've come a long way, but it's not the end of the road. That goal is always just beyond our line of sight.

Again, Paul commends them: "But concerning love of the brethren you have no need to have anymore write to you. For you yourselves have been taught by God to love one another; and indeed you do love all the brethren throughout Macedonia. But we exhort you, brethren, to do so more and more" (4:10).

In Andre Gide's novel, The Counterfeiters, the mother says, "I have learned to ask less and less of life ... and of myself, more and more." I'm still working on that, how about you?

Shaping the future with 4-H and FFA.

CoreStates Bank's Agri-Finance Department is proud to support 4-H and FFA members and programs.

We believe preserving the family farm is one of the most effective ways to ensure a better future for everyone. So CoreStates is committed to working with young people and supporting their goals.

With guidance and encouragement, they will develop the skills and values they'll need to be successful in farming or wherever their lives take them. And their achievements will benefit us all.

When we take your milk to market, you take home a lot more than just money.

Dairylea's milk marketing network stretches from Maine to Ohio to Maryland, providing a market for your milk and competitive prices. But that's not all, because there's value added too.

In addition to paying our farmer members an average premium of 30 cents per hundredweight, no one else can offer the wide array of programs and services available exclusively from Dairylea. We focus our efforts on developing resources that can help generate more revenue or achieve real cost savings for you. With our help, the average farmer can also save up to 40 cents per hundredweight.

So take action today. Call us toll-free at 800/654-8838 and find out more about Dairylea.

It's Time To Take Another Look at Onan.

Onan's standby generator systems are more affordable than ever, and the quality is still every bit as high. Onan's simplified diesel generators from 35-200kW deliver the famous Onan reliability that you want– without a lot of extras you don't need.

The fact is that a reliable standby power system – and Onan provides everything from the genset to the switch gear – could even make you money. Just ask your processor, who might pick up part of the cost, or your local electric company, which might show you how to cut your costs by helping them shave peak loads.

Quality emergency power can save you money – even while it gives you greater freedom. Your emergency generator should be doing the standing by, not you.

Take another look at a generator you can count on. Call us today for a closer look at a quality power system designed for your work and your budget.

Resistant Blue Mold Concerns Tobacco Researchers

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

PARADISE (Lancaster Co.) — Tobacco researchers and extension specialists said Wednesday that growers should be on the watch for a pesticide-resistant blue mold that could possibly enter into Pennsylvania this year.

According to speakers Wednesday at a tobacco growers meeting sponsored by the Lancaster County Extension Service, the emergence of the resistant strain of the blue mold disease is likely being caused by the use of a pesticide in "floating" seed beds in the South used to raise seedlings ready for planting.

Blue mold is one of the diseases that can strike in a traditional seed bed or in an adult plant. If it strikes a plant after it has spiked, then it is generally too late to do anything, and according to researchers, for some reason it tends to stop spreading at that point. The plant can still be harvested.

However, Ridomil 2E, a trademarked pesticide labeled for use in a soil seed bed, and used to control blue mold in seed beds, is going out of production in favor of a new Ridomil-Gold.

The floating system of raising seedlings for transplanting basically consists of styrofoam cells with soil plugs that float on top of flats of nutrient-controlled water.

The upward capillary action of water moves it toward the surface and to the seed.

After germination (seed must sit in a small, open depression in the soil and not have any soil on top of it), the root system works downward into the nitrogen and nutrient controlled fluid, and the plants are clipped back to provide hardiness and thicker bases.

Floating systems are being used widely in the South to raise such plants, and blue mold is a year-round presence there, according to the researchers. In Pennsylvania, the disease is believed to perish every year in winter, and it only reenters as the molds in the South release spores into the air and they are carried north and east with the jet stream.

A warning system is set up whereby Kentucky monitors the presence of the mold and the type and alerts cooperating states.

Within a short time after the warning, the mold can be expected to appear in Pennsylvania, according to John Yocum, manager of the Penn State Co-op Extension Southeast Pennsylvania Research Laboratory in Landisville.

It was expected to hit the Maryland area last year, according to David Conrad, a University of Maryland tobacco researcher. However, unusual weather patterns actually carried it up west of the East Coast and into Canada.

This year may not be so fortunate for growers, if wind patterns return to the more normal southwesterly flows as the growing season progresses.

If blue mold does hit early, those using the soil-seed beds can use their stocks of Ridomil 2E, but not the new Ridomil-Gold in the seed beds.

Yocum also said that producers want to be careful to look at the label of their Ridomil. The new version is more concentrated, and more effective, as well as more costly per volume, as can be expected for a concentrated product.

The reason for not using Ridomil in a floating seed bed, in addition to their not being any legal approval to do so, is that it is selecting for the resistant strain of blue mold.

Yocum said that Ridomil is the most effective weapon producers have against the disease and without its use, growers could be in trouble. Therefore, he and others urged producers to not use the chemical in floating beds (though they risk losses from pythium), and to also to be careful in purchasing seedlings.

One local vendor with contaminated plants could infect the state quickly and threaten the year's crop.

F.O.4 March Milk $15.17

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Middle Atlantic Order Market Adminstrator Rex F. Lothrop recently announced for March 1997 a Class I price of $15.17 per hundredweight and a Class II price of $12.24 per hundredweight.

The March Class I price includes the 20 cent assessment for fluid milk promotion and consumer education. The Class I price, less the 20 cent assessment, and the Class II price are up 60 cents from February but are 79 cents lower when compared to year earlier levels.

Mr. Lothrop announced a Class III milk price of $11.99 per hundredweight for January 1997 and a Class III-A price of $11.55 per hundredweight for the month. The Class III price was up 57 cents from the previous month, while the Class III-A price decreased 28 cents.

The March 1997 Class I and Class II prices and the January 1997 Class III price are based on the January 1997 basic formula milk price of $11.94 per hundredweight at a 3.5 percent butterfat content.

The January 1997 butterfat price was 87.26 cents per pound, up 10.22 cents from December. The January skim milk price per hundredweight was $9.26.

The USDA reported that the wholesale price of Grade A butter at Chicago for January was 81.74 cents per pound.

Lancaster County Dairy Days Provides Info For Use, Thought

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Hundreds of people attended Lancaster County Dairy Days I and II during the past two weeks.

The bulk of attendance filled the auditorium at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center in Lancaster during the second dairy day event, held Tuesday.

Douglas Reinemann, associate professor at the University of Wisconsin-Madison College of Agricultural and Life Sciences Milking Research and Instruction Laboratory, was the featured speaker at the first dairy day event, held Feb. 25.

Reinemann talked about the basics of a milking system and the physical requirements, as well as providing some recommendations based upon the findings of research.

Also during that meeting, Dr. Robert Yonkers, a Penn State agricultural economist, and a panel of area farmers, discussed what they saw as strategies to dairying success in coming years with the apparent business environment of expanding exports, local niche markets, computers and technology.

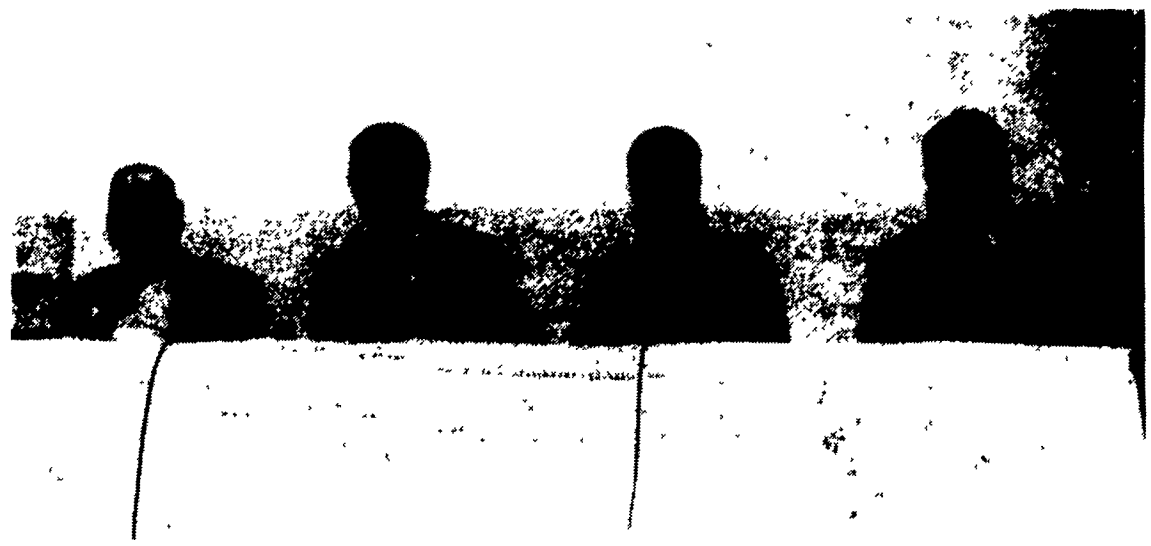
On Tuesday, at Dairy Day II, the program primarily featured Dr. Carl Brown, of F.M. Brown's Sons, and Dr. Lester Vough, a forage crop extension specialist with the University of Maryland. Vough has served as the judge for the annual Penn State Ag Progess Days Hay Show for a number of years.

Also speaking briefly at the end of the meeting before forming a panel for a question and answer period were Dr. Michael O'Conner, a Penn State extension dairy specialist whose emphasis has been on dairy reproduction and programmed breeding; Robert Munson, a researcher at University of Pennsylvania's New Bolton Center; and Dr. Steven Milliken, a local veterinarian who specializes in dairy reproduction and is with Reproductive Associates, in Lititz.

In his talk during the first Dairy Day, Reinemann talked about the basics of a vacuum milking system and attempted to describe, in some instances, what sounds correlated to a properly functioning system and to a non-functioning system.

For example, he described the sound of a well-functioning system as steadily intermittent (P-ffft, P-ffft, P-ffft), as opposed to a steady air sound (PFFFFFFFF... ). He also talked about some of the other extra-scientific, but repeatedly observable characteristics of a working system, as compared to a malfunctioning system.

Though Reinemann's talk was technically specific in many areas, and he didn't have handouts, he said that technical information about milking systems is available through the internet through the University of Wisconsin's department of Biological Systems Engineering.



A panel of experts discuss different aspects of dairy cow reproduction during Lancaster Dairy Days II. From the left is Robert Munson, Michael O'Conner, Steven Milliken, and Carl Brown.

One of the main points he said he wanted to make is that there is no such thing as the perfect milking system for everyone. He said that milking systems should be designed to accomodate the abilities and needs of those who do the milking.

Also, he said the building protecting the milking area and system should be just that, rather than attempting to squeeze a good milking system into a poorly designed building.

It should be as simple and as short as possible, he said. The fewer bends and turns the better. He also said that rubber parts should be replaced somewhat frequently, and that milk tubing should also be replaced more frequently than when it is cracked.

He explained that as the plastics degrade, small cracks in to the tubing can harbor bacteria that can evade being affected during the wash cycle, and lead to high bacteria counts.

Also, air leaks can occur at such cracks and cause a disfunctioning and irregular pumping system, which can lead to many different problems, including cow health problems.

A properly designed, set-up and maintained system not only is easier to use, but it can help provide better quality raw milk for shipping, be easier on the animals, and save money because of increased efficiency. Reinemann said that, "If set up correctly, it can clean (a milking system) with less (energy) than used at milking." But he added that the system has to be "... set up right and controlled correctly."

He said things to look for include a "pretzel" system. According to Reinemann, if there are too many "tangles" in the system, he has been recommending installing a flat barn milking system. He said a 30-foot to 40-foot system can milk faster, easier and will clean, as opposed to some of the systems that seem to have extensions on top of extensions.

The levelness of the system is important because the effect of gravity can destroy the smoothness and efficiency, or cause buildups of fluid in certain areas. He said of particular concern are extensions to a pipeline which go out of sight of the regulator.

"Before designing a building, design the milking system," he said. "Avoid long runs of pipe. Whenever you can, keep it short. Avoid a high lift. Keep the milkhouse near the receiver. Keep it compact."

He showed diagrams of several different styles of vacuum milking design.

The pre-1980 design used air injectors on the sink line, not on the receiver line. He said it is a difficult system to control because there is no control over where the water is going, and it is hard to balance and make both part work right.

He showed another design, simplified, with an air injector on the sink line and the sink line directly linked to the receiver loop, but noted that it is difficult to get washing and milking done at the same time.

Another system, with a single air injector on a line between the sink and receiver lines, that it's difficult to control air.

A system using air injectors on the sink line and from the sink to the receiver loop requires a sequencing of the injectors.

He said the ideal parlor in Wisconsin right now is designed for the expanding herd in the upper Mid West; it is designed for optimal milking and cleaning performance; the building is around the system; and that the parlor is expandable, and is designed so that the receiver doesn't move because of expansion.

He cautioned that it's important to keep the investment in a milking system in line with the herd size and the cash flow of the farm.

Reinemann also discussed the economies of scale with regard to milking equipment and herd size, with such things as heat recovery and pre-cooling.

Also, he said that when working with a company, discuss such things as service support and energy conservation programs to help ensure that the most benefits are being gained in installing the system, and that such things as not being able to get a competent serviceman when one is needed won't happen.

He said an all-energy efficient system can reduce the cost of milking by half.

He said there are rules for vacuum pump efficiency and it includes measuring.

A vacuum tester is necessary to adjust and fine-tune a milking system. It shouldn't be done by guess work or tinkering.

Reinenmann touched on a wide variety of areas with milking systems, from liner considerations based on teat sizes in the herd, to weight distribution to the teats from the milking units.

On Dairy Day II, the function of the rumen, the microbial population and conditions for it functioning well were discussed in a video and by Dr. Brown.

Dr. Vough talked about forage quality and how it is affected by weather and growing conditions. He also discussed harvesting techniques and considerations that can help retain the quality of the forage.

In response to a question about when the best time of the day was to cut forages, Vough said the morning, immediately after the dew dries is the best time.

Some people, knowing that there are two energy cycles in plants — energy using respiration, energy storing photosynthisis — have reasoned that cutting at evening should maximize the amount of energy trapped in the plant.

However, Vough said that respiration doesn't stop completely after cutting, until the plant's moisture content gets very low.

If the forage is cut in the evening, it will sit all night and respirate, significantly lowering the amount of energy locked inside.

What Vough said is better is to cut it after the dew drys, allow it dry down during the day, and then, if possible, finish harvesting that evening. Timing of the final harvest is critical too, to keep as much leaf on the stem, and to ensure the retention and protection of as much nutrient value as possible in the plant.

Brown also talked about some feeding considerations of the rumen and with respect to forage quality.

In his talk, he discussed the nonstructural carbohydrates in forages and about how highly digestible they are in the rumen, and if not captured in the rumen, not necessarily lost (unless, for example, it is locked inside a tough outer shell, as in some grain corn) to the cow, but can be picked up later in digestion.

He talked briefly about the effects of digestion on nondetergent fiber and acid detergent fiber content in forage, and how the goal of balancing a ration is to consider the real digestive efficiency of the forages and how it's important to consider the actual nutrient availability to cow of each component in a ration in order to balance it correctly to meet her needs.

Brown also compared the cost of five different possible ration combinations — from one with all poor forages, to one with all good forages — and compared the "types" of rations and what costs would be associated with balancing them, with or without the addition of purchased feeds.

In the last part of the Dairy Day II event, Brown, Milliken, Munson, and O'Conner gave brief talks about different aspects of husbandry and phisiology that seem to affect reproductive success in plan to increase the milking herd to 360 to 380 head. With young stock, their 320 acres will support approximately 500 animals, predicted Anderson.

In addition to milking cows, Rob is a Jersey classifier who does work for the breed society in Australia. Only breeders classify there. He is the youngest classifier there has been. The classification system is similar to the U.S. system in that they use a linear breakdown, but they use a scale of 1-9 on 27 type traits, and also have a "defect box." The final score is based on the bottom line.

Rob said they can graze year 'round in Australia due to the weather. This summer was an especially dry one, with continuous days in the 100's (F.) and very little rain, so they had to feed stored commodities. In a typical season, starting in the spring, with peak grass growth, they rotate the cows every 11 days. By summer the interval is stretched to 40 days to allow the forage to recover. Rob said he likes to keep grass at 3-4

305-day lactation, with 1,112 fat and 669 protein, 25,388 E.C.M.

Pork Producer Meeting Held

MT JOY (Lancaster Co.) — The Purina Mills swine producers' meeting was held Wednesday at the Country Table Restaurant. Certification and recertification of the pork quality assurance programs were part of the meeting. In addition, environmental issues, nutritional requirements, and ventilation/performance topics were discussed.

Speakers included Mike Mullady, Purina Mills, swine business manager; Dr. John Lopez, Purina Mills, swine nutritionist; John Zerbe, Purina Mills, eastern region vice president; Chet Hughes, Lancaster County extension agent; Joe Strittmatter, PIC Genetics; and Ron Ketchum, Purina Mills, area swine systems manager, central region.

Awards to farmers were also part of the meeting. Both the top finishing herd for percent lean and the top finishing herd for sort penalty were owned by Raymond Harnish, Oxfors.

First place in the sow herd with 24.1 pigs/sow/year was the herd of Norman and Cindy Sollenberger, New Enterprise. First runner-up was David Blank, Kinzers, and second runner-up was Dutchway Farms, Daniel Boll, manager, Myerstown.

Steve Hykes, Purina field service supervisor, left, presents the top sow herd award to Cindy and Norman Sollenberger, New Enterprise.

Lancaster County Dairy Days Provides Info For Use, Thought

Brown said that, in his opinion, a lot of progress has yet to be made in dairy reproduction. He said that in reviewing a file in which he has kept articles and information about the subject, he noticed that for every decade there have been at least one dietary reason why reproduction is difficult.

He said that during the 1960s a low conception rate was linked to a low protein level in the diet; during the 1970s low fat intake and low calcium and phosphorus intake were blamed on low fertility; in the late 1970's and 1980s, low trace minerals were blamed, along with low Selenium and Vitamin E, as well as beta carotene were added in an attempt to boost conception rates; and in the 1990s, Brown said the minerals have to be chelated, and there's not enough bypass protein in the diet, among other things.

He said that aside from his belief that breeding for other considerations has detracted from the reproductive vitality of dairy cattle, that management has a lot to do with reproductive failures. He said the goal should not be to achieve 100 percent, but rather the goal should be to prevent reproductive success to "freefall."

According to Brown, dry cow nutrition is probably mostly underestimated in importance to reproductive success.

He said that in addition to giving the dry cow diet as much consideration as the milking cow's diet, the goals are a little different and should be understood. Further, he said that in the close-up period of one to two weeks prior to expected calving, the diet has to change and it is essential to provide the energy she needs, when her intake drops.

O'Conner discussed the efficacies of estrous detection methods, detection aids, and the importance of a good hoof trimming program, sound feet and legs, and proper footing in order for cattle to be able to express the standing and mounting behaviour associated with estrous.

He said that most progress in reproduction can be made in heat detection, because that's where most people miss the boat. He said that the heat expression of cows and heifers varies widely, from some animals only showing one mount during their entire heat cycle, while others display heat on numerous occassions.

He talked about how chalking is re-emerging as an inexpensive, but effective tool to determine heat activity. The key to it is regular and dedicated attention to detail.

He talked about how chalking tailheads is re-emerging as an inexpensive, but effective tool to determine heat activity. The key to it is regular and dedicated attention to detail.

According to O'Conner, just because chalk has been rubbed is not good enough. The chalk has to be rubbed off. "There's a science to it."

He said the program does require attention to detail for some time each day, but that it is not an excessive amount of time.

Pedometers, though expensive, have shown to be effective in detecting animals in heat.

O'Conner talked about the basics of setting up a system to improve reproductive success, such as ensuring adequate nutrition, going to a voluntary waiting period, and if relying on visual indicators for heat detection proves too unreliable, then consider using estrous synchronization (the use of hormones to create ovulations within a relatively narrow time frame).

The overall objective is to develop a system that works and then to stick with it. O'Conner said that every farmer is different in ability to detect, and every situation is different.

Bob Munson, with New Bolton Center, talked about diseases and vaccines, and, in short, discussed the proper vaccination to create immunization. The two words are not interchangable.

In vaccinations that require two shots, the first shot sensitizes the animal to a virus, while the second shot stimulates the creation of cells in the animal to create antibodies to fight that disease.

If the vaccination shots are not given properly, usually with two weeks or so of each other, according to the vaccination and the label instructions, then farmers are wasting their money and risking the health of their herd, which includes the herd's reproductive health. Diseases that cause abortions and fetal abnormalities can be controlled with the proper health program and proper administration of vaccinations.

Milliken talked about his experiences with programmed breeding using hormones and his prefernces. As a note, he said that if anyone is using more than 2 cc of oxytocin per day on a cow, they should be aware that short-cycling can result.

The local reproductive specialist talked about the process of programmed breeding and how critical timing is to the process, as well as the different hormones, what they are used for and what effect they cause in synchronizing heats.

JUNIOR PRODUCTION AWARDS: Junior 2-year-old: Robert Doody, Jr. Senior 2-year-old: Ryan Savage. 3-year-old: Ryan Savage. 4-year-old: Katie Dixon. 5-year and older: Heather inches for maximum nutrient availability and optimal utilization by the cows. He said milk production on their farm peaked at 44 pounds per day, but fluctuated to a low of 22 pounds per cow per day. "That's rock bottom," explained the dairyman. Twenty pounds of milk per cow is the cutoff rate that he figured a dairy farmer needs to break even in his country. If production drops below that number, cows are dried off, and they wait until the next July when they calve again. Otherwise, he said, the cows would just lose too much body weight. Cows are synchronized to calve in July and August to take advantage of the peak grass season in September and October. "It's not uncommon to have 25 cows calve in one day," he said," It's an easy management tool, and then we move on to other things."

"We don't spend too much time milking. We milk 300 cows in less than 2 hours," said Anderson. Cows are milked in a double 19 stanchion barn. They are not washed, predipped, or dried, just postsprayed on the way out of the barn. "Yet mastitis is virtually nonexistent," said Anderson. Somatic cell count for their herd is 130,000.

Australia primarily has an export market, with 80 percent of dairy products exported to the Middle East and Asia. This is because although the country is about the same size as America, the population there is only approximately 19 million, and they just can't consume the milk, explained Anderson. In fact, only 7 percent of milk produced is reflected as liquid domestic milk on dairy farmers' milk checks. The rest is priced according to the world market. Anderson said milk prices paid to the farmer have dropped 15 percent over the last 2 years. He estimated in American money that he received $8.50 cwt for his milk. "We're not after huge production per cow, we pay attention to the bottom line," he said.

Selection of a new Jersey Queen followed lunch. The new Queen is Emily Birch. Emily is the 17-year-old daughter of Michael and Leah Birch of Secret Hill Farm, Norrisville, Baltimore County. Approximately 15 Jerseys, 7-8 Brown Swiss, and 50 Holsteins are milked on the farm. Emily is a member of the Black Horse 4-H club. The senior at Notre Dame Preparatory school in Towson plans to attend Purdue University in the fall, majoring in either ag economics or ag marketing. Runner-up in the queen contest was Erin Feuillet, of Damascus.

Seven youth were presented with scholarships during the meeting. Scholarship winners were: Mary Ellen Seraydian, daughter of Charles and Mary Ann Seraydian of Taneytown; Christopher Birch and Emily Birch, son and daughter

Field Training Receives Revisions

DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Field training for the technicians at Pa. DHIA continues to change in these modern times.

The advent of the laptop computer as well as the ability for all technicians to explain records to the dairymen continue to play a major role in today's DHIA world.

The technician's field training seminar has been revamped to meet the demands and challenges of today's dairy industry.

Dean Amick, director of Field Operations at Pa. DHIA said, "It is more vital than ever that we educate and familiarize our technicians with all testing procedures and make them feel comfortable in the explanation of records so we remain competitive in an ever-changing DHIA climate."

In the newly revised training program, all newly hired technicians will be required to visit the Pa. DHIA headquarters in State College to receive updated information on payroll, meter orientation, truck route information, auditing tips, help desk procedures, tour the lab as well as meet all department heads and meet the rest of the staff.

Upon completion of the initial one-day training, an approved trainer, such as the region manager or training coordinator, will accompany the new technician for at least three continuous days.

All testing procedures as well as different aspects of the job will be covered in depth.

Upon the third day, a decision will be made by the region manager as to what the status of the new employee is at that time.

If more training is required, the trainer will continue to provide the adequate support for a reasonable amount of time.

At two weeks of employment, the technicians will be accompanied to a herd or herds and an evaluation of progress will be filled-out and documented. At the same time, a discussion of future training will be discussed and agreed upon.

At approximately three months of employment, the technician will attend an in-depth field training seminar which consists of training on managing a circuit, professionalism, Quick Barnsheet and Westfalia dairy plan overview, forage reporting tips, how to start a new herd, heifer management, ARIS, finance, meters, truck stops, packing, as well as touring the facilities. This will be a three-day seminar.

Also, at three months of employment, the regional marketing director will accompany the technician to a minimum of two herds for both observation and to address any problems.

Follow-up training is to be done at nine months of employment, for a two-day period.

All technicians are required to attend the spring and fall conference while the summer conference is optional.

As time progresses, you can rest assured that every effort is being made to continually update and educate the technicians at Pa. DHIA.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Corn, No.2y — 3.105 bu., 5.56 cwt.

Wheat, No. 2 — 4.05 bu., 6.76 cwt.

Barley, No. 3 — 3.01 bu., 6.43 cwt.

Oats, No. 2 — 2.25 bu., 7.02 cwt.

Soybeans, No. 1 — 7.65 bu., 12.78 cwt.

Ear Corn — 84.68 ton, 4.23 cwt.

1997 Dairy Of Distinction Farms Sought

Kingston (Luzerne Co.) — Do you take pride in maintaining your dairy farm? Does your dairy farm project an attractive, wholesome image to consumers? If so, the Dairy Of Distinction Program of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania will consider your farm for the program's annual recognition awards.

The Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program was first started in 1983 to recognize the hard work and dedication of the farmers who maintain attractive farms. The purpose of the program is to instill a greater sense of confidence in the wholesomeness of dairy products, and increase their sales.

Farms that apply are judged on the roadside appearance of buildings, grounds, and surroundings, since this is what our dairy product consumers observe as they drive by. The cleanliness of the barnyard, feed areas and manure management are other aspects of the farm operation taken into consideration. Roadside judging is conducted during the month of May. Former winners of past years are also rejudged to ensure they continue to meet the standards of excellence.

To qualify for consideration, you must be actively dairy farming and shipping milk. Applications are available from your state office. Pennsylvania: American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc., 239 Schuyler Ave., Kingston, PA 18704. (717) 283-2204; New York: Carol Weddle, N.Y. Holstein Assn., 957 Mitchell Street, Ithaca N.Y. 14851, (607) 273-7591; or New Jersey: August Knispel, RD 1, Box 325, Pittstown, New Jersey 08867, (201) 735-4989. All applications must be completed and returned by April 15th.

The Dairy of Distinction program is financed in Pennsylvania by Dairy Farmers through the American Dairy Association Dairy Council and Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, plus Agribusiness organizations. The Pennsylvania Dairy Of Distinction Program is conducted with advice and help by Penn State cooperative extension.

Application

PURPOSE OF PROGRAM

Attractive dairy farms give the consumer greater confidence in the wholesomeness of milk and stimulate milk sales which encourages public support for the dairy industry The award gives recognition to the dairy farmer for maintaining a well-kept farmstead

ELIGIBILITY

All Northeast dairy farms producing milk for sale are invited to make application for the award. Dairies receiving the 10 highest scores in each of the 91 districts will receive an 18" x 24" Dairy of Distinction sign to be displayed in front of their farm.

APPLICATION

Dairy of Distinction
Dairy Farm Beautification Program

HOW IS YOUR FARM SCORED?

Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program, Inc.

Awards will be based upon neatness, good maintenance and other factors which can be controlled by the farmer. Attractive background scenery should not be weighed heavily in judging. All judging observations should be made from a vehicle at one or more points on an adjacent public highway (or if farm is off the road, the nearest lane). Judging should give equal consideration to old wood construction and new construction of metal or concrete block.

The award program may be used for subsequent advertising or promotion activities for dairy products or dairy farming. Farmers who apply for awards agree that; if selected they will cooperate with these activities and make all reasonable efforts to maintain both the exterior and interior of their properties in an acceptable condition.

HOW THE APPLICATION WORKS

The owner or operator of the dairy farm should sign the application and send it to NEDFBP secretary by April 15.

HOW THE JUDGING WORKS

Judging teams will visit farms during the month of May. Farms will be judged each year as the award is presented on an annual basis. Any dairy failing to maintain appearance standards will be asked to remove their sign. The Dairy of Distinction signs remain the property of the committee, not the property of the dairy farmer. All farms must achieve a compliance score of 90 percent on their Dairy of Distinction score card. Your cooperative or milk handler will be contacted to approve your milk quality.

RULES FOR THE DAIRY OF DISTINCTION AWARD

1). The Dairy of Distinction sign remains the property of the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Committee.
2). The post and bracket shall be supplied by and maintained by the dairy farmer. It is suggested that a wood post 4' x 4' x 12' or iron pipe 2' x 12' be used. Posts or pipe should be installed and maintained in true vertical position with 8' above ground. Top of the bracket should be lower than six inches from the top of the post.
3). Sign shall be displayed in front of the dairy at roadside. An attractive post and bracket, or other frame, shall be used to display the sign. No more than three signs should be displayed from the sign frame or post, and all shall be of a style, general size and quality comparable to the Dairy of Distinction sign. Sign should be secured on all sides to avoid wind damage.
4). Signs shall not be moved to other premises. New owners of a Dairy of Distinction farm must apply to retain the sign.
5). Replacement of damaged signs shall be the discretion of the committee.
6). No producer shall be charged with scoring or sign expense.
7). Judges' decisions will be final.
8). Judging will take place between May 1st and May 31st.
9). Farms awarded a Dairy of Distinction sign in previous years will be judged between April 1st and April 30th. If they do not qualify, they will be rejudged between May 1st and May 31st so they have the opportunity to keep the sign.
10). Farms that do not requalify will return the sign to their regional Dairy of Distinction Committee.

1/ New items for 1997 Will not be published at the regional level until there are more years of data

The custom rates shown are averages from voluntary reports by custom operators and farmers throughout Pennsylvania. Most of the rates are stated per acre, cwt., ton, bale, or bushel rather than per hour to reduce the variation due to machinery size. Individual rates vary due to differences in working conditions, services performed, or even the operator's eagerness to do custom work. Therefore, the average rates shown should not be considered absolute indications of fair charges.

Acreage rates are shown separately for two regions of the state, labeled "Mountain" and "Valley". The differences in rates between regions reflect differences in terrain, soils and alternative opportunities for the labor and equipment used. Figures labeled "State" represent the straight average of all reports used regardless of geographic location.

Of the 72 rates reported, 83 percent have increased, 7 percent have decreased, and 10 percent are the same as last year. The overall average is up 10 percent from the previous year. This percentage increase was computed by adding the rates for all jobs, regardless of basis of charge, and dividing by last year's comparable total.

Ken and Marilyn Umble of Atglen, PA have been working with Nutrena Feeds since October 1995 and have benefited from the technology of Nutrena's Focus program.

"Our RHA is 22,900 and climbing. Currently we are averaging 81 lbs/cow on 2X milking and we are still increasing. When we started with Nutrena we needed more production at a better cost and that is exactly what we got. We have seen body condition improve and we know this is helping. Our Territory Manager, Robert Davis, provides us with prompt and dependable service and always follows through. In addition to the success with our cows, we have been very pleased with our calves on the Herd Builder program. We have cut weaning time down from eight to four weeks and the calves are healthy."

FARM FORUM

necessary and an honorable way of supporting one's family.

We are consumers of the products and necessities that everyone uses. Our business requires us to use a large variety of products to insure healthy animals and clean equipment. We must also have an inventory of very expensive machinery, which must be maintained and repaired. There are dealers who sold them to us and people employed in the factories that produced them, drivers that delivered them and people who installed them.

We hire an extensive variety of trained professionals and technicians. We fulfill most of these jobs ourselves as far as our knowledge allows or up to the point where government regulations deems it necessary to call in the experts.

We ship our product raw to a plant that employs large numbers of personnel to process and deliver this product. Dairy farmers contribute nearly 25% of the beef market and this price has also taken a beating. How many grocers will be necessary with no product to stock or sell. The lines may be long but for a very different reason in the not too distant future. We need you as much as you need us, it is not one-sided.

Government doesn't want price supports, nor do we. We are asking for a fair pricing system. We are hit from every direction with rising costs both as consumers and business persons. We accommodate rising costs in both products and professional services used. Yes, I agree, there are expected expenses in business. This is not a complaint, just a statement of fact. We realize that all of these people need to make a decent living. The question I raise is, if everyone comes to us, who do we go to?

We had very manageable debt loads, with profit margins, ten years ago. Since then our incomes have increased in the area of 12% while our day to day operating expenses have increased as high as 44%, eating away at our profit margin and taking over any increase. How long could or would you fight to stay in business? How much more rich productive land, handed from generation to generation, is going to be lost forever to the developers?

It doesn't matter at this point who or what is to blame or who gets to point the finger at whom? We need to save our dairy farmers, our local economies, productive lands and one of our most important food sources. Now.

USDA Sec. Dan Glickman has arranged for a hearing and we have until March 30 to flood his office with letters, which will be tallied and used in bringing the importance of this situation to the forefront. Please take the time to send a postcard of letter expressing your opinion. Address it to: Dairy Division, AMS, USDA, Atten: BFP Evaluation, Room 2968-S, PO Box 96456, Washington, DC 20090-6456.

Remember, we are asking for a fairer pricing system and thank you for your efforts, they are truly appreciated by this future farmer.

Dairy One Sponsors Technician Conference

ITHACA, N.Y. — About 175 Northeast DHIA Field Technicians recently attended a two-day conference in Utica, New York. Conference highlights included the introduction of improved Northeast DHIA services packages and pricing, as well as new invoice and payment options for Northeast DHIA members. Dr. Arden Nelson was the featured speaker and discussed the important role of DHIA technicians in providing information to the dairy industry.

Richard Smith, Chief Executive Officer of Dairylea kicked off the conference and spoke on the general, positive climate of the Northeast dairy industry. He emphasized the important contribution the Northeast makes in terms of milk production and stressed that in his opinion, producers in this region are some of the most technologicially advanced and progressive in the United States.

Following Smith, Dairy One Chief Operating Officer, Nelvin Empet provided the Northeast DHIA Field Technicians with information on the overall structure and function of this new Dairy One organization.

"Dairy One is about getting needed change done," said Empet. "We see it as a dynamic platform for dairy industry change and improvement ... a platform on which we have already built several pieces, and a platform on which there is unlimited room to build more needed services."

Empet further explained the role of Northeast DHIA in this new dynamic environment. "Northeast DHIA is the leading DHIA in the U.S. Northeast DHIA provides herd management information and official, or certified National DHIA records. It is the largest service on the Dairy One platform." Other Dairy One assured services include the DHI Forage Lab, Milk Check Laboratories, Dairy Management Technologies, and several other services currently under development.

The climate of the Dairy One conference was positive and enthusiastic.

Caribbean Countries Buy Maryland Ag Products

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Maryland Secretary of Agriculture has announced that the three Caribbean Countries of St. Lucia, Grenada and Trinidad & Tobago have recently expressed interest to purchase U.S. hybrid sorghum forage, dairy cattle and sheep. The sales are a result of a sheep trade seminar which the Maryland Department of Agriculture coordinated and organized in the fall of 1996 and was funded by United States Livestock Genetic Export, Inc. To date, St. Lucia has purchased a pallet of Katahdin Hair-Sheep that will arrive in the country this week. Trinidad & Tobago has purchased some Barbados Black Belly Sheep. Several sheep breeders from Trinidad & Tobago, St. Lucia and Grenada will be taking classes on sheep breeding and artification insemination in the United States and more exports of sheep are expected in the coming months.

"These exports taken by themselves may not sound that significant. But they represent the broadening of agricultural products going from Maryland to nations around the world. We are committed to expanding economic opportunities and markets for all our agricultural commodities and food products," Riley said.

For more information on the sale of sheep and forage to the Caribbean, contact the Maryland Department of Agriculture, International Marketing, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401, telephone (410) 841-5770.

Cattleman's College In Adamstown

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Beef producers will have the opportunity to hear the latest information about subjects ranging from cattle handling facilities to the outlook for beef prices at the Pennsylvania Cattleman's Association-Pfizer Animal Health "Cattleman's College" to be held in Adamstown on March 25. "The program will highlight some important management and marketing topics for cattle feeders in our area," says Chester D. Hughes, Lancaster County Extension Livestock Agent.

Featured speakers at the Cattleman's College will include Dr. Ken Odde from Pollock, South Dakota. Dr. Odde is a consulting veterinarian with Pfizer Animal Health, and he will be discussing the value of preconditioning feeder cattle to the cattle feeder. Dr. Chuck Lambert, chief economist with the National Cattleman's Beef Association in the Washington, DC office will discuss what cattle feeders can expect for feed prices in the new year. Beef markets have recently experienced some volatile changes, and Dr. Lambert will bring the audience up-to-date on the forces that have caused these changes and how they will affect the market in the future.

"Since most of the cattle feeders in this area are farmer-feeders, a discussion about the effective use of home-grown feeds will be timely and of great interest," continues Hughes. Jim Hogue from Agri-Basics in Lancaster will be leading this discussion. Also included on the program will be ideas on more effective handling facilities and use of growth-promoting implants.

The Cattleman's College will be held at Weaver's Markets which is located at the intersection of PA 897 and PA 272 just north of Exit 21 of the PA Turnpike in northern Lancaster County. The program begins at 8:00 a.m. with registration and the cost is $20 per person if registered by March 20 and $25 at the door. The fee includes a buffet lunch and a copy of the proceedings of the meeting to take home. Registration materials are available through the Lancaster County Cooperative Extension office by calling (717) 394-6851. Penn State encourages persons with disabilities to participate in its programs and activities. If you anticipate needing any type of accommodation or have questions about the physicial access provided, please contact Chester Hughes at (717) 391-6851 in advance of your participation or visit.

Dairy Pricing

federal milk marketing orders.

This action is in addition to the process currently underway in the department to consolidate and reform federal milk marketing orders by April 1999, as mandated by the 1996 Farm Bill.

The BFP is determined by USDA each month based on a formula that uses the previous month's producer price paid by unregulated manufacturing plants in Minnesota and Wisconsin, adjusted for changes in dairy product prices between the previous and current month. The price of cheese on the NCE is used in this adjustment.

The BFP serves as the price that handlers must pay dairy farmers for milk used to manufacture Class III products (i.e., butter, nonfat dry milk powder, cheese) under the federal milk marketing order program.

It is also used to arrive at the price that processors must pay dairy farmers for milk consumed as fluid milk and soft products usage of milk (i.e., yogurt, ice cream).

"Many dairy producers and producer organizations, as well as Senators Kohl and Feingold and Congressman Obey, have indicated their concern with using NCE prices to establish the BFP," Glickman said in late January.

"There are concerns that NCE prices may not be reflective of market conditions for cheese nationally, because only a very small share of total United States cheese is traded on the NCE, and NCE prices have been subject to abnormally high volatility.

"We must address these concerns now so that dairy producers have confidence that the prices they receive reflect market conditions," Glickman said. "We cannot wait until April 1999 to address this issue. Based on the comments we receive, we will determine whether we should proceed with a national hearing on replacing NCE prices in establishing the BFP."

In response to concerns about the accuracy of reported prices, USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service was to have begun conducting a national survey of cheddar cheese prices.

"We must have broad participation in the survey if it is to be useful to the dairy industry and to be considered as a possible substitute for NCE prices," Glickman said.

The department will continue to review the BFP as part of Congress's mandate in the 1996 Farm Bill to reform and consolidate federal milk marketing orders.

In preparation for meeting the April 1999 deadline, USDA is to release several studies addressing options for milk order reform, including the role of the BFP and other longer-term pricing issues.

Environment, Cost Control Keys To Successful Grazing

Bryan Strzelec, manager of Piedmont Dairy in Trenton, Fla., provided extensive background on the operation on Wednesday morning at the conference. Piedmont is comprised of 500 leased acres with 400 acres under irrigation pivots and 100 acres irrigated with a traveling reel. The farm manages 1,400 grade Holsteins and may soon be home to some Jerseys. Someday, Strzelec explained, through work with the University of Florida, some Simmental genetics to help the herd thrive more effectively on pasture may be introduced.

For now, the farm employs 10, working the cows through a double-20 parallel parlor that takes the work of two people. Not including the farmland (which is leased), initial investment for Piedmont was $2,000 per cow. That included the cost of the parlor and associated bulk tank equipment at $500,000 and $50,000 invested in the feed system, including tractor, mixer, and auger.

In a slide presentation about the farm, Strzelec provided detail about the grazing system. Included in the grazing system are two 200-acre round circles (pivots) which include an irrigator/sprinkler system to spread waste water and fertilize the paddocks. There are 30 paddocks measuring six acres each, with water troughs in each paddock.

Supplemental feed, a key ingredient in providing good body condition for the cows as they move to a grass-based system, includes an 18 percent protein mix with cottonseed and citrus- based ration.

The grazing dairy switched to this supplemental feed system when Strzelec realized the cows were not provided the nutrients they needed when the grass didn't provide it. Body condition plummeted, and thus, milk production fell.

Average feed costs, according to Strzelec, in 1996 were $8.42 per CWT, with the income per CWT of $18.69. The total cost of production was $14.29 per CWT. The costs per hundredweight were high because the cows needed a considerable amount of condition put on. Herd average remains at 11,000 pounds — but the cut in feed costs by rotationally grazing is helping them realize a return on their investment.

The warm season begins fairly early for Piedmont, so grass types have to be adjusted. The ryegrass works well during the fall and winter; however, early in spring, consideration has to be given to the Callie and Tifton 85 Bermudagrass pastures, which doesn't provide as high a crude protein or NDF measurement as the rye. Because of the subtropical conditions and poor nutrient availability from Bermudagrass, Piedmont soon realized supplemental feeding in the summertime was necessary.

Movement to seasonal calving has been slow but gradual, according to the farm manager. Cows will freshen in the fall of the year and be completely dry during the month of August — typical of southeastern herds. It's important to become seasonal for the dairy because of the hot, humid summers (temperatures in the 100s and humidity above 80 percent) and the difficulty of the cows to make milk under those conditions. Bermudagrass makes it hard to balance a ration for an early lactation animal, but makes an excellent feed for a late lactation or dry cow.

Sixty percent of the herd is on BST, according to Strzelec.

The use of BST has to match those cows moving onto ryegrass.

Manure is collected through the parlor and a flush system moves the material to a sand trap, where it is scooped up and spread in a nearby forest of pine trees. Two lagoons handle the waste water — one aerobic and another anaerobic — which is then irrigated on the pastureland.

Strzelec noted one interesting challenge: in order for Piedmont Dairy to operate, it first had to obtain a permit through the Florida Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) to ship milk in the state. The permitting processes cost $75,000.

DEP uses groundwater monitoring sites to watch for nitrate leaching into the shallow water table. The dairy also is concerned about possible concerns from the community because of odors.

Piedmont has been aware of these issues and has found a way to handle these issues, noted Strzelec.

Handling Heat Stress

In the afternoon, Strzelec spoke about some of the methods employed by Piedmont to provide cow comfort in times of heat stress.

He noted that every cow begins to have problems making milk when the temperatures outside exceeds 78 degrees F. Cows consume less feed — and some methods of providing shade help stem the stress. Also, the use of fans and sprinkler systems can go a long way to promote less stress and improve productivity.

One interesting way to keep the cows cool is the use of a "cooling pond," basically a birdbath for cows. While some herd health experts are concerned about possible mastitis problems, the use of clean water can improve herd health. Strzelec indicated the use of the man-made cooling ponds were the original "pre-dip" and are more healthy than natural ponds.

Several farmers spoke about the challenges in keeping cows cool and their success with grazing. Andrew A. Meier of Meier's Maple Bottom Farm in Friedens said the most important thing in managing heat stress is water. "You have to have clean, cool, fresh water in every pasture," he said.

Dunwoody Zook, who operates a small registered Black Angus cow/calf operation in Glen Moore, said the "cattle train you well," and have "body langauge like humans do."

Zook manages a second-generation family farm located in Nanfmeal Village in the northern part of Chester County. He has been utilizing high intensive grazing with success for 16 years on 32 acres of permanent pastures of many varieties of grasses, including chicory, fescues, perennial ryegrass, and traditional cool season grasses. The farm makes use of extensive tile and trough systems and uses windrow manure composting.

Meier indicated his farm began the grazing operation in the summer of 1994, leasing the family farm consisting of about 250 acres of conventionally cropped ground. At that time, 75 acres directly behind the barn were used as a pasture for their 75 Holsteins.

Bryan Strzelec, manager of Piedmont Dairy in Trenton, Fla., provided extensive background on the operation on Wednesday morning at the conference.

The first year of grazing, milk production dropped from approximately 22,000 pounds per cow to about 20,000 pounds.

Culling was heavy in 1994 because of the older Holsteins not being able to adapt to the rough road conditions on the way to and from the paddocks.

In addition, the hot, dry summer of 1995 brought challenges.

Fresh water in each paddock is essential during hot weather.

Meier indicated that 1996 was a year of great change, switching from a mostly year-round freshening herd to a mostly spring calving (March-May) herd. Other additions included a targeted breeding program, a purchase of 34 more cows (mostly Milking Shorthorns crossed with Holsteins and several Jersey crosses). Other additions included a straight-6 raised platform walk-through parlor with the stanchion barn. In August, a decision to feed no grain to any of the milking cows was implemented.

The important thing Meier realized is to remain flexible and adjust rapidly and accurately to changing environments, and to keep an eye on the cows.

"Cattle will tell you when they're not happy," said Meier.

Also, providing the cows with sufficient energy through proper feeding can allow the cow to relax and spend more time cud-chewing, according to Curtis L. Knepper. Knepper, who manages a 65-cow Holstein and Guernsey herd in Chambersburg, indicated to those at the conference that switching to a strictly pasture diet, without any supplements, can reduce milk production up to 30 percent.

Knepper indicated that he began seeding for pasture on his farm in 1993 — since then, he has added additional pastures and started grazing in the spring of 1994 on six acres of ryegrass.

Sixty acres out of 120 total acres are in pasture, which consists of ryegrass, orchardgrass, matua, ladino, and alsike clover.

Thirty acres are in alfalfa for winter haylage. Thirty acres are in corn for corn silage year-round.

Paddocks at the Knepper farm are approximately 1.25 acres each. Over the two years of intensive grazing, the farm has always grazed rye in the spring.

Knepper noted that the herd average is about 19,000 pounds.

Awards

At the conference, several farms that make use of extensive grazing systems were honored by the Pennsylvania Forage and Grasslands Council (PFGC), a co-sponsor (with the Grazing Research and Education Center) of the conference.

Lester and Douglas Martin, Franklin County, received the Outstanding Pasture Producer Award. The Martins utilize pastures as the

Consultant: Substitute Love For Soil To Ensure Abundant Crops

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) —If your crops are in decline, look at the quality of your soil — it could be simple "greed" for bigger and better crops that fuels the decline.

Producers should substitute a love for soil quality if they want to realize the long-term aspects of production, according to a noted soil consultant who spoke on Tuesday at the Acres U.S.A. Eco-Ag/East Conference at the Holiday Inn Lancaster Host in Lancaster.

Dale L. Schurter, chairman of the Agricultural Consulting Institute in West Milton, Ohio, spoke to about 300 producers and agri-industry representatives at the three-day national conference during a luncheon Tuesday.

Schurter told the audience that "you are what you eat and think," and that the strategy of right thinking, right nourishment of the body for the mind extends to the care we give our soils.

The law of reciprocal returns, which is employed in human endeavors, extends to the care we give our land. What we put into it determines what kind of productivity we receive from it.

Schurter used real-life examples of how humans interrelate to each other and how those same kinds of life experiences apply to our treatment of soils.

One thing he noticed, as a ordained minister and pastor of the Dayton, Ohio congregation of the United Church of Christ, is that for couples whose marriage lasted; "they truly care for one another — they care for the best of the other first," he said.

Couples put the concerns of their partners above their own.

By providing nutrients, nourishment, and care for the soil, producers can "give back to the soil that it might produce what it's going to do and deserves to do," he said.

Schurter spoke about his experiences in the Ukraine several years ago. Putting organic material back into the soil has helped the countries coming out of communism realize "hope" for the future of their agronomic health, their crops, and thus their physical well-being.

The work of Eco-Ag to show the importance of improving soil health can be conveyed successfully to any soils in the world, Schurter indicated. Proper soil husbandry shows repeatable results.

Like the working of the human body, which requires good minerals, the soil depends on the quality of the minerals added to it to ensure its productivity. He provided information that shows the importance of calcium, copper, iron, magnesium, and other elements for a good soil diet.

Producers should learn to "build organic mater in the soil and balance the mineral content of that soil," said Schurter.

Also at the conference, Dr. Don Bixby, D.V.M. and director of the American Livestock Breeds Conservancy, spoke about the importance of rare breeds and how vital it is to protect them.

Bixby said that in a 1930s textbook, there were once 30 commercial swine breeds available for producers — "half of those are extinct," he said. Now, only 8-10 breeds are recognized, and three purebreeds (Hampshire, Duroc, and Yorkshire) make up 75 percent of today's purebred swine.

Unfortunately, there are "no gene banks for animals," although a computer data bank is under development to show detail of the breeds by the Conservancy. Over the years, producers have been the key to the lack of diversity with breeds in their selection of genetics to do "what it is we are trying to do," he said.

The monoculture of grazing is something man-made. Only now have producers been rediscovering, for instance, multispecies grazing — each species harvests in a different way.

Bixby provided a slide presentation of many species that are considered rare and worth protecting. Several rare species which are in need of preservation include:

- The Belted Galloway, a beef breed.
- Dutch Belted.

(Today's beef producing enterprises make up the Angus, Hereford, and Simmental breeds, comprising 60 percent of the beef breeds utilized for production.)

- The Jacob sheep breed, a spotted sheep with horns, providing a lean, small carcass. It provides black, white, and mixtures of wool.
- Hereford Hog. This hog had a thick coat, hardy in the outdoors, and gained to 900 pounds (boars) and 600 pounds (sows).
- Bighorn Sheep. The coat resembles a deer.
- Lincoln Sheep. Produces up to 75 pounds of wool in a single season, the record.
- Cotswold Sheep. Long fleece type of sheep, not good in milling.
- Leister Longwool. Cared for now in Colonial Williamsburg, Va.
- Wilshire horned sheep. This sheep became extinct in North America but was re-imported from primary forage source for their more than 300 head of Jerseys. They developed an intensive rotational grazing program over the past three years for the milking herd, dry cows, and heifers by utilizing permanent pasture divided into various size paddocks based on productivity and geographic features.

Jim Welsh, Tioga County, was also honored as an outstanding producer. Welsh operates Bluff Creek Farm outside of Mansfield, where he intensively grazes 65 Holsteins. He has hosted and been very active in local pasture walks and has allowed his grazing system and herd to be utilized in various Penn State and USDA research projects.

Forrest Stricker, Berks County, was honored with the outstanding producer recognition. He makes very extensive use of rotational grazing for his family's 70-cow dairy. According to PFGC, Stricker has been an innovator in total conversion of all tillable acres into pastures, season calving, and raising heifers and steers on intensively managed pastures. He has hosted many field days at his farm, spoken at numerous conferences, and cooperated with several research projects.

Tom Williams, Dauphin County, was also honored with the outstanding producer award. PFGC indicated that Williams has been an innovator in all aspects of farming for many years. He was rotationally grazing alfalfa pastures 15 years before grazing- type alfalfa was available. He has hosted many field days and demonstrations. Williams served as PFGC president in the late 1960s.

Think about it. Every time you get to the end of the row, you say to yourself, "If my tractor had a better turning radius, then I'd spend less time turning around And more time turning a profit."

Spend More Time Turning A Profit And Less Time Turning Your Tractor.

Don't dream anymore Because the new turning radius on the 9635 AGCO® Allis tractor has arrived. How did we do it? For starters, the frame has been contoured inward four inches on each side of the engine. And we've recessed the space between the grille and radiator, giving you even more clearance between the front tires and frame We've also sculpted and sized the side quarter panels without disturbing the tractor's overall appearance

- The 9635 has 135 PTO hp and an 18-speed powershift transmission with 18 forward and 9 reverse speeds, giving you even more working options.
- The Series 40 liquid-cooled engine has a combustion chamber design which provides excellent fuel economy while reducing exhaust emissions
- The AWD models feature a true centerline drive shaft for more efficient power transfer and less maintenance
- As always, behind every AGCO Allis tractor, there's a 4-year/4,000-hour warranty backing it

To see the new turning radius on the 9635, stop by and see us We'll be glad to show you how much time and money you can save

State Farm Leader Urges Congress To Act On Budget, Tax And Regulatory Issues

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The leader of a statewide farm organization today called on Congress to adopt budget and tax reforms and to prevent a planned new workplace regulation from impacting agriculture.

Guy Donaldson, an Adams County fruit grower and president of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau (PFB), issued the call for action during a breakfast meeting at the Rayburn House Office Building attended by about 200 farmers and Pennsylvania's congressional delegation.

The breakfast session was part of PFB's annual Washington Tour. A day ealier the farmers from PFB's 54 county farm bureaus met face-to-face with their U.S. representatives and senators to voice their concerns over national issues affecting agriculture.

PFB is a non-governmental, voluntary organization which represents 26,625 farm and rural families. It is part of the nation's largest general farm organization, the 4.7-million member American Farm Bureau Federation.

Donaldson reminded lawmakers that Farm Bureau has long sought a balanced budget amendment to the U.S. Constitution. "The vote against the balanced budget amendment this week in the Senate was a slight setback," Donaldson said, "However, I view it as a stepping stone ... We will come back to the Senate after the House approves the amendment."

The last balanced budget was passed by Congress in 1969. "Since then we have accumulated a $5 trillion national debt," Donaldson said. "Why? Because we could not curb our excess spending of monies ... It's time to curb sweet tooth spending. It's time to pass the balanced budget amendment to make it impossible to live beyond our means."

Taxes are also major concerns for farm families, Donaldson said. One such tax, the capital gains tax, Donaldson said is "... anti-business, anti-growth, anti-consumer and anti-America. Capital gains taxes are nothing less than termites gnawing away at the very financial base of what made this country great."

Farmers pay capital gains taxes when they sell their land, but, Donalds pointed out, farmers own land an average of over 28 years. Land values increase nearly five times during that period. "Inflation is the main culprit for the increased value, which makes it unfair to tax these gains at the ordinary rates," Donaldson said. "The least we can do to alleviate this situation is to cut the tax rate to not more than 15% and index capital gains for inflation. Repeal of the capital gains tax is our goal, but we need immediate relief through a tax rate cut." Farm Bureau also supports a $500,000 exclusion from capital gains on the sale of a primary residence or farm.

Turning to an issue that will affect all employers, Donaldson said that OSHA, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, is trying to regulate a new type of workplace injuries called ergonomics which they consider to be any activity that creates fatigue and discomfort. "Those persons who work on the farm know that there are not too many chores that don't cause fatigue and discomfort," Donaldson told legislators.

OSHA wants to start a checklist of such tasks and perform an ergonomics evaluation based on five risk factors, Donaldson explained. The risk factors include repetitive motion, pushing or pulling, lifting 25 pounds or more, using vibrating tools or equipment, or working in an awkward position. Such things as frequency, duration and workplace temperature will be factored into the evaluation, Donaldson added. If a particular job fails to meet minimum safety standards, an employee would not be permitted to do the job again until a qualified physician evaluated and certified it safe to resume work.

"Don't these proposed regulations seem silly to you?" Donaldson asked the breakfast gathering. "In plain simply words, haven't we gone too far with this regulation stuff, especially as it applies to ergonomics injuries?"

New Zealand.

• Barbados Sheep. A little sheep, athletic, no layer of subcutaneous fat. Sheep is challenge for sheep dogs because of its athleticism.

• Gulf Coast Native. A parasite-resistant sheep, white with black head.

One notable species was the Lincolnshire Curly Coat Hog, now extinct, a wooly pig that could withstand extreme weather conditions.

Bixby provided a host of other representative rare breeds that, except for select novelty breeding purposes, are ignored.

But the Conservancy is working to educate the public on the significance of the breeds to sustainable agriculture.

Dr. Don Bixby, D.V.M. and director of the American Livestock Breeds Conservancy, spoke about the importance of rare breeds and how vital it is to protect them.

DRUG TESTING: OLD NEWS, MORE NEWS, RULES NEWS, AND THE GOOD NEWS

We are what we repeatedly do. Excellence, then, is not an act, but a habit.

— Aristotle

Drug testing . . . one of the hottest topics discussed among livestock show enthusiasts during the last six years!

We've all heard the "horror" stories about junior market animals at this fair or that show that were tainted with drugs or biologics to enhance their appearance or performance. We've read the headlines, sometimes more frequently than we care to admit.

We've heard the talk shows on radio programs, and even had the opportunity to see segments on television that have highlighted unethical practices at livestock shows.

Old News

Every major livestock show across the country has adopted a Code of Show Ring Ethics. The Pennsylvania Farm Show Code of Show Ring Ethics appeared on page 14 of the 1997 Premium List, and detailed guidelines governing violative drug residues.

Two specific guidelines (numbers 4 and 5) have been extracted and follow:

4. Animals shall be presented to show events where they will enter the food chain free of violative drug residues. The act of entering an animal in a livestock show is the giving of consent by the owner, exhibitor, fitter, trainer and/or absolutely responsible person for show management to obtain any specimens of urine, saliva, blood, or other substances from the animal to be used in testing. Animals not entered in an event which culminates with the animal entering the food chain shall not be administered drugs other than in accordance with applicable federal and state statutes, regulations and rules. Livestock shall not be exhibited if the drugs administered in accordance with federal and state statutes, regulations and rules affect the animal's performance or appearance at the event . . .

5. Any surgical procedure or injection of any foreign substance or drug or the application of any substance (irritant, counterirritant, or similar substance) which could affect the animal's performance or alter its natural contour, conformation or appearance, except external applications of substances to the hoofs or horns of animals which affect appearance only and except for surgical procedures performed by a duly licensed veterinarian for the sole purpose of protecting the health of an animal, is prohibited.

More News

Every major livestock show across the country has instituted specific rules governing the use and administration of drugs and biologics to meat producing animals. What rules are in place at the Pennsylvania Farm Show?

Returning to the 1997 Premium List, we find the answer clearly and concisely stated on page 38:

Important: Animals consigned for slaughter during or immediately following the show shall not receive any treatment with drugs or biologics within the withdrawal time prior to slaughter. Withdrawal times for drugs and biologics are all stated on the directions for use. Label directions must be followed at all times. Drug-Free affidavits must be completed, and signed by the exhibitor and parent, and submitted with the entry form. If upon slaughter a recent treatment with drugs or biologics is the cause of condemnation of a carcass, the loss of the carcass will be borne by the officer.

Rules News

Why are the items listed under "Old News" and "More News" important? The reason is quite simple! In the recent past, not everyone involved with livestock shows has adhered to, nor conformed with, the Code of Show Ring Ethics and specific rules governing the use and administration of drugs and biologics to meat producing animals.

Why do we need these rules? A review of a presentation at the National Youth Livestock Program Ethics Symposium in 1995, made by Reynaldo Rodriguez, FDA Compliance Officer, should clarify any uncertainties or questions.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is the federal governmental agency that has primary responsibility for food safety in the United States. Under various acts, FDA has responsibility for ensuring that human foods and animal feeds are safe, and do not contain illegal residues of drugs, pesticides, environment contaminants or microorganisms that may be harmful to public health.

One example of FDA's mission is conducted at the Center for Veterinary Medicine (CVM). CVM is to protect public health through pre-approval evaluations and acceptance of sponsor-submitted safety and effectiveness studies for regulation of animal drugs, medicated feeds and food (feed) additives. When an animal drug is intended for food-producing animals, the safety of food products derived from the treated animals must be established before approval for marketing is granted. This pre-market approval process ensures that foods derived from properly treated animals WILL NOT contain potentially harmful drug residues. These drug residues are called tolerances or safe concentrations.

FDA works closely with USDA/FSIS in pre-harvest and post-harvest control measures. The Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act (FFDCA) defines food as "articles used for food or drink for man or other animals . . . and articles used for components of any such article." Food-producing animals, even though not in their final, edible form, have been held to be under the statute.

Lastly, there is the consumer view of the issue, and the message is quite clear: "They are not your animals. They are, in fact, my food."

FDA is encouraged and supports recent initiatives in quality assurance programs and the education of producers on avoiding illegal residues. Also, FDA endorses the National Show Ring Code of Ethics and its application to show ring animals across the nation.

Lastly, everyone should be aware of the need for all of us involved with animal agriculture, especially those of us who are involved with meat-producing show animals, to adhere to three key measures: 1. using approved drugs or chemicals according to label directions; 2. identifying and tracking animals to which drugs or other chemicals were administered in order to preclude sale of meat containing illegal residues; 3. maintaining a system of medication/treatment records that at a minimum identifies the animal treated, date(s) of treatment, drug(s) administered, amount administered and the withdrawal period prior to slaughter.

Now . . . The Good News

Now, for the story you probably won't read about in a major metropolitan newspaper like the New York Times, you hear about on syndicated radio broadcasts like those delivered by Paul Harvey, or see and hear about on a primetime news segment like 20/20.

Recent treatment with biologics . . . not at the Pennsylvania Farm Show! Vegetable oil . . . not at the Pennsylvania Farm Show! Clenbuterol . . . not at the Pennsylvania Farm Show!

As a matter of fact, at the 1997 Pennsylvania State Farm Show, no illegal drugs were detected in the screening of junior market animals! This includes blood samples obtained from class winners, division champions, overall champions and reserve champions, and tissue samples obtained from champions and two additional animals selected at random from the remaining animals exhibited.

Furthermore, at the 1996 Pennsylvania State Farm Show, no illegal drugs were detected in the screening of junior market animals!

Most importantly, to the best of my knowledge, no illegal drugs have ever been detected in the screening of junior market animals at Farm Show or any other show in the commonwealth of Pennsylvania!

Violative drug residues in food-producing animals . . . not in Pennsylvania!

Leader Urges Congress

Farm Bureau opposes any new OSHA rule on ergonomic injuries until there is scientific consensus on their cause and remedies, Donaldson stated.

"We are interested in many other issues, but these three are extremely important ..." Donaldson said. He called on Congress to "... take government's stranglehold off the business of farming ... pass the balanced budget amendment ... eliminate, or at least modify, the rates for capital gains taxes ... and hold off the ergonomic rule or, at least exempt small businesses and agriculture from the rule."

Auction To Benefit Child

KEMPTON (Berks Co.) — A benefit auction to help cover the medical expenses of an 8-year-old child who has suffered since birth from Maple Sugar Urine Disease (MSUD) and is recovering from a recent liver transplant is scheduled Saturday, April 12 at 9:30 a.m. at the Kempton Community Center.

Kathryn Burkholder, 8, who suffers from MSUD, is the daughter of Norman and Mabel Burkholder of 187 Smoketown Rd., Mertztown. Kathryn is recovering in Philadelphia Children's Hospital from a liver transplant performed on Feb. 12 this year.

David Loeb, auctioneer, has volunteered his services for the fund-raiser at the Kempton Community Center. Merchants and artisans from Berks, Lehigh, Lancaster, and neighboring counties have contributed merchandise and gift certificates to be sold at the auction. Items include handmade quilts, jewelry, handcrafted wood and metal goods, bedding plants, gift baskets, live animals, household items, and more.

Contributions will be matched $2 for $1 up to $1,610 by the Lutheran Brotherhood Eastern Berks Branch 8646. All cash donations should be made payable to Kathryn Burkholder Liver Transplant Fund and mailed to Sandy Bailey, 224 Dotterer Rd., Lenhartsville, PA 19534. Call (610) 756-4129 for more information.

Also, a free-will offering will be taken to benefit Kathryn at a concern provided by the Rajah Temple Shriners' Chanters choir at the Kutztown Grange Hall on Sunday, May 4, at 6:30 p.m.

The Grange hall is located at Kemp and James Streets, Kutztown.

The public is invited to come and enjoy the wonderful music of the chanters choir and to support the Shriners in this charitable endeavor.

1997 Annual Meeting

ITHACA, N.Y. — The Northeast Cooperative Council (NECC) will hold its 1997 Annual Meeting and Cooperative Leaders Forum on March 20-21 at The Desmond in Albany, N.Y.

The council is a regional nonprofit organization serving marketing, supply, credit, insurance, and utility cooperatives in New York and New England.

The Cooperative Leaders Forum, co-sponsored by Cornell Cooperative Extension, will include top cooperative leaders across the United States.

• John Johnson, CEO of Harvest States Cooperatives, will talk about "New Structural Alternatives for Cooperatives." Harvest States, headquartered in St. Paul, Minn., with sales of more than $8 billion, is one of the largest cooperatives in the U.S.

• Thomas Infusino, chairman and Dean Janeway, president of Wakefern Food Corporation, will discuss "Views from a Supermarket Cooperative." Wakefern is a retailer owned supermarket cooperative which includes the Shop Rite supermarket system.

• Bernard Stanton, professor emeritus of agricultural economics, Cornell University, will present "Observations from an Outside Director." Stanton served on the board of directors on the Springfield Bank for Cooperatives for five years prior to the creation of CoBank, ACB.

• Wesley Eckert, CEO of Darigold, a dairy cooperative headquartered in Seattle, Wash., will address "Value-Added Strategies for Dairy Cooperatives." Darigold markets dried milk, cheese, and butter with sales of $931 million.

• Joe Famalette, CEO of Tri-Valley Growers, will discuss "Making Strategies Come Alive." Tri-Valley is a processed fruit and vegetable cooperative with sales of $960 million headquartered in San Francisco, Calif.

• Brian O'Malley, adventurer, author, climber, and award-winning photographer, will speak on "EVEREST: the Challenge in All of Us."

Co-Bank, ACB will be holding a regional customer meeting in conjunction with the conference. NECC will also hold its annual business meeting. For more information, contact Brian Henehan at (607) 255-8800.

AGRICULTURE'S LEADING EDGE

Managing Feed Costs Workshop Set

FREDERICK, Md. — A Managing Feed Costs Using Marketing Tools workshop is scheduled March 17 and 24 from 10 a.m.-noon at the Frederick County Extension Office.

This four-hour, two-day workshop will teach dairy farmers how to manage feed costs using various marketing tools. The class will focus on how to use forward contracts, futures contracts, and options contracts to manage grain and soymeal costs.

Examples will be used throughout the course to highlight how these marketing tools can be used to guarantee feed costs well in advance of when the feed is needed. In addition, problems will be given to workshop participants to reinforce the concepts and tools.

The workshop will also cover the recently introduced milk futures and options contracts and how they could be used to lock in milk prices.

There is no registration fee, but participants must call (301) 694-1594 ext. 3576 before March 13 to allow planning for handout materials and room setup.

Poultry Association Serves Dinner To Needy

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Instead of a basket of eggs, Gov. Tom Ridge received a full-course dinner for 175 people from the Lancaster County Poultry Association last Saturday.

Only thing is Gov. Ridge didn't take one bite of the chicken corn soup, roast chicken, red beet eggs, green beans, mashed potatoes, gravy, and ice cream drizzled with chocolate syrup.

While dinner invitations abound for governors, another segment of society depends upon the generosity of those who have plenty.

With this in mind, the Poultry Association decided to serve dinner featuring poultry products at the Water Street Rescue Mission in honor of Gov. Ridge.

"Ordinarily we present a basket of eggs to the governor during the Pennsylvania Farm Show. This year, we wanted to do something different," said Tim Hartsought, vice president of the association.

"As a poultry association we are trying to evolve into a more community-oriented group by participating in community service projects," said Don Brubaker, president of the Association. "We want to make the public aware that we are more than smelly, fly-producing farmers. We want to educate the community on good of industry."

Brubaker spent several days making phone calls and coordinating details for the food that was purchased with the Association's funds except for the chicken donated by Pennfield Corporation. The mission's food staff prepared the food that was then served by Poultry Association members: Dr. John Schwartz, county extension director, helped with the event and said that he would like to see it become an annual service.

In addition to offering services to farmers such as educational seminars, the association also holds an annual banquet for county home economics teachers to update them on available poultry products and proper handling and cooking to ensure food safety. Through the Ag in the Classroom sessions, Poultry Ambassador Sheri Kreider educates elementary school children, the Association participates in the annual Doneck-er's Food, Farm and Fun Fest held in June, the Gourmet Fest held April 5-6, and sell poultry products at an Ephrata Fair Booth.

Sandi Patty To Appear

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Sandi Patty, America's favorite inspirational singer, will provide the entertainment at the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation's annual fundraising banquet to be held Wednesday April 16 at the Hershey Convention Center.

Sandi Patti brings to the stage a remarkably flexible and far-reaching vocal range that includes heart-stirring classics, lovable Disney melodies, nostalgic big band and Broadway numbers, and, of course gospel and pop gospel. She has earned five Grammy awards, 34 Dove awards, three platinum and five gold albums.

The social hour begins at 5:30 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7 p.m. at the Hershey Convention Center located along Rt. 322 in Hershey.

Tickets are $150 and may be ordered by writing or calling the Pa. Poultry Federation at 500 N. Progress Ave., Harrisburg, PA 17109. Telephone: (717) 652-7530 or Fax: (717) 652-0230.

BORREGAARD LIGNOTECH

Designs By Haight Adds Class To Decor

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — You won't find Lori Haight's designs in a wallpaper book, but her artwork fills rooms with distinctive flair.

Storybook characters come alive as she paints life-size animals around the four walls of a child's bedroom. A wooden windowsill is transforms into realistic appearing marble through Haight's painting techniques, and one can almost hear ocean waves crashing on sandy shores on a beach scene that stretches on the walls around a room.

Haight grew up in Wisconsin where she exhibited artistic talent at a young age.

She said, "People always ask me if I inherited my ability, but no other family members seem to have artistic talent. I believe that God gave me this gift. My parents really encouraged me."

Although Haight has degrees in fine arts and in commercial art, she said that her start in painting walls was inspired when she and her husband were expecting their first child.

While awaiting his birth, she continually added touches to the beaches such as children turning cartwheels, sailboats, and beach chairs.

A few years ago, Lori and her husband Mike moved to the Ephrata area and now have two children, Noah, 3, and Brianna, 17 months.

Generally Haight combines several painting techniques when redoing a room. Sometimes, she sponge paints the background. By using a blue sponge-painting technique in one room, it has the appearance of blue sky on which she painted free-floating balloons.

Some people prefer that only one wall or a part of wall be used for a painted design. "The background depends on what works with the design," Haight said.

In addition to sponging, she has an interest in faux painting, which includes glazing, marbelizing, painting walls that look like leather.

"These painting techniques are not limited to walls," Haight said. "It's an especially nice way to dress up old furniture."

Haight likes to tie together items of a room such as pulling out colors and patterns in a comforter.

Because of copyright laws, she does not paint Disney characters on clients' walls, but she is able to accomodate themes.

She prefers to visit the client's home and discuss ideas.

"I look at a room, go home, and sketch some ideas, and then show it to a client," Haight said. "If I can visualize it, I can paint it.

Rather than charging by the hour, Haight estimates a flat price that she presents to clients with a detailed description and a drawing of the work to be done.

"That way the client knows exactly how much it will cost and what the room will look like," Haight said.

Haight also paints designs on shirts, sweatshirts, and children's wear.

For more information on Haight's room accents, murals, and borders by Lori Dinon-Haight, Call (717) 738-4876.

Lori Haight sponge paints a wall in preparation for a painted scene.

Haight combines several painting techniques for this realistic rendering of boats sailing in the ocean.

Homestead Notes

At the time, it seemed like a reasonable idea.

Golden leaves cascaded out of the maple trées, tumbling down into the yard, piling thicker and thicker with each breezy October day. Gusts of wind tossed them into sheltered corners around the house and herded them into clusters that crunched beneath our feet each time we crossed the porch or walked into the garage.

Knowing that our toddler grandson was due home for the holidays, I figured that he might enjoy jumping in a pile of the crackly, sweet-smelling leaves. So, over a couple of hours one warm, late-fall afternoon, I raked the umpteen thousands of leaves that had buried the side yard, gathering them into a huge pile at a sloped corner of the house.

The deep pile of golden-colored leaves lookes so thick and cushy I was tempted to jump into it myself. Adult reasoning persuaded me to at least wait until I had the excuse of a toddler to cover for such exuberant silliness. A lifetime lover of leaf piles, Solomon had no such hangups and promptly claimed the thick, insulated leaf-mattress as his own. Meanwhile, our lone "yard rooster" took to snoozing in the corner of the pile sheltered by a stone wall and hedge.

Then, a night or two later, it rained. A large canvas, snitched from its normal spot covering the woodpile on the porch, would suffice to keep the leaf pile dry. On his way in from the barn, The Farmer anchored down the canvas I'd (feeling a bit silly) used to cover the leaves, with a heavy post. Outsides of the pile got wet, but the thick center was still dry the next few days.

Then, it rained again. And rained more. Under the pressure of each new downpour, the leaf pile began settling. The holidays and our family arrived and there was never enough time to do all the things we wanted to do. When outside on nice days, Josh was more interested in hanging around on grandpa's shoulders as he switched cows at milking time, oogling the trucks and tractors, riding the kids' old pedal tractor or visiting the calves.

One lonely rooster continued to park his golden-feathered, old self there in the corner of the pile of leaves every warm afternoon. Solomon occasionally claimed the pile for a snooze. Both the holidays and the kids' visit passed into quick-as-a-flash history. We never got around to jumping in the then-somewhat-compressed, but still-usable-with-a-little-fluffing leaf pile.

A snowstorm blew in one morning and the canvas moved back to the woodpile. Solomon no longer snuggled into the leaves, after we lost him to aging-dog health problems. One rooster continued to sunbathe in the sheltered edge of the leaf pile every warm afternoon. And the pile sagged lower and lower.

On one of the late February's April-like, 70-degree afternoons, I got an early start on spring lawn cleanup. Piles of leaves at various spots around the yard were attacked with yardcart, rake and pitchfork.

Spring yard cleanup generally takes on the air of a scavenger hunt and one never knows what will turn up under the accumulation. With small kids, you could expect toy trucks, perhaps a stray mitten, and the inevitable Lego block. Now, there might be a tennis ball, some small, unknown metal machine part, and always, a couple of fat, juicy earthworms to feed the robins, if they've arrived.

This year was predictable, with sprouting maple seeds, a residue of sunflower seeds missed by the birds, pale clumps of emerging dandelions. Under one pile, I found a curled-up wooly worm. Feeling guilty, I quickly tucked the fuzzy caterpillar back under another pile to continue its nap.

But the thickly-compressed, jumping pile remains untouched, a would-be memory that never quite happened.

Master Gardeners Offer Spring Workshops In Newark

NEWARK, Del. — With spring just beyond the next sunny day, gardening can't be far behind. New Castle County Master Gardeners are ready with classes that range from pools to perennials. All classes will be held on the grounds of the University of Delaware College of Agricultural Sciences. The classes will run from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Fischer Greenhouse Laboratory behind Townsend Hall on South College Avenue, unless otherwise noted. Individual classes are $12 each. Series of classes are priced as stated.

Gardening with Annuals. Thursday, March 13. For a fast and unrivaled blast of color in your landscape, annuals are the way to go.

Gardening for Butterflies and Hummingbirds. Tuesday, March 25. Tips and techniques for designing a garden to attract butterflies and hummingbirds to your own backyard.

Introduction to Water Gardening. Thursday, April 3. Learn how to select a site, then design and set up a garden pool that you can enjoy every season for years.

Repotting Orchids. Thursday, April 10. A lecture and demonstration of orchid repotting techniques from seedling flask to community pot to individual pot. Participants may bring an orchid plant of their choice to get potting assistance and practice.

Perennials. Tuesdays, April 15, 22 and 29. $12 for an individual session; $30 for the series. Old favorites and recent introductions will be presented for sunny gardens in session one and for shady areas in session two. Session three will offer information on site selection, cultural techniques and hands-on propagation, including a plant division to take home.

I Hate My Lawm. Monday, April 28, and Wednesday, April 30. $24. 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Develp the lawn you want with fewer chemicals and less water. Class includes discussions of soil, seed, fertilizer, mowers and other equipment.

Shrubs and Trees for Homescapes in New Castle County. Thursdays, May 1 and May 8. $24. If you are planning a new design or rejuvenating an older garden, sign up. The University of Delaware Botanic Gardens and slides will provide the basis for choosing plants for your home.

Daylilies. Tuesday, May 6. Carefree and beautiful daylilies are the most popular perennials in today's garden. A slide show highlighting some of the new varieties and showing how to grow and use daylilies in your garden will be followed by a hands-on session of propagating and planting your own Stella D'Oro daylily to take home.

Parsley, Sage, Rosemary ... and More! Monday, May 5. Interested in herbs? This workshop will give you the basics on propagation, culture and use of selected herbs.

Composting. Monday, May 12. Learn the techniques to recycle kitchen cuttings and yard wastes into organic compost.

Volunteer Sewers Needed

COLLEGEVILLE (Montgomery Co.) — Do you like to sew? Do you enjoy working with young people? If so, the Montgomery County 4-H Program needs you! The Harley Hill Stitchers 4-H Club needs fairly experienced sewers to join a team of volunteeers who work with youth ages eight and above. The members are eager to take on advanced beginner and intermediate level sewing projects.

Starting in March, the members will be working on outfits that need to be completed for the 4-H Fashion Revue in late June. The first meeting on March 10 will be a visit to House of Fabrics, where members will tour the store and select patterns and fabric for their projects. The group meets weekly until the sewing project is finished, so your commitment may just be for several weeks. Opportunities for year 'round volunteering also exist.

Training is offered to new volunteers so, you need not be an expert, but some advanced sewing experience is extremely helpful. The club owns new machines and sergers and they meet at the Indian Valley Mennonite Church located on Route 113. For more information on how you can get involved in this rewarding volunteer experience, call Helaine Brown, 4-H Agent, Monday-Friday, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.

Recently several consumers have called me with questions about deli products or other food products they recently purchased which were either sour, moldy, had an off flavor, was sticky and some meat products even had a fowl smell.

Other than calling an extension home economist what do you do when you have a complaint about a food product? Do you return the product to the store for a refund? Do you let the food company know about the problem? Or do you just dispose of the product, thinking no one cares?

Most people who have complaints that are serious enough to justify contacting the store or the company will tell friends about their unhappy experience, but they don't tell the people who are most anxious to know — the store or the food company. In fact, 96% of consumers do not take the time to complain to the right people when they are dissatisfied with a product.

As a consumer, you have both a right and a responsibility to let a company know when you are not satisfied with its products. When consumers file complaints with the right people in the right way, retailers and processors have an opportunity to make amends to unhappy customers and to find out where improvements are needed.

When you have a complaint about a food product, save the container and any uneaten portion of the food until your complaint has been resolved. Cover or wrap the product and container and refrigerate or freeze it. Mark it clearly so that no one will eat it by mistake.

It is possible that the company may wish to have a representative evaluate the unsatisfactory product. The product and container can be disposed of after the problem has been settled. Next, decide whether the problem occurred at the processing or the retail level. If the problem is with freshness — for example, spoilage before the freshness date on the package has expired — you should return the product and the container to the store.

Return the unsatisfactory product as soon as possible and take your cash register receipt with you. When you enter the store, ask to see the manger or the supervisor of the department where you purchased the product. Tell that person when you purchased the product and what you feel is wrong with it. Point out the "Sell by" or "Best if used by" date.

Reporting your complaint in this way allows the store to replace the product or refund your money, and it alerts the manager to any changes that might be needed to ensure freshness of products.

If the problem apparently occurred during processing you should contact the company that produced the product. Some companies include a toll-free telephone number — an 800 number — on the label so consumers can contact them when they have complaints, questions or suggestions.

For most problems at the processing level, however, it is best to write a letter. The name and address of the comapny are on the label. When you write, address the letter to the Consumer Affairs Department. This will help the company handle your complaint more quickly.

Complaints are reported to company executives and managers who use them to improve the quality of the products. Your letter should include:

1. A description of your purchase: a. the name of the company or brand name and the specific name of the product; b. the size purchased; c. any code marks from the container, such as a series of letters and numbers stamped on the end of a can, the lid of a jar or bottle, or elsewhere on a wrapper or package.
2. The date and place of purchase.
3. A specific, accurate statement of the problem.
4. A statement of exactly how you expect the company to resolve the problem.
5. Your name, address and phone number.
6. Identifying documents or packaging material: a. the label or portion of the package or container with code marks; b. proofs of purchase or guarantee of satisfaction information; c. the cash register receipt.
7. A statement of whether you still have unused portions of the food or container.

A polite letter indicating a problem with a food product most always results in a timely response from the food processor. They are happy to correct problems and keep you as a customer.

Boots And Saddles

On February 14, the Boots and Saddles 4-H club will be starting another fun filled year. The club meeting will be held at the Farm and Home Center in Lancaster, where the group will discuss the operation of the club, activities planned for the year, the nomination of club officers, plus a surprise activity.

If you cannot attend this meeting, please contact Rose Fellenbaum at (717) 664-5521, and let her know if you would like to join the club.

Some other key events that are coming up for the club are the March 7th club meeting, a clinic in April and a gymkhanna in May.

Boots and Saddles is a club geared towards learning about horses and at the same time, having fun doing it.

The only required element of this club is an interest in horses. If you own a horse and would like to learn more about it, or you know nothing about horses but would like to learn, then this club is for you.

If you have any questions about Boots and Saddles, please call Rose Fellenbaum at (717) 664-5521, or Becky Preiss at (717) 898-6127. It costs $10 to join, and in return you will receive a year full of friends and fun.

Pruning A Young Fruit Tree

This is the second in a series of articles on pruning fruit trees ... Properly pruned fruit trees develop a strong, well-balanced framework that produces more fruit.

The day you plant your trees is the day to being to prune. Prune young trees (up to 10 years of age lightly). Pruning a young tree controls a tree's shape by training branches into a strong well-balanced framework of scaffold branches. Unwanted branches should be removed or cut back early in the age of a tree to avoid the necessity of large cuts in later years. Currently the preferred method of pruning and training non trellised apple trees is the Central·Leader System.

Winter pruning of apple trees removes undesirable limbs. It also encourages more branching. In contract summer pruning is most beneficial if done in early June and early August. For trees 1 to 4 years old, summer pruning or pinching encourage lateral branching on major limbs. This removes only a one-half inch of shoot growth early in the summer.

For the first growing season cut the tree back at planting to 24-30 inches. Heading back the tree to this height will bring the top and the roots back into balance and cause buds just below the cut to grow and form scaffold branches.

When two to three inches of new growth have occurred, it is necessary to begin training the tree. Position wooden spring-type clothespins between the main trunk or branch and the new succulent growth. The clothespins will force the new growth outward and form the strong crotch angles needed to support the fruit load in years to come. Allow the most vigorous upright branch to remain growing straight up; this will become the central leader.

On a one year old tree a number of branches should have developed. If they were clothespinned, they should have good crotch angles. The objective now is to develop strong central leader and framework of scaffold branches. The objective is to try to leave only four to five main scaffold branches spaced around the tree. Always make sure the ends of the scaffold branches are below the end of the central leader after they have been pruned back.

Occasionally a tree does not grow as well as it should during the first year. If this is the case prune the tree back to a whip and start over again. You will delay the fruiting by a year but you will have a more manageable tree.

During the second growing season, develop a second layer of scaffolds 24 to 36 inches above the scaffolds you established the year before. Be sure to clothespin the second level to develop wide crotch angles.

On two year old trees, use limb spreaders to aid you in getting more fruit earlier and improve fruit color. Spreaders can be either short pieces of wood with sharpened nails driven into each end or sharpened metal rods. Limbs should not be spread below a 60° angle from the main trunk. Limbs spread wider have a tendency to produce vigorous suckers along the topside of the branch and may cause a reduction of the terminal growth on the branch. The spreaders will need to remain in place for one to two years until the branch "stiffens up."

Any questions regarding the above article can be addressed to Tom Becker, Penn State Cooperative Extension at (717) 840-7408.

Crunch With Nuts

Little but mighty describe the many varieties of nuts. Technically, nuts are seeds, and characteristic of seeds, nuts contain concentrated amounts of nutrition. Nuts are a terrific source for protein, and vitamins such as riboflavin and vitamin E, as well as important minerals. The oil in nuts is generally 90 percent unsaturated and contains no cholesterol.

Although nuts are high in calories, the food value they provide make nuts a high density food, which means they furnish lots of nutrition for the amount of calories.

In most recipes, nuts are interchangeable. For example, if you don't like the flavor of walnuts, substitute almonds or another variety.

Whenever you need a little crunch, exciting flavor, eye or appetite appeal—try these recipes using little but mighty nuts.

WALNUT CHEESE LOG

2 cups grated cheddar cheese
3 ounces cream cheese, softened
1 cup chopped toasted walnuts, divided
2¼ cups ripe sliced olives, drained
¼ cup sliced green onions
Assorted crackers

Combine cheeses, beat until smooth. Stir in ½ cup walnuts, olives, and onions. Refrigerate until easy to handle. Shape mixture into a log or ball; roll in remaining walnuts. Refrigerate until firm. Makes ¼ pounds.

SODA CRAKER CHOCOLATE CANDY

35 to 40 soda crackers
1 cup butter
1 cup packed brown sugar
1½ cups semisweet chocolate chips
1½ cups coarsely chopped walnuts

Line a 15x10x1-inch baking pan with foil and coat with nonstick cooking spray. Place crackers in rows on foil. In a saucepan, melt butter; add the brown sugar and bring to a boil. Boil for 3 minutes. Pour over crackers and spread until completely covered. Bake at 350 degrees for 5 minutes (crackers will float). Remove from the oven. Turn oven off. Sprinkle chocolate chips and walnuts over crackers. Return to the oven until chocolate is melted, about 3-5 minutes. Remove from the oven; using a greased spatula, press walnuts into chocolate. Cut into 1-inch squares while warm. Cool completely; remove candy from foil. Yield: about 5 dozen.

Featured Recipe

The amazing peanut can be eaten raw, roasted, boiled or blended into old fashioned peanut butter. Many wonderful recipes abound. If you like the featured recipe, you'll want to send for additional recipes or information about peanuts and peanut products, by writing or calling Mary Webb, executive director, Texas Peanut Producers Board, P.O. Box 398, Gorman, Texas 76454 or call 1 (817) 734-2853.

This week's featured recipe combines three of the most popular flavors: peanut butter, chocolate and vanilla. Because it is very rich, a small piece is satisfying. Enjoy!

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE CAKE

2 eggs
¾ cup butter
¼ cup peanut butter
1 cup water
½ cup buttermilk
¼ cup unsweetened cocoa
2 cups sugar
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup chopped peanuts
Peanut Topping
Frosting

Grease and flour a 13x9x2-inch baking dish; set aside. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Lightly beat eggs in a small saucepan. Add butter, peanut butter, water, buttermilk, cocoa, and vanilla. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, just until mixture begins to boil. In a medium bowl, combine sugar, flour, and soda. Pour hot mixture over sugar mixture. Mix well. Pour into prepared pan, spreading evenly. Bake 25 minutes. Cool in pan 15 minutes. Spread peanut topping over top of cooled cake. With a teaspoon, drop frosting on peanut topping in five crosswise and three lengthwise rows. Working quickly, draw edge of a metal spatula through frosting crosswise, then lengthwise to make a marbleized decorative design, if desired. Sprinkle with chopped peanuts. Yield: about 24 servings.

Peanut Topping:

12-ounce jar creamy peanut butter
1 teaspoon peanut oil

Mix together in a small bowl. Spread over cooled cake.

Frosting:

¼ cup butter
3 tablespoons buttermilk
2 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa
½ cup powdered sugar, sifted
½ teaspoon vanilla

In a small saucepan, combine butter, buttermilk and cocoa. Bring to a boil. Remove from heat, stir in powdered sugar and vanilla until smooth.

HONEY OAT BRAN BARS

4 cups oat bran flakes
½ cup chopped peanuts
½ cup raisins
⅓ cup butter
⅓ cup honey
⅓ cup firmly packed brown sugar

Lightly grease 9x9x2-inch baking pan. In large bowl, toss together cereal, peanuts, and raisins; set aside. In a 2-quart saucepan, combine butter, honey, and brown sugar. Stirring constantly, bring to a full boil over medium heat and boil 5 minutes. Pour over cereal mixture; toss to coat well. Press evenly into prepared pan. Let set 1 hour. Cut into 2x1½ -inch bars. Store in tightly covered container. Yield: 16 bars.

P'NUT FRUIT SALAD

4 bananas
2 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
3 red delicious apples, diced
½ cup unsalted peanuts
½ cup raisins

Slice bananas into a medium bowl and add orange juice concentrate. Stir to coat bananas. Add apples, peanuts and raisins and mix. Chill for one hour. Serve on lettuce leaves and top with Surprise Dressing.

Surprise Dressing:

½ cup mayonnaise
¼ creamy peanut butter
¼ cup honey

Blend ingredients. Yield: 1 cup.

PRALINE MERINGUES (Macaroons)

2 egg whites
2 cups light brown sugar, firmly packed
3 cups whole pecans
2 teaspoons vanilla

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Lightly grease baking sheets. Beat egg whites until stiff, add sugar and vanilla and beat until smooth and stiff. Fold nuts into egg white mixture. Spoon by heaping teaspoon onto prepared baking sheets.

Bake for 10 minutes, cool for one minute on the baking sheet. Remove to cooling rack. Makes 4 to 6 dozen.

Betty Light
Lebanon

NUTTY CHICKEN FINGERS

⅓ cup cornflake crumbs
½ cup finely chopped pecans
1 tablespoon dried parsely flakes
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
2 tablespoons milk
12 ounces skinless, boneless chicken breast halves, cut into strips

In a shallowdish, combine cornflake crumbs, pecans, parsely, salt, and garlic powder. Dip chicken in milk, roll in crumb mixture. Place in 15x10x1-inch baking pan. Bake at 400 degrees for 7-9 minutes or until chicken is tender and no longer pink.

Taking Time To Be A Mom

Seven years ago, I set out on a journalistic adventure writing "Taking Time." Twice monthly I would encourage readers to take time to do things that would make a difference for their families and their own lives. "Take time to draw up a will," "to prepare your child for kindergarten," "to reminesce with family members," "to prioritize your calendars," "to set goals for your family budget." As I urged you to take these steps, I'd take them myself.

Now I'm preparing to take another important step — a very big step. This month my husband and I are expecting our first baby. Now at last, the textbook teaching will be put into action. Everything I read now is filtered through the idea that I will soon be parenting an infant.

Yesterday, I read some government statistics that reported that it costs $145,320 to care for a child from birth through 18 years of age. Money management strategies take on a new incentive given that information.

I also read an article highlighting new findings about a child's brain development. Researchers at the Baylor College of Medicine have found that children who don't play much or who are rarely touched develop brains that are 20-30 percent smaller than normal for their age. As I read it, again, I considered, "What does this mean for me as a parent of an infant?" That research motivates me to take extra time to cuddle, romp with, and play with my child. I'm sure most parents feel similarly.

The choices that parents make about their time are difficult. I am fortunate to have an employer who allows new moms a longer leave period. I am also fortunate to have a spouse whose income is adequate to provide for family expenses during my time away from my job. Given these circumstances, I've chosen to take some time to focus on my new child and my role as a mom.

This choice was a difficult one because I LOVE what I do. I am trusting that the real life experiences will provide a wealth of teaching examples for me to share with others in the future. Penelope Leach, author of Your Baby and Child, writes "Babies and children live minute by minute, hour by hour, and day by day and it is those small units of time which will concern you most in your 24-hour caring. But everything he does during those detailed days reflects what he is what he has been, and what he will become."

I will miss my professional challenges, my interactions with readers, caseworkers, teens, and fellow educators. But I look forward to having the time to experience with my baby some treasured moments — sharing "what he is . . . and what he will become."

For me, like so many other smaller decisions during the past seven years, it's a matter of taking time.

Folate: What You Should Know

(NAPS) — It's about time more men got what they needed too — more folate.

During the last couple of years, many articles have been written about how women of childbearing age need foalte to help prevent certain birth defects. But men need folate too.

"Folate deficiency could trigger 30 to 40 percent of the heart attacks and strokes suffered by American men each year," says Dr. Judith Hall, a geneticist at the University of British Columbia.

Dr. Hall is one of several doctors who are saying that the link between folate and heart disease is very strong. Recent studies have shown that high levels of a natural substance called homocysteine are associated with increased risk of heart attacks and strokes, but increasing the amount of folate in the diet will reduce the level of homocysteine in the body.

The research also noted that it is still important to control fat and cholesterol in the diet because there are separate risks for heart disease. Ensuring adequate folate levels will not protect against the evils of an unhealthy diet.

For years dieticians have touted leafy green vegetables as the best source of folate. It is true that they are a good source, but a source many nutritional experts say is even better is dry Blackeye peas.

Blackeyes are a good source in any form — fresh, frozen, canned or dry — but the best source of folate comes from the cooked dry Blackeyes. This "wonder food of nature" has the highest contest of folate of any vegetable and has no fat or cholesterol.

Some people have argued that you can't get enough folate from food. The facts don't support this argument. The RDI for folate for both men and women is 400 mcg.

Only one cup of cooked dry Blackeyes provides 358 mcg. of folate. By adding a glass of fresh squeezed orange juice (75 mcg.), a person can more than meet his or her folate need for the day.

Free Recipes

A free collection of recipes high in healthy folate are available from The Blackeye Council of California. Send a self addressed envelope (#10) to: Blackeye Recipes, 531-D, N. Alta Ave., Dinuba, CA 93618.

Add Crunch With Nuts

SWEDEN JAM COOKIES

1 cup butter
½ cup sugar
½ cup dark corn syrup
2 eggs, separated
2½ cups unsifted flour
2 cups finely chopped walnuts
Tart jelly or jam

With mixer at medium speed, beat butter and sugar in a large bowl until smooth. Beat in corn syrup and egg yolks until well mixed. Stir in flour until well mixed. Chill dough 25 minutes or until firm enough to handle.

Shape into 1-inch balls, dipped into lightly beaten egg white and rolled in nuts. Place 2-inches apart on greased cookie sheet, with thumb, make indentation in center of each cookie. Bake in 325 degree oven for 20 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from oven; while still warm, fill with jam or jelly (small amount of your choice). Cool on wire rack. Store in airtight container in cool place. Makes about 12 cookies.

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send an SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Sometimes we receive numerous answers to the same request, and cannot print each one.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Elsie Shirk, Ephrata, would like a recipe for cherry or blueberry pie filling that tastes similar to the store-bought canned varieties.

QUESTION — A reader from Lancaster would like some good butter cream icing recipes for all flavors of butter cream similar to those made by Country Table and Binder-Up Bakeshops.

QUESTION — A faithful reader is looking for a recipe for Tiramisu, which is a creamy Italian custard layered over lady fingers, soaked in espresso. It is served in Olive Garden restaurants.

QUESTION — Joan Miller, Intercourse, would like a recipe to make rice pudding using leftover cooked rice and made on top of the stove, not in the oven.

QUESTION — Marian Snyder, Rebuck, would like a recipe for Italian Wedding Soup, which is made with chicken broth and served at weddings.

QUESTION — Jean Kriebel, Harleysville, is looking for a recipe for oyster pie that does not use a lot of crackers as a filler.

QUESTION — Joanne Lomas, Morgantown, writes that when she was a little girl growing up in Philadelphia, her parents used to get a wonderful bread from a Lithanian Bakery (she thinks). The bread crust was very dark and shiny and the inside was moist, sour, and gray in color. It was delicious. Does anyone have a recipe for such a loaf?

QUESTION — Pat Elligson, Millers, Md., would like a recipe for a cabbage slaw that is cooked and combined with a yellow cooked dressing that is very creamy. She thinks her mother used a Pa. Dutch recipe to make it.

QUESTION — The Greene Co. New York Dairy Princess wants recipes for fudge in the following flavors: coffee, cranberry, and raspberry. She purchased these flavors at the Pa. Farm Show.

QUESTION — Helen Hertzler of Morgantown asks what causes muffin batter to bake around the outside first and then push up through the top, forming strange-looking growths and then baking firm.

QUESTION — Shirley Schwoerer, Wysox, would like a recipe to make Danish or puff pastry using a food processor.

QUESTION — Ann Harner, Gettysburg, would like a recipe for English muffins made in a bread machine. She also wants a recipe to make homemade yogurt in a yogurt maker. She had these recipes but misplaced them.

QUESTION — Charlene Bennett, Cleanville, would like to know if cheese balls and cream cheese may be frozen. Also, how long may homemade fudge and other chocolate candies be frozen?

QUESTION — What ratio of cinnamon and sugar is good for sand tarts? Charlene Bennett said that hers always come out too light or too dark.

QUESTION — Helen Feeg, Robesonia, would like a recipe to make a fruit only fruit spread sweetened only with pure fruit juice and citrus pectin. Her husband is a diabetic and he likes these jams better than those sweetened with artificial sweetner.

QUESTION — H. W. Hamilton, Thornton, would like recipes that use gluten flour to make bread and pastry.

QUESTION — Stephanie Huger, Meyerstown, is looking for a recipe for pumpkin strudel with poppy seeds and sour cream or cream cheese. Her grandmother from Hungary made it, but Stephanie lost the recipe.

QUESTION — A reader wants a stewed tomato recipe that tastes similar to the one made by Shady Maple.

QUESTION — J. Rehmeyer, York, is looking for a pizza bread recipe that tastes similar to that sold at the York market.

QUESTION — Mrs. D. Fisher, Lewistown, would like a recipe for breakfast pop tarts. She tried making them but the crust gets too flaky. Does someone have a recipe in which the pop tarts can hold up being toasted?

QUESTION — Christine Mansberger, Shippensburg, would like the recipe for a cookie called Five O'Clock Teas, which were made at the Valley Pride Bakery in Shippensburg until they went out of business.

QUESTION — A reader would like healthful bread recipes to make in a bread machine. Is it possible to make bread machine bread without white flour? She prefers oat flour, which doesn't have enough gluten in it to raise sufficiently.

QUESTION — Cel Brown of West Chester wants the recipe for a bread mix like the ones in the store called Daily Bread Company's. These mixes can be made up ahead.

ANSWER — For the reader who wanted recipes for making soybean dishes, here are some from Frances Homa, Alpha, N.J. and from Eleanor Martin, Hershey.

Soybean Hamburger Casserole

Saute in large skillet:
- 2 tablespoons cooking oil
- 1 cup chopped celery
- ½ pound ground beef
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper

When meat is browned, stir in the following:
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon seasoned salt
- 2½ cups cooked soybeans
- 1¼ cups boiling water
- 2 cups rice, cooked

Heat and simmer a few minutes. Place in greased casserole and bake 45 minutes. Remove from oven and top with ½ cup grated cheese and return to oven until cheese melts.

Bunker Hill's Baked Soybeans
- 2 pounds dried soybeans
- ½ pound bacon, cut in ½ -inch pieces, fried and drained
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ½ cup honey
- ⅓ cup brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons dry mustard
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper

Soak beans in fresh water overnight. Boil gently for 30 minutes. Drain, reserving liquid.

Combine all ingredients with 3 cups reserved liquid. Cover and bake at 325 degrees for 3 to 3½ hours or until tender, stirring occasionally.

Add small amount of liquid if necessary to keep moistened. Uncover, and cook 30 minutes or more. Yields: 3 quarts.

Boston Baked Soys
- 1½ cups soybeans
- ¼ pound bacon
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 2 tablespoons molasses
- ½ cup catsup
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- ½ teaspoon worchestershire sauce
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper

Soak and cook soybeans. Dice all but 2 strips bacon and mix with beans; add remaining ingredients. Add ¼ cup water or bean cooking water. Pour into 1½ quart casserole. Crisscross the two bacon strips on top. Cover and bake in preheated 300 degree oven for 30 minutes. Stir, bake uncovered, 30 minutes longer or until thickened. Serves 4.

Baked Soybeans
- 2 cups dry soybeans
- 6 cups water
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 tablespoons molasses
- 1 tablespoon vegetable broth OR ¼ cup finely minced celery

Wash and soak beans in salted water overnight. Cook until almost done. Drain and save water. Place beans in casserole or bean pot. Put broth and molasses in measuring cup and fill with water from the beans. Pour mixture over beans, add more water to almost cover. Cover and bake 2 to 3 hours at 350 degrees. Serves 4 to 6. For 2 to 3 persons, cut recipe in half or prepare the whole recipe and freeze half for future use.

ANSWER — Naomi Morrison, White Hall, Md., would like instructions on how to prepare strawberries in a thickened sauce like those served at Shoney's Restaurants. Thanks to Mrs. Daniel Yoder, Lewistown, for sending a recipe.

Strawberry Danish Dessert

Heat to boiling:
- 3 cups water
- 1¼ cups sugar
- 3-ounce box strawberry Jell-O

Thicken with the following mixture by combining and dissolving:
- 1 cup water
- ½ cup Clear Jell

Let cool. Stir in the following:
- 1 quart fresh or frozen strawberries

Nuts

CHOCOLATE CRUMBLE COFFEE CAKE MUFFINS

Crumble mixture:
- 2 ounces sweet dark chocolate
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon orange rind; grated
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ground
- ¼ teaspoon coffee, instant
- 1 tablespoon butter, chilled
- ¼ cup pecans

Coffee Cake Mixture:
- 1¾ cups flour, unsifted
- ⅔ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup butter, chilled
- 1 egg
- ½ cup half and half
- 1 egg yolk
- 2 teaspoons water

Crumble mixture: Place pieces of broken chocolate and brown sugar in food processor or blender. Process about 15 to 20 seconds or until as fine as coarse ground coffee. Add orange rind, cinnamon, coffee, butter, and pecans. Process a short time until nuts are finely chopped. Set aside.

Coffee Cake: Place flour, sugar, baking powder and salt in food processor; process for a few seconds to combine or prepare by hand using a pastry blender. Sprinkle small butter cubes over dry ingredients. Process only 5-6 seconds to distribute butter into very small pieces or use pastry blender. Transfer to bowl. Spread mixture to form a well in the center. Beat whole egg lightly with half and half. Pour, all at once, into dry ingredients. Using a folding motion, stir to combine ingredients, mixing only until liquid is all absorbed. Do not overmix. This should taking only 15-20 hand strokes. Spirnkle the crumble mixture over dough in bowl. With a table knife, draw across in two directions to marble crumble with dough. Do not combine thoroughly. Heavily grease muffin tins or use cupcake liners. When portioning dough, mixture will be rough but will come together after baking.

To make large size muffins, fill cups level to top, yielding 9 muffins. For medium muffins, fill cups ⅔ full, yielding 12 muffins. Prepare egg wash by mixing water with egg yolk. Brush muffins with egg wash. Bake at 400 degrees for 15-17 minutes, depending on the size of the muffins. Muffins should be golden brown and baked in center. Cool in pans about 5 minutes to firm muffins before removing. Serve warm.

CABBAGE ALMOND SALAD
- ½ head purple cabbage, shredded
- 4 green onions, chopped
- ½ cup slivered almonds
- 2 tablespoons sesame seeds
- 1 package Ramen noodles (chicken or oriental flavor)

Toast almonds and sesame seeds for 5 minutes in 350 degree oven. Combine with cabbage and onions. Carefully pull apart noodles into small edible bites. Add to cabbage and onions. Combine the following ingredients to make a dressing:
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- ¼ cup olive oil
- ¼ cup vegetable oil
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ package Ramen-flavored packet

Stir in cabbage mixture to above.

Goats Galore!

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — Last week H. Elmer Brubaker had eight mother pygmy goats on his farm. This week, he has baby pygmys everywhere.

First a mother, which is called a doe, gave birth to one. Soon another goat gave birth to twins, followed quickly by a goat that gave birth to triplets. Not to be outdone, another goat seem to say, "I can do better than that," and gave birth to quadruplets.

It's the birthing season for pgymy goats. And the excitement of seeing the miniature goats being born is high for breeders like Brubaker. Not far from his Lititz home, Patti Hecker of Brunnerville reported that one of her goats also had quads.

The delightful little goats grow quickly and offer hours of entertainment.

"When I'm feeling stress, I go to the barn to watch my goats," Hecker reported.

It's fun watching the goats play. They hop and jump up and down and tussle with each other. Quick as a flash, the older goats sometimes rise on their hind legs and clash their horns against each other just like deer do with their antlers. But the goats do it all in playfulness and it does not hurt them.

"The goats do have a pecking order," Brubaker said. "Usually one goat out of each batch becomes bigger than the others because he hogs the food."

Because only two can drink from their mother at one time, the goats must learn to take turns. Generally one of them tries to push the others away.

Brubaker reported that he started raising pygmy goats in 1985 when he stopped dairy farming.

"You can get the boy off the farm, but you can't get the farm out of the boy," Brubaker said of his interest in the tiny goats.

The advantage of raising goats instead of cows is that "I don't need to milk these," Brubaker said.

Hecker said that her husband bought a pygmy billy goat for her several years ago to keep the weeds and ivy poison cleared on the acreage surrounding their home.

"But the billy goat got lonely and started bawling," she said.

She thought she'd better quench the goat's lonliness and buy another one to keep him company after a neighbor, who thought the noise was made by Patti's children, called and asked if her children were O.K.

"This is the result," Hecker said of the 16 goats now housed in a shed.

Both Brubaker and Hecker said that the goats often deliver their offspring without any assistance. Sometimes one needs to be pulled out. Hecker is the one in her family to assist in the birthing process. But Brubaker usually asks his wife Rachel to help because she has smaller hands and is able to manipulate the goats easier.

Neither the Brubakers nor the Heckers raise purebred goats so the prices are lower than the purebred kinds. The prices for billy goats are also lower than those for does, but Brubaker said that if the males are castrated they will not have a strong odor and make as nice a pet as the females.

The delightful goats come in all colorings and markings, from black to pure white. Hecker's favorite coloring is what she calls red, but it looks sort of sandy. White marks often cover the lower part of the goats legs, tails, and white streaks mark their heads and tails. Some goats have beards and some have waddles. Regardless of their coloring, most people agree that all the goats are adorable.

Brubaker's grandchildren used to name all his goats, but the grandchildren now live out of state and aren't around to name this batch.

Brubaker's dog, a cross between a Samoyan and Golden Retriever, Hermie, is terrified of the miniature goats. Although Hermie is much larger than the goats, which are about two feet in height when full grown, the goats rolled him one time when he entered the pen. Ordinarilly the goats are very docile and are not agressive with children or adults, but the goats must have sensed danger when they saw Hermie charging into the pen.

Most people buy the goats for pets, but some buy them to keep the grass down. All the baby goats are for sale. Brubakers can be reached at (717) 626-7130 and the Heckers at (717) 627-1537.

Kenton, 4, and Stacy, 16, months visit the newborn pygmy goats belonging to their neighbor H. Elmer Brubaker. Kenton and Stacy are the children of Kenneth and Marlene Horst. The mother goats all seemed to be trying to outdo each other. After a single birth, another one gave birth to twins, followed by one who gave birth to triplets, and the next to quads. Pygmy goats originated in Africa. The miniature goats are called achondroplastic dwarfs, which mean they have a full-size trunk but short legs. Most Americans consider pygmy goats to be pets, but they can be used for milk, meat, and hides. According to Oliver Odgen, who raises them and whose wife Sharon writes "The Goat Connection," the goats can even be housebroken and raised as housepets.

Look how big Hermie, H. Elmer Brubaker's dog is compared to a pgymy goat. Believe it or not Hermie is afraid of the miniature goats.

One of Patti Hecker's goats also gave birth to quads this week.

CORRECTION — In the Feb. 15 edition of this paper, the column "Consuming Thoughts," by Fay Strickler included a recipe for Sugar and Spice Prunes. It did not list the amount of butter to be used. Fay said that it should list 2 tablespoons butter.

ANSWER — Ann Harner, Gettysburg, wanted to know where to buy or how to make poppyseed filling to use in a cake recipe that she has. Thanks to Andrew Dringus, Zion Grove, for sending a recipe.

Poppyseed Filling

½ pound poppyseed
½ cup sugar
½ cup milk
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Heat milk, add poppyseed and stir. Add remaining ingredients. Cool before using.

For nut filling:

Use the same recipe but substitute 1 pound ground walnuts for the poppyseed.

ANSWER — Ida Book, Blain, wanted a recipe for Indian Pudding. Thanks to Erla Shirk, Ephrata, and to Antonio Prosper, Cresson, for sending similar recipes.

Baked Indian Pudding

4 cups milk
½ cup yellow cornmeal
⅓ cup molasses
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons melted butter
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup raisins

Heat milk until it begins to bubble around the edges. Gradually add cornmeal. Cook stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Add molasses, eggs, sugar, butter, cinnamon, and salt; mix well. Add raisins. Pour into a 2-quart buttered baking dish. Bake in slow oven to 300 degrees for two hours. Serve with milk or ice cream.

Indian Pudding

4 cups milk, scalded
⅓ cup cornmeal
½ teapsoon salt
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup butter, melted
¼ cup molasses
¼ cup maple syrup
¼ cup maple sugar or light brown sugar
1 cup raisins
½ cup chopped walnuts

Preheat oven to 275 degrees. Stir cornmeal into scalded milk. Add salt, eggs, and butter; stir. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Bake in greased, covered, 1½ -quart casserole for 3¼ hours.

Serve warm or cold.

Kites, Kites, And More Kites

READING (Berks Co.) — Come and fly kites or just watch the sky come alive with color on Sunday, April 27 at the 19th annual "Go Fly A Kite Day" at the Berks County Heritage Center from 11:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. (Rain-date — May 4th).

Before your very eyes, watch as the blue sky becomes a backdrop for the multi-colored kites that sail through the air. Activities include children's kite-making workshops (while supplies last), homemade and sled kite contests, demonstrations, tips and techniques by the Sky Pilots Club of Reading, and other entertainment.

This annual event is sponsored by CoreStates Bank and the Berks County Parks & Recreation Department. Refreshments will be available. Due to the close proximity of the Reading Airport, all kite flying is restricted to 350 feet from the ground. This event is free and open to the public.

The Berks Count Heritage Center is located one (1) mile north of the Reading Aiport, just off Route 183, on Red Ridge Rd. For more information call (610) 374-8839.

12' End Wheel No-Till Drill

No-Till technology and maximum productivity in a 12' size

All of the benefits of Great Plains no-till technology are now available in a new 12 foot size. The new 12' End Wheel No-Till drill is designed to handle the planting needs of small to medium sized operations with maximum productivity.

Built to the high quality standards of Great Plains, the 12' End Wheel No-Till drill will plant in the most demanding of no-till conditions with extreme accuracy.

The end wheel design makes this drill extremely maneuverable. Keeping all ground-working com-ponents in-line with the end wheels prevents openers from bulldozing or bridging when working in rolling terrain. The end wheels also act as stabilizers to hold the openers steady when seeding on slopes.

Excess debris is no problem for this unit. Opener and coulter stagger of 10 3/4" allows trash to flow evenly and freely. No-till coulters create a mini-seedbed allowing openers to concentrate on seed placement.

Planting depth adjustments are quick and easy with the "T"-handle depth control system. State of the art solid seed tubes ensure that the seed exits the chute with "zero motion drop" for ultimate seed placement accuracy. The optional Seed-Lok™ wheel then presses each seed into moist soil for optimum germination.

The improved straight-arm, solid stand opener design, combined with the cushioned press wheel provides maximum down pressure with less wear and tear.

The large, welded seed box holds up to 2.4 bushels per foot. Exclusive Great Plains fluted feed seed cups coupled with the 4-speed gearbox deliver outstanding accuracy in varying rates and seeding conditions.

Designed with safety in mind, the 12' End Wheel No-Till drill comes equipped with transport safety lights and a wider walkboard.

Accessories available with the 12' End Wheel No-Till drill include: folding markers, coil tine harrows, seed box agitator and small seeds attachment.

Eugene operates a portable mill to saw boards from logs. In three years time, he has cut more than one million board feet and recently received an award for his achievement.

Wood Mizer Visits The Farm

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

DENVER (Lancaster Co.) — Several years ago, Eugene Martin gave up hog farming, but his new career often takes him back to the farm.

He operates a portable mill called a Wood Mizer in which he saws boards from trees. Although he has been always interested in lumber milling, Martin said that he never did much more with lumber than chop wood on the farm. Then he saw the portable mill demonstrated at Ag Progress.

Fascinated by how easily and quickly a log could be turned into boards, Martin decided to buy one for himself.

"From the beginning, I've had more work than I can handle," he said. Although his wife Anna helps occasionally, Martin has a full-time employee.

"I can operate it by myself, but things go a lot quicker with a helper," Martin said.

In three years time, he has cut more than one million board feet and recently received a special award from the Wood Mizer Company for his achievement.

Martin said that he hauls the portable sawmill on a flatbed truck to the site of wherever the lumber is cut.

Generally trees are cut down before Martin arrives. Although he will cut down trees, he prefers to stick strictly to sawing the logs into boards.

"Many times a whole group of people stand around and watch," Martin said of the log sawing process. "Not too many people do this type of work and people seem to be fascinated by it. They often videotape me working."

The time required to saw boards into lumber depends on the size of the tree, but Martin estimates that he cuts 2,000-4,000 board feet a day.

"A 34-inch diameter tree will takes twice as long as a 16-inch log," he said. "Nails slow things down even more."

Martin explained that nails that have been used to tack up signs in fencerows often become deeply embedded in trees and cannot be detected until cutting.

Nails quickly dull blades. Martin resharpens blades every evening. He said that one blade usually cuts 400-600 board feet.

The slab wood on all four sides are sliced from the log before it is sawed into boards.

Most customers use the boards that are sawed. If the customers prefer, Martin will haul the boards back to his barn that he has converted into a drying kiln. He has made an area of the barn airtight and insulated it. Fans and a dehumidifyer cause the air to circulate and the heat, which varies between 90-120 degrees, releases moisture from the wood.

"It takes soft wood about two weeks and hard wood about four weeks to dry in the kiln," Martin said.

He uses a moisture tester to determine when the wood is completely dried and the boards ready to use.

"The main thing I enjoy about this job is seeing how a log that looks ugly on the outside, but inside it is beatiful."

For himself, Martin prefers the look of red oak. "It's nice to saw and comes out beautiful," he said.

"He sure knows trees and lumber," his wife said of her husband. The couple often take long walks or bike rides on trails, especially in the area since they live near Project 70. Martin enjoys pointing out the different species of oaks and pines.

Anna takes care of the bookkeeping and phone calls for the businesss. She also works about four days a week as a substitute teacher's aide through IU13.

"I go all over Lancaster and Lebanon counties wherever I'm needed," she said.

Although she works with students of all levels of disabilities, Anna prefers working with autistic students. One of the Martin's sons was born with autism, and her experience in raising him now helps her in the classroom. That son now lives in a group home.

The Martins' other two sons are married and the Martins have three grandchildren.

Anna often submits recipes to the cooking sections of this paper. Here is a recipe that Anna likes to make because it uses vegetables that she grows in the garden.

1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 soup can fill with milk

Brown meat and put into casserole dish. Add sliced onions, carrots, and potatoes. Season with salt and pepper. Add soup and milk, using liquid to cover vegetables. Bake at 350 degrees until vegetables are tender, about 1 to 1¼ hours. Serves 6-8.

Anna often submits recipes to the cooking section of this paper. Here she prepares a casserole made from vegetables that she grows in the garden. She also takes care of the bookkeeping and phone calls for her husband's business in addition to working as a substitute teacher's aide through IU13.

The author Martha Finley lived in Elkton Md, and was a dear friend of Jane's grandmother. But no one but Jane cares for the books and she is willing to sell them.

Salome Fisher of Lancaster writes that there are 26 books in the series. They can be purchased at Moyer's by calling (717) 687-7459.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Donna Graver, Bernardston, Mass., wanted a recipe to make wild blueberry syrup to top ice cream, pancakes, etc. She would also like to know how to process and seal the syrup for the wholesale and retail market Here is a recipe from Wild Blueberries of Bar Harbor, Maine. For information on how to process to sell contact your local cooperative extension office.

Wild Blueberry Sauce

2 cups wild blueberries
½ cup water
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice
2 teaspoons cornstarch

In a small saucepan, combine one cup blueberries with ¼ cup water, sugar, and lemon juice. Stir and bring to a boil. Turn down heat, simmer 7 to 10 minutes. Mix the cornstarch into ¼ cup water until dissolved and add to the blueberry mixture; stir until it thickens then add remaining cup of blueberries. Cook 3 minutes on low heat. Makes about 1 cup.

ANSWER — Martha Myers of Manchester, Md., sends this fudge recipe requested by Irene Martin of Selinsgrove. Myers writes that her daughter made this recipe for 4-H competitions in the 1950s and won many blue ribbons with it. "It is a creamy, melt-in-the mouth fudge that is one of the best," she writes.

Mrs. Farring's Fudge Recipe

4 squares bitter chocolate
¼ pound butter
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 pound powdered sugar
1 small can evaporated milk
¼ cup King syrup
2 teaspoons vanilla

Melt chocolate slowly in a heavy saucepan

Add butter, both sugars, evaporated milk, and syrup Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, about 5-6 minutes

Drop a few drops of the mixture in cold water. When a firm ball forms in the water, remove pan from heat and place in another pan of cold water to cool for a short time (this shortens the beating time). Add vanilla and mix.

Beat until thick and the fudge changes to a little lighter color. Pour into a buttered 7-inch square pan. When cool, cut the candy into squares.

Perfect Bread Baking By Machine

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Bread baking has never been easier.

With the tremendous improvement in the operation of bread machines, more and more people are using them. Bread machines offer a wonderful possibility to experiment will all kinds of flavors and flours.

In easy to understand language, Alletta Schadler, director for Lebanon County Extension, recently explained how specialty flours, yeasts, and liquids work together and how to adjust one or the other to produce the perfect loaf.

Here are some pointers from a recent machine bread making class that she taught at the Lebanon County Extension office.

• Because bread machines vary somewhat, it is important to read the complete manual and place the ingredients in the recommended order.

• Measure ingredients accurately. Schadler demonstrated the difference in flour amounts by dipping a measuring cup into flour and leveling it off and by loosely spooning the flour into the measuring cup. The difference was ounce per one-half cup flour. The proper way to measure flour is to fluff it a bit with a spoon and then spoon it lightly into measuring cup. Level it off with a knife.

• Whole grain flours have little or no gluten in them. For this reason, bread made with whole grains are usually heavier and smaller. Gluten, which is the protein part of flour that makes dough stretchy, can be purchased and one tablespoon per loaf can be used in place of flour. Generally half of the flour used should be white bread flour. A product called dough enhancer can also be used to produce fluffier bread.

• "Humidity, flour, and temperature affect bread baking success," she said. "A machine will not compensate for differences."

She suggests watching the kneading process through the machine's window to determine whether or not the dough is too sticky and needs to have flour added or whether the dough is too dry and needs to have flour added.

• Salt regulates rising. While salt may be cutback, it will overise if not used.

• Sugar is needed to help the yeast to grow. However, too much makes rising time take longer. Honey, molasses, and white or brown sugar may be used but sugar substitute will not work.

• Liquid may be water, milk, dry milk and water, buttermilk or fruit juice. Temperature should be about 80 degrees. Bread that has only water as the liquid tends to have a dry, crispy crust.

Yeast such as active dry, rapid rise, bread machine yeast, and bulk yeast may be used interchangeably. Schadler experimented with different yeasts and determined that rapid or quick rise yeast consistently resulted in higher rising loaves over those made with regular dry active yeast.

• Always wash sticky dough off utensils or hands by using cold water.

• Store bread at room temperature for best flavor. Never store bread in refrigerator as it will become stale faster. However, bread may be frozen.

• Rolled oats are available in instant and regular. The only difference is the thickness of the oats themselves and they are interchangeable in bread. Oat flour may be made by processing one cup of rolled oats at a time in a blender or food processor.

• While many whole wheat flours are interchangeable, they ususally have little gluten and contribute to a low rise. Use ⅓ to ½ cup to displace an equal amount out of every cup of white flour.

Rye is very low in gluten, which means that bred with high amounts of rye will be low rising and dense but very flavorful. In bread machines, rye should not exceed ½ cup out of every cup of white flour used. Add 1 tablespoon of gluten per loaf. Schadler prefers using rye flour from Hodgson Mill and one tablespoon of rye bread improver per cup of flour.

• Bread flour and yeast purchased at bulk food stores or at bulk food sections in the supermarket are generally lower priced and fresher.

Some of the recipes from Schadler's workshop are included in this article. For additional recipes printed in Fleischmann's Yeast Bread Machine Favorites, send a $2.95 check or money order per copy (which includes postage and handling) along with your name and address to: Bread Machine Favorites Recipe Book, P.O. Box 5953, Dept. BF, Stacy, MN 55078-5953. Allow four to six weeks for delivery.

FARMHOUSE WHITE BREAD

1 cup milk
1 egg
2 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon salt
1½ tablespoons sugar
3 cups bread flour
1½ teaspoon rapid or quick yeast
2 tablespoons sesame seeds

Add ingredients according to the directions on your bread machine. Add the seeds at the beep or appropriate time for your machine. Use medium setting for 1½ -pound loaf.

HERB BREAD

3 tablespoons butter
½ cup chopped onion
1 cup milk
3 cups bread flour
1½ teaspoon salt
1½ tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon dried dill
½ teaspoon dried basil
½ teaspoon dried rosemary
1½ teaspoons active dry yeast

In a small skillet, melt butter over low heat. Add onion and saute 8 to 10 minutes until onion is soft but not brown. Remove from heat; allow mixture to cool for 10 minutes before adding it to the bread pan.

Place all ingredients including onion mixture in bread pan, select light crust setting and press start.

After the baking cycle ends, remove bread from pan, place on cake rack and allow to cool one hour before slicing.

BASIC EGG BREAD

⅔ cup milk
2 large eggs
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups bread flour
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons bread machine yeast

Add ingredients to bread machine pan in the order suggested by manufacturer. Use either basic or medium setting.

This bread makes wonderful toast. For a refreshing hint of citrus, add 1 teaspoon finely shredded lemon or orange peel with the flour.

HEAVENLY RAISIN NUT BREAD

1 cup water
1½ large egg
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
1½ tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons salt
1½ teaspoon cinnamon
3 cups bread flour
2½ tablespoons nonfat dry milk
1½ teaspoons rapid or quick yeast
⅔ cup raisins
⅔ cup chopped walnuts

Use white bread cycle. Add raisins at the beep or appropriate time for your machine.

SAVORY CHEESE LOAF

1¼ cups lukewarm water
3 cups bread flour
⅓ cup grated parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons dry milk
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons Italian herb seasoning
1¼ teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons yeast

Makes a large loaf. Measure all ingredients into bread machine in the order that the manufacturer sugges. Select regular or rapid bake cycle. Do not use delayed cycle. Remove baked bread from pan and cool on wire rack.

SPAGHETTI BREAD

1 package yeast
3 cups bread flour
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon garlic salt
⅓ cup grated parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon dried Italian seasoning
1 tablespoon olive oil
1½ cups warm water

BASIC RYE BREAD

1 cup plus 2 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons light molasses
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon salt
2½ cups bread flour
1 cup medium rye flour
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon unsweetened cocoa powder
¾ teaspoon whole caraway seed
2 teaspoons bread machine yeast

Add ingredients to bread machine pan in the order suggested by manufacturer. Use either light or medium cycle. If basic white bread cycle is used, add 1 tablespoon gluten.

A hint of cocoa powder accents the flavor contributed by rye flour. If you like, substitute dill seed or fennel seed for the caraway seed.

Bread Machine Troubleshooting Guide

| SHORT LOAF, UNSATISFACTORY RISING | • Not enough sugar was used.• Delay timer was used and ingredients were placed in bread pan in a way that salt or water were in contact with the yeast for a prolonged period.• Short, heavier loaves are to be expected when whole grains or whole grain flours are used or when all-purpose flour is substituted for bread flour. Try using bread flour and reducing the amount of other flours and grains.• Recipe for regular loaf was used in large loaf pan. |
| NO RISE | • Incorrect amount of yeast was used, or yeast was not fresh.• Old or improperly stored yeast was used. Yeast was forgotten or mismeasured.• Other key ingredient(s) were forgotten or mismeasured.• Delay timer was used and ingredients were placed in the pan incorrectly. |
| COLLAPSE | • Ingredient amounts were out of proportion. Salt omitted.• Too much dough was made. Exceeding the capacity of the bread pan may cause an underbaked, gummy center and a collapsed top. When dough rises to the top of machine, it interferes with circulation needed for proper baking and cooling.• Warm weather, high humidity or overheated liquids all speed up yeast action, which may cause the dough to rise too fast and the bread to collapse before baking begins. |
| OVERRISING | • Usually indicates that ingredient quantities are out of proportion. Too much yeast, sugar, flour, lquiid or a combination may result in exceeding the capacity of the pan.• Recipe for large loaf was used when machine capacity is for regular loaf. |
| OPEN, COARSE OR HOLEY TEXTURE | • Excess water or yeast was used, or yeast action was accelerated by hot, humid weather or overheated ingredients. Salt omitted. |
| HEAVY, DENSE TEXTURE | • Not enough water or too much flour was used.• Not enough sugar or yeast was used.• Recipe was imbalanced by an excess of whole grains, dried fruits or other added ingredients. |

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Last week I had an opportunity to sew on a new powerful sewing machine at the Lancaster General Hospital. Our church members give one day a year to help sew sheets and garments. In five hours we each made 27 sheets. At lunch time we ate in their new large cafeteria. It was a different day than my usual one.

My mother had a treadle sewing machine that she used a lot before she was married. She made not only her dresses but also her slips and undergarments. Then when she got married, she felt that she was too busy being a farm wife to sew on her machine.

So, she had a seamstress in a nearby town make school dresses for her girls. This lady did not use patterns but simply stood us on a table and measured us. The material for these dresses came from my mother's Sunday dresses. Only, this velvet and silk was really not suitable for high school clothes. I was embarrassed to wear them but I had no choice. The same went for the boy's high-top shoes that I wore in the fifth grade. And, those sturdy shoes lasted a long, long time.

The other day our grandson, 6 years old, telephoned me and asked if he could come for supper. He assured me that he could ride his bicycle to our home. While he was here, we went to a store and I was reminded of how little ones can beg for what they want.

To entertain him, I got a box down from my clothes closet shelf that contained stone blocks. These were mine as a child in the 1920s. They have remained in perfect condition in the original wooden box because no one was allowed to play with them very often. Even I have waited until I felt the children would be careful with them. Now they are an antique toy collectible.

Foundry Day Festival Is June 7

BOILING SPRINGS (Cumberland Co.) — The historic village of Boiling Springs, Cumberland County, will celebrate the 11th annual "Foundry Day" Arts and Crafts Festival on Saturday, June 7, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The festival will feature many talented members of the Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen as well as some of the most creative professional artists and craftspeople from throughout Pennsylvania and nearby states.

Lined up on Front Street, along picturesque Children's Lake and Third Street, 100 booths will be filled with the best crafts and fine arts their creators have to offer. Baskets, tin and iron ware, woodcarvings and furniture, functional and sculptural pottery, leather belts and pocketbooks, handwoven wearables and rugs, stained glass, jewelry and fine arts are but some of the many diverse wares for the public to peruse and purchase.

The 1997 "Foundry Day" theme is "The 1890s, The Era of the Trolley." There will be a walking tour of the village. Exhibitors and townspeople are encouraged to dress in period costume of the time.

The "Foundry Day" Arts and Crafts Festival is sponsored by the Foundry Day Committee, Inc. in cooperation with the Boiling Springs Civic Association and the Yellow Breeches Chapter of the Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen. The Festival takes place in historic Boiling Springs along Front and Third Streets and 19th century homes and lovely shade trees. The village is located on Route 174, 15 miles southwest of Harrisburg, 5 miles southeast of Carlisle and 15 miles northeast of Gettysburg.

PUT A BAT IN YOUR BARN
BATWING 3180 - 3 SPINDLE MOWER

The Woods model 3180 is the toughest Batwing® mower we've ever built. A "clean deck" design that resists cut material build-up, innovative Intra-Drive™ gearboxes engineered and built by Woods, and the fastest blade speeds of any mower in its class. The 3180 Batwing® cuts through brush, up to three inches in diameter. A blade overlap of over six inches, and you have a mower that delivers a quality cut, without streaking. From its heavy-gauge deckplate to its heavy-duty drivelines, we build the 3180 to last. What's more, they come complete with a 36-month gearbox warranty.
Also available new 20 ft. Batwing Model 3240.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 18

The members of Lancaster Farm Women Society #18 met at Brethren Village with Ann Burkins as Hostess and 20 members and guests. Ruth Landis had devotions as President Roberta Shepherdson presided.

Roll call was "Show and Tell" a cherished Valentine. The largest was about a two-foot heart-shaped red box that once held chocolates.

Miriam Layman spoke on "The History of Valentines" and gave much information about them. So many varieties from handmade to wall hanging, to fold and stand up were passed from hand to hand. Each member selected a Valentine from a basket that members had depositied on arrival. Seeing the joy on each face, age in the 70s, does not need to be a stopping place for the activities of a close, warm, loving society of Farm Women. Remember Mrs. Moore who was active at 100 years.

The most romantic was shown by our president, which was a red heart-shaped candy box. When opened 49 years ago, it held a jeweler's box and inside her engagement ring!

A Farm Show report by Edna Buckwlater included a disturbing item — the majority of Farm Women members are in their 70s. Some no longer are able or willing to be a hostess and are reluctant to assume presidential responsibilities. Ways to remain an active, interested society include eating together in a restaurant and sharing other responsibilities.

Nature's Perfect Snack Awaits

NEWARK, Del. — Ravenous teen-agers arriving home from school often crave snacks like potato chips and soda. But these salty and sugary treats may be replacing the healthy foods they need, says Dr. Sue Snider, Cooperative Extension food and nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware.

"Fast-growing teens need at least five servings of fruit and vegetables per day," says Snider.

Lancaster Society 8

Lancaster Farm Women No. 8 met on February 12 at the home of President Arlene Witman in Mount Joy. Hostesses were Mildred Hirst, Pauline Miller, Cathy Brown and Evelyn Russell. Jo Ann Sechrist, author, gave a review on one of her publications. The March 12 meeting will be at the Country Home Community Room in Mount Joy.

"Unfortunately, the average American eats only two and a half."

"Fruits and vegetables are nature's perfect snack," says Snider. "They're fast and easy. They're low in fat and calories. And they provide fiber and certain chemicals, such as carotenes, that may reduce the risk of cancer and heart disease."

To encourage your teen to choose a healthy snack over greasy, salt-laden fast foods, have fruits and vegetables readily available throughout the day.

* Have them take a juice box, piece of fruit or canned fruit snack pack in their backpack.

* Give them small bags of dried fruit (raisins or dried apricots, cherries, cranberries or blueberries) to keep for a quick energy supply in their backpack or glove compartment of the car.

* Keep a bag of fresh, sliced fruit or vegetables prominently displayed in the refrigerator. Try including apples, grapes, carrot or celery sticks, sliced green or red pepper, raw broccoli, cauliflower or turnips.

* Ensure that they eat a good breakfast, says Snider. While teen-agers on the run often skip a morning meal, breakfast easily can provide two servings of fruit in the form of juice and fresh fruit topping on whole-grain cereal, waffles or low-fat yogurt.

If you teen-ager enjoys creating a snack, he or she can try these ideas:

* a fruit smoothie made in a blender from 6 ounces orange juice (or cranberry juice cocktail) and a banana;

* fruit salad;

* hot fruit compote made in the microwave from apples, peaches or pears, water, sugar, spices and lemon juice.

Finally, says Snider, appeal to teen-agers' vanity. Remind them that eating healthy foods will help them look good, grow strong and give them the energy they need for their busy schedules.

HAPPENINGS

Adams County 4-H Beef

The Adams County 4-H Beef Club recently held its annual buyers' appreciation banquet with 120 in attendance. The 1996 4-H beef sale buyers were guests of club members, leaders, and families at the Gettysburg Fire Hall.

Each 4-H member introduced their buyers after the meal. Buyers recieved a 4-H letter opener and color picture of the 4-H members, steer, and buyer taken at the beef sale. The buyers for the cake and clock were also honored.

Beef club members received their project book awards from 4-H Beef Club Leader Charles Sherman and Adams County 4-H Agent Terri Packard. The Glen Boyer Memorial Award, recognizing members completing junior recognition forms in the beef category, was presented to Jason Keller, Gettysburg. The club recognized five first-year members with plaques: Derek Byers, Biglerville; Ashley Claassen, McKnightstown; Stacey Kibler, Littlestown; Andrew Seymore, York Springs; and Greg Young, Biglerville. 4-H Beef Club leaders were introduced by Vice-President, Ashley Stine, East Berline. Leaders are: Charles Sherman; Karol Sherman; James Boyer; Deb Flickinger; Amy Godfrey; Deb Jeffcoat; Robert Martin; Ben Stine; and Roger Stine.

The highlight of the evening was the "Down On The Farm Livestock Show," with all beef club members playing a very active role. Everyone in attendance enjoyed a slide show featuring photos of past and present 4-H Beef Club members given by Terri Packard.

The evening concluded with Charles Sherman thanking the buyers for their dedicated support of the 4-H program. Chris Seymore closed the evening by thanking buyers, club members, leaders, and friends for coming. Banquet committee members were Ashley Stine, Chair; Candice Flickinger; Janel Keller; Bert Martin; Andrew Seymore; Chris Seymore; Deb Flickinger, Leader-in-charge; JoAnne Boyer; Judy Stine; and Roger Stine.

HI-RISE LAYER MANAGERS WE HAVE STIR AERATOR TO HELP WITH

FLY & ODOR CONTROL

BIG PERFORMANCE...SMALL PRICE

SIMPLE PROCEDURE: the aerator works directly into the bed of material, forming its own windrow. Windrows can be formed from piles of nearly any size. Alleyways are not required when using the Brown aerator, so there is a great reduction in space requirements. The aerator's reverse rotation works the material from the bottom up and to the side, assuring complete mixing and agitation. LOW MAINTENANCE: the aerator is a simple design, the principle as a material mover has been proven with over 30 years experience in practical application. The aerator is hydraulically driven and equipped with patented wearplates or paddles, both of which are easily replaced.

IT ALSO CUTS MAN-HOURS.

When you're doing high-capacity haying, our Hesston 1160 Hydro Swing Mower Conditioner gets right down to business.

We built it with a center-pivot design that has all the benefits of a self-propelled without the extra expense. And it's made for consistent, even cutting.

Once you've entered your fields, the 1160's fully-engaged, 110 inch conditioner goes to work for fast drying and even, well-conditioned windrows. You can even adjust the forming shields to produce everything from a swath to Hesston's unique fluffy windrow. The 1160 tailors itself so you can harvest the highest quality hay and save time in the process.

See it at your AGCO Hesston dealer today. Ask about flexible financing through Agricredit Acceptance Company.

We are very pleased with our Master Mix representative. He keeps up with the latest developments in dairy nutrition and makes regular farm visits to answer our questions, observe cows, take forage samples and provide ration updates.

The Master Mix AIM Technology works well for us. We use it for our milk replacer, calf starter and in our lactating cow supplement. The custom-formulated cow supplement not only works, but allows three different people to mix our TMR quickly and accurately with out a lot of time wasted weighing out different ingredients or messing with a pile of bags.

Despite being overcrowded both in free stalls and bunk space our production results are good. Last year we produced 1.2 million lb. of milk per worker. In addition, we are very pleased with our herd health and reproduction.

We are very pleased with our Master Mix representative. He keeps up with the latest developments in dairy nutrution and makes regular farm calls to answer questions, observe cows, take forage samples and provide ration updates.

N.Y. Vegetable Conference Draws Hundreds

ITHACA, N.Y. — The 9th Annual New York State Vegetable Conference provided favorable weather as more than 1,200 growers, processors, and allied industry representatives came from around the state, the Northeast and Canada to attend this major three-day event.

It is co-sponsored and planned annually by Cornell Cooperative Extension/NYS College of Agriculture and Life Sciences, the NYS Vegetable Growers Association, the Empire State Potato Club, and the Associated NYS Food Processors Association.

These educational meetings for fresh market and processing vegetable producers have been the focus of this statewide conference since its inception in 1989. In general, for each crop covered, talks included information on new varieties and plant breeding research updates, weed, pest and disease management options, marketing, and a variety of related topics of concern to commercial producers. Crops covered annually include fresh market and processing cabbage, onions, snap beans and potatoes.

One focus-session this year was an all-day, hands-on Sweet Corn School that looked specifically at cultural practices, scouting, disease and pest identification, weed management, wildlife management, and consumer interest marketing. Potato growers also had a special half-day session on regional, national and international marketing efforts. The full-day session on tomatoes, peppers and squash included talks on maintaining top quality, bees and pollination of vine crops, opportunities in specialty crops marketing, and determining economics of new crops and markets.

In addition, new half-day sessions this year were offered on optimizing soil quality management, organic production and marketing, and leafy greens. The two hands-on crop recordkeeping/enterprise analysis and the electronic online services computer workshops designed specifically for growers were well-attended. "What's New from Industry" speakers who were exhibitors in the trade show or sponsors of the conference also gave updates on new items from their companies in many of the sessions.

Gary Fitch of Agricultural Affiliates, along with representatives from the NYS Department of Labor and the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service's H2A Program, updated growers on what's ahead for labor in the 1997 season and legislative activities. Regulations, burdensome paperwork, and the unpredictable labor supply continue to be among the major concerns of growers around the state.

William Sanok of Cornell Cooperative Extension/Suffolk County and representatives from the NYS Dept. of Environmental Conservation, Cornell's BCERF Program, gave an overview of pesticide and health issues that affect vegetable growers as well as an update on New York's controversial pesticide registry.

Certified Crop Advisor credits for given for topics on each of the three days for advisers in New York and New England. Pesticide recertification credits were also given for the sessions.

Conference attendees had many opportunities to visit nearly 80 exhibitors with the latest in seeds, biological and chemical crop protectants, packaging options, irrigation supplies, vegetable equipment and machinery, computer applications, refrigeration, business services, safety equipment and many other resources key to commercial vegetable production — for fresh market as well as processing growers, and for large operations as well as small. Tables loaded with publications, catalogs, brochures and related resources for attendees to pick up are also a key part of the Conference trade show each year.

More than 150 attended the informal social hour on Tuesday, Feb. 11. Special guests and legislators were introduced by Larry Eckhardt, president of tne NYS Vegetable Growers Association, followed by several speeches and awards. Dr. Daryl Lund, dean of the NYS College of Ag & Life Sciences at Cornell, addressed what's ahead for Cornell University in relation to the vegetable industry and the importance of partnership and industry support for research, particularly with the continued reduced funding from Albany.

A number of awards were also made during the Social Hour. Dr. James Tette, director of the NYS Experiment Station's IPM Program, and Dean Lund presented the second annual "Excellence in IPM" awards to individuals and organizations that have strongly supported the statewide IPM efforts. The first award was a team award for the project between Wegmans Food Markets and four NYS vegetable growers who have worked together to bring IPM-grown vegetables to the marketplace. Receiving it was William Pool, manager for food safety and regulation from Wegmans in Rochester; Lynn Fish of Fish's Farm Market in Shortsville; Kris and Jim Gray from Fresh-Ayr Farm Market in Shortsville; Doug Mason of Mason/Old Ridge Farms in Williamson; and Alan and Jeffrey Werner of Werner Farms in Rush. Dr. Tony Shelton received an individual "Excellence in IPM" award for the important influence he has had in shaping the vegetable IPM Program in NYS and beyond. His scouting procedures and thresholds for insect pests of crucifers, onions and sweet corn, research on the development of insect-resistant varieties, strategies for monitoring insect pathogens and resistance, and development of cultural practices to reduce pest pressures have been very important to the IPM Program. Each award-winner was given a plaque, an IPM hat, and gift certificate to Gempler's Inc. The awards are determined annually by the state legislature, NYS Dept. of Ag & markets, and Cornell University.

An important focus of the Social Hour was to honor Robert F. Becker, a former faculty member of the NYS Agricultural Experiment Station (NYSAES) at Geneva, for his outstanding contributions to and support of the NYS vegetable industry as well as longtime friend to fresh market and processing growers. Bob died unexpectedly in July 1996 and is greatly missed by all who knew him. Dr. James Hunter, director of NYSAES and Dr. Steven Reiners of the NYSAES Dept. of Horticultural Sciences both paid affectionate tribute to Bob. A special, framed photograph and vegetable bouquet were presented to Mrs. Fay Becker and her daughter Sheryl Dreiss in his honor.

Three organizations held their annual meetings during the conference, in addition to the Processing Commodity Advisory Committees at their commodity sessions.

The NYS Seed Potato Growers met for their statewide meeting prior to the first day of the conference, with a full program and excellent speakers. Donald Shardlow of Cornell University is the program's manager.

The NYS Vegetable Growers Association held its annual meeting and elected officers for 1997. Re-elected were Larry Eckhardt of Stephentown as president, Mark Henry of Eden as vice president, and Ed Hansen Sr. of Stanley as treasurer. Board members re-elected to three-year terms were Ed Hansen Sr. of Stanley, Richard Ball of Schoharie, Morris Sorbello of Fulton, Maureen Torrey Marshall of Elba, and Terry Mosher of Bouckville. Jean Warholic of Freeville continues as executive secretary and newsletter editor for the Association. Those present at the breakfast were updated on the new Fresh Market Vegetable Research Fund. Speaker for the NYSVGA Breakfast was William Sanok of Cornell Cooperative Extension who discussed the need for growers to be proactive on pesticide issues and reviewed the past year's activities behind the new statewide pesticide registry.

The Empire State Potato Club also held its annual meeting. Officers elected were John Meyer of Cohocton as president, Ralph Child of Malone as vice president, and Larry Bowman of North Collins as secretary/treasurer. New directors elected to three-year terms were Karl Hofmann of Springville, Kevin Datthyn of Sodus, Tom Guidone of Port Byron, and Mario Gregori of Elba. Melanie Wickham of Stanley continues as executive secretary of the Empire State Potato Club and show manager of their huge, annual Empire Farm Days each summer.

Blue ribbon winning entries for onions and potatoes in the annual Consumer Packaging Contest, sponsored by the NYS Dept. of Agriculture and Markets, the NYS Vegetable Growers Association and the Empire State Potato Club, were also on display during the conference. Held since the 1950s, this contest has always been an eye-catcher. It enables growers to assess quality at packing and wholesale levels as well as to reinforce awareness of U.S. Standards. Random selections are made by qualified NYS inspectors at packing sheds throughout the state and the products are judged for grade defects, uniformity of size, general presentation and package markings.

The potato grand champions this year were: Hoeffner Farms of Montgomery for eastern N.Y. and Hofmann Farms in western N.Y. The onion grand champions were Carol Ann Produce of Goshen for eastern N.Y. and G. Mortellaro & Sons of Elba for western N.Y.

The vegetable industry in New York State continues to be a strong 4th in the nation, contributing more than $272 million to New York's economy, including $173 million from fresh market vegetables, $37 millon from processing, and $61 million from potatoes. The 10 top crops produced include fresh and kraut cabbage, fresh and processed sweet corn, processed snap beans and green peas, cucumbers, potatoes, onions, tomataoes, and lettuce.

The 1998 NYS Vegetable Conference will return to the Four Points ITT/Sheraton Convention Center in the Syracuse area. Conference trade show exhibitor information will be available in early September, with detailed program and registration information available in early December.

The published 210-page Proceedings from the conference that includes many of the talks and a list of most of the conference speakers is available for $14 postpaid from the NYS Vegetable Growers Association.

For more information about this annual Conference, the Proceedings or membership for commercial growers, contact the NYS Vegetable Growers Association at P.O. Box 4256, Ithaca, NY 14852, (607) 539-7648.

Iowa Plant Expansion Begins In Spring

DEKALB, Ill. — Another tangible sign of DeKalb's ongoing commitment to producing and delivering top-quality hybrids is under way at DeKalb's Boone, Iowa hybrid corn production plant.

Dekalb is investing more than $4.8 million to upgrade and renovate this facility's husksort, seed drying-shelling, and bulk storage capacity.

"The primary focus of our plant improvements is assuring adequate supplies of DeKalb brand seed for dealers and customers to meet growing demand," said Boone plant manager Nate Cottington. "Production is the final important link in the long chain that begins with extensive seed research and development and ends with delivering products that are profitable and productive for our customers. This upgrade tremendously improves our abilities to meet our growing customer commitments in western Iowa, eastern Nebraska, and western Missouri."

Details regarding this renovation project includes:

•Husk/sort — Existing husk/sort capacity will be increased by 50 percent to accommodate newly added seed dryers. New machinery will be included to provide more efficient husk removal.

•Dryer — A seed dryer and proprietary dryer monitoring system will be added along with other physical improvements to allow for low-temperature, high air flow drying. This enhancement expands Boone's annual drying capacity from 288,000 to 458,000 bushels.

•Sheller — Shellers are being upgraded to reduce potential seed damage while delivering cleaner seed product to bulk storage. Inline scales will also be added to provide accurate estimates of finished products.

•Bulk Storage — An additional 200 thousand bushels of rectangular storage will be constructed adjacent to existing storage facilities. This new storage capacity will be enhanced with modern conveyor systems, grain loading and unloading system with grain temperature and aeration monitoring devices.

DeKalb's Boone facility employs a 16 full-time staff and hundreds of seasonal laborers.

Successful A.I. Takes Planning

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Cattlemen can make major improvements in herd quality through proper sire selection. Superior sires can be used either through natural service or artificial insemination, but it's up to the cattleman to pencil out the costs of A.I. or versus natural service and weigh them against the benefits.

The initial benefit of using A.I. is that you have access to outstanding, proven bulls. Sire summaries now provide reliable genetic estimates identifying bulls with economically important traits.

Dr. John Hough, director of research and performance for the American Hereford Association said, "Using top bulls will result in top replacement heifers for use within your own herd or for which there may be a good market. A.I. also forces you to keep good records which helps improve your replacement heifer selection and can be used to merchandise your herd."

Before incorporating A.I. into your brreeding program be sure cows are in good condition. A high percentage of them must be cycling normally or the A.I. program will not be successful. If more than 20 percent of your cows are open at the end of the breeding season, or more than 50 percent of your calves are born after the first 40 days of calving season, examine your management before starting an A.I. program.

You should be especially certain of good nutrition, record keeping and facilities that can handle A.I. for your herd.

"You must have a good understanding of your breeding goals, adequate facilities, the right equipment and the skills necessary to detect heat and inseminate cows," Hough said. "Working with a veterinarian is also important."

Dr. P.L. Senger of Washington State University echoes Hough's advice, "Most people who have success with A.I. have a good relationship with their veterinarian."

"Good heat detection is one of the single most important parts of A.I. because a bull isn't available to interpret a cow's heat signals," Hough said. "Detecting heat isn't hard, but is time-consuming, requires a regular attention, a practiced eye and other heat detection aids."

Successful A.I. programs depend on essentials that work hand in hand — good herd nutrition, good facilities, efficient handling, knowing semen quality and handling techniques, knowledge of a cow's estrus cycle, knowing how to detect heat, proper timing of insemination, a qualified technician and good record keeping skills.

"Remember," Hough said, "an A.I. program will require extensive time and effort to be successful."

Young Farmer News

Richard W. Hoppes
Education Coordinator

The Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association held its convention in Gettysburg recently. The theme this year was "Safe Farming For A Successful Future."

Gettysburg Area Young Farmers Association served as host of this big event. Many thanks go out to the adviser Thomas Oyler Jr., chairman Sam Dayhoff, and all his committees for an excellent job, putting on the tours, exhibits, the educational workshops, speakers, (Honorable Charles C. Brosius, Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture, Dr. David Mowery, and Terry Fox, Gettysburg School administrators).

The PYFA executive board mete on Tuesday to make sure all the information was in order for the delegate meeting on Wednesday and the awards program.

During the delegate meeting, the delegates voted on and elected the following officers for this year's term. President Jeffrey Rohrer, Chambersburg; President-Elect David N. Groff, Manheim; Past President Garry Maurer, Cornwall; Secretary Robert Corman, Centre Hall; Treasurer A. Dale Herr, Kirkwood; P.R.D. Ed Zug, Peach Bottom; Vice Presidents: Region 2 - Nevin S. Horning, Lititz; Region 3 - Dale Rossman, Spring Mills; Region 4 - Daniel Wilkinson, Gettysburg; Region 5 - Paul Kemerer, Latrobe; Region 7 - Paul Zimmerman, Bernville; Membership chairman - Terry Martin, Chambersburg; Newsletter editors - Richard and Grace Hoppes, Hamburg.

The delegates approved a $25,100 budget for 1997, a dues increase of $2 for 1998, the dues will be $8 for members, spouses $4, lifetime $120. Other changes were made to the Constitution and Bylaw Article 4 Officers Section D. It should read: The president and president elect shall be limited to a one (1) year term of office. All other officers shall be limited to three (3) consecutive years in the same office, except the treasurer.

The delegates voted not to support the NYFEA dues increase or the name change. Our two national delegates will go to the national summer business meeting in Nashville, Tenn., in July and vote against the proposal. The delegates wholeheartily supported the PYFA to host the 1999 National Young Farmers Education Institute. They elected Larry Wilkinson of Gettysburg to chairman of this event. Larry will be setting up a meeting in March at the Hershey Convention Center for the kickoff meeting.

The awards program — the State Outstanding Community Service was Thomas and Leanne Calvert, Berlin, Pa.; the State Outstanding Young Adult Farmer Under 30 years of age went to Gary and Lisa Knall, Lebanon; the State Outstanding Young Adult Farmer over 30 years of age, went to Dave and Judy Gerhart of New Providence.

PYFA submitted last year's Honorary Young Farmer award winner, Doyle Paul, adviser of Berlin Brothersvalley chapter to the national adviser contest. He was selected as one of the top advisers in the United States.

This year's outstanding adviser was Ronald Althoff of Solanco Area High School. He was selected for his outstanding performance in conducting outstanding programs. He also served on the PYFA advisery group and represented Pennsylvania Vocational Agriculture Teacher Association (PVATA).

Richard Moore, adviser of the Cedar Crest chapter, received the Honorary Young Farmer Award.

One of our awards that benefits all agriculture is our Spokesperson for Agriculture, which is sponsored by Pennsylvania Farm Credit Association and PYFA. This year we had two excellent members enrolled in the contest. Mandy Hillbert of Littlestown won on her five-minute talk on "Meeting the Challenge, GPS." Carla Witter from Shippensburg was the runner-up and spoke on "This is a Good and Fair Price Society." Judges were John Weaner, York Farm Credit; Richard Crouse, Farm Services Agency; and J. Clair Witwer, President of the Pennsylvania Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association.

The next day, Carla went on a Lucky Shoppers Day, PYFA set up a public relation trip to Festival Food in Gettysburg. Ed Bates, manager, welcomed us with media exposure. Carla Witter, Mary Ann Keith, a young farmer member, and a past state and national spokesperson winner, Ed Zug, Gerald Reichard, and Richard Hoppes, talked to shoppers and handed out farm coloring books to the children. A lucky shopper was selected. We paid all of her food items which totaled $94.79. Jane Feister of Arendtsville was the lucky shopper. She paid her non-food items, which was $16.50.

EPD Information Easily Obtained

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Many cattlemen have started using EPDs, or Expected Progeny Differences, to select breeding stock. EPDs are only one of many management tools being implemented to help cut costs as market competition stiffens and consumers demand leaner meat at lower prices.

EPDs can be defined as the difference in performance expected from progeny of a sire, compared to progeny of another sire.

This method of sire selection is practically standard operating procedure in many registered cattle operations, but how can it benefit all cattlemen?

"Using EPD information can be the basis for steady herd improvement," said Dr. John Hough, director of research and performance at the American Hereford Association.

"We're finding many cow/calf operators are requesting annual sire summaries to select bulls and/or semen to optimize the economically-beneficial traits needed in their herds," Hough said, "Once EPD values, and their cost-effectiveness are understood, a sire summary can be one of the most effective tools to assist in a herd improvement program."

Sire summaries are easily obtained from breed associations, which also supply them to land-grant universities and extension centers. Representatives from breed associations, county and state extension agents and state beef cattle specialists can explain how to use the summaries. In fact, breed associations and extension specialists offer educational programs to help increase understanding of EPDs. Most breeds have their sire summaries on the World Wide Web.

"If you decide to incorporate EPD information into your herd management program, it is very important you do not compare EPD information across breeds," Hough said. "EPDs can only be compared within a single breed."

Characteristics that can be selected from EPDs include birth weight, weaning weight, milk production, yearling weight and scrotal circumference. Each EPD has been assigned an accuracy value which can help you better determine the reliability of the EPD estimates.

By incorporating EPD information into your sire selection program, you can end up with greater trait predictability from your herd and potentially greater profits from higher-quality cattle. Cattlemen can get more information about EPDs by contacting the American Hereford Association at (816) 842-3757.

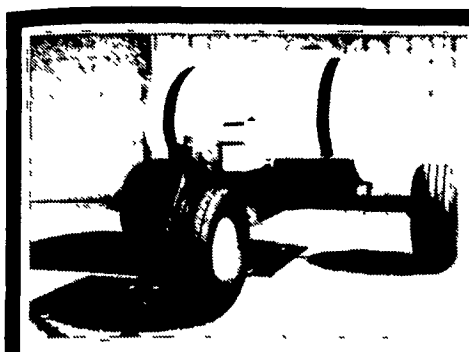
Farm Plan. A Service of FPC Financial



A handy tool for nearly every program, this tri-wheel cart is available in 500 and 1000 gallons and with 3-16.5x16.1 ply tires, it can be used to pull behind planters, cultivators, booms and toolbars. Only 10' long, a unique caster steering front wheel assembly allows it to turn inside it's own wheel track. A ground drive piston and hydraulic pump are an option.

GEHL Box Spreaders

Low profile design means easy loading by skid loader front end loader or barn cleaner

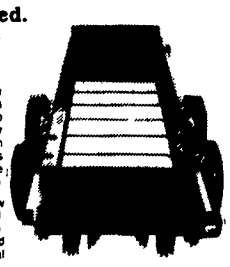
Gehl-Tuff Fleering prevents the apron from freezing to the floor allowing manure to slide out with little resistance Less apron pull means less wear and tear on drives and apron chains One piece construction won t flex under heavy loads

Extra-strong, T-bar apron chains with an average tensile strength of over 23 500 pounds keep the biggest loads moving

Double Galvanized steel sides are corrosion resistant for long life One-piece seamless construction won't catch material or leak

Optional hydraulic endgate rests in front of the beater paddles to secure sloppy loads and keep heaped material out of the beater unit you re ready to spread An available litter pan reduces spills in the yard or roadway while enhancing the spread distribution

Oscillating tandem wheels allow faster ground speeds while providing greater flotation They re standard on the 325 bushel and 425 bushel models and optional on the 250 bushel model



Twelve extra wide one-piece beater paddles are symmetrically positioned for broad uniform spreads Paddles are fabricated from tough 1/4" thick high strength steel Bolt on replacement tips are available to extend paddle life

Constant velocity pto for continuous smooth chatter free power transfer when spreading on turns and reduced stress on the entire drive line

Huge 425 Bushel Ready To Put To Work Hydraulic Drive

In fact, you'd probably have a hard time convincing Gehl Mix-All® owners to even look at anything else. And why should they?
The Mix-All's big 21-inch wide hammermill features 66 reversible thin hammers that cut, rather than pound the feed to deliver a more consistent grind and ensure uniform mixing for a better feed conversion rate.
Gehl's self-contained hydraulic system is designed-in, not added on. It provides the precision of infinitely variable in-feed attachment control to match tractor power for greater grinding capacity. Plus you get fast, smooth, trouble-free unloading with greater reliability. And a wide variety of options and attachments lets you customize your Mix-All to fit any operation.

GEHL. Scavenger® Manure Spreaders

In Stock at Binkley & Hurst

THE BEST JUST GOT BETTER!

Better Performance. Gehl Scavenger®, the original V-tank spreader, has built a well-deserved reputation for delivering unmatched performance in a wide variety of materials. The new Scavenger takes that performance to the next level with even better spreading patterns in the toughest heavily-bedded manures
Increased Durability. Not only has the new Scavenger been designed to out-perform all other V-tank spreaders, but the main drive system components have been beefed up for extra durability and increased dependability
Why is Scavenger the Best? One big reason is the unique new round-core auger. This auger features segmented paddles grouped in a spiral pattern. This fighting configuration delivers more material to the discharge expeller in less time for faster unloading. The paddles are precisely positioned to deliver more uniform feeding to the discharge expeller. This exceptional design breaks up and blends all types of manure.
The auger is hydraulically powered both up and down (unlike competitive units that use springs, gravity or fixed augers). This design provides more control to chop through bridged material or pwer down through heavy loads.
Outstanding Application Control. Gehl's proven Varilo discharge system has been made even better. It's 33 percent wider on the Model 1315. On all new models the expeller assembly has been significantly strengthened. New square-tooth expeller paddles spread smoothly and evenly. You choose the rate you want, from heavy spring-time spreading to light top-dressing. With Scavenger you have complete control right at your fingertips.
Scavenger is Simply Better. The Gehl Scavenger is a simple spreader. It's solid and durable with sealed, welded tank construction and a full length channel steel sub-frame. Every Scavenger is built to deliver top performance year after year.
Your Gehl Dealer can show you why the new Scavenger V-tank spreader is still the best.

MONOSEM THE PRECISION VACUUM PLANTER

When precision planting counts!...

You take every step possible to ensure that your farming operation is a success. Binkley & Hurst, Inc. is dedicated to bringing you the latest in planting technology, with unmatched accuracy and precision. Enjoy the ease of machine operation, significantly higher yields, and dependability you can count on.

Visit Binkley & Hurst Bros. soon to experience the advantages of precision vacuum planting with a Monosem NG Plus series vacuum planter.

- 2 to 12 Rows
- 3 pt. hitch on pull-type
- Liquid or dry fertilizer
- No till or conservation till

* Heavy-duty frame with 7"x7" heavy wall steel tubing
* Spring-loaded contact drive wheels eliminate mechanical clutches.
* Ideal for regular field crops PLUS specialty crops.

NG PLUS SERIES METERING SYSTEM

Patented Metering Box

Monosem Patent
One Simple adjustment has two functions
To set the height of the seed scraper
To proportion the air-suction to the weight of the seed

It's easy to change from crop to crop The correct seed disc is selected based on the size and weight of the seed. A bean seed disc, for example, can plant a variety of bean seeds. When planting different crops, you need only adjust the metering box vacuum and change seed discs.

NG+ 2-row, variable width rowspacing, with dry fertilizer and Microsem granular applicator. Shown planting sweet corn. Affordable high technology available for the farmer with smaller acreage or multiple crops, but who is still concerned with seed costs, seed spacing, seed singulation, depth control and uniform germination.

Dynamic Duo!

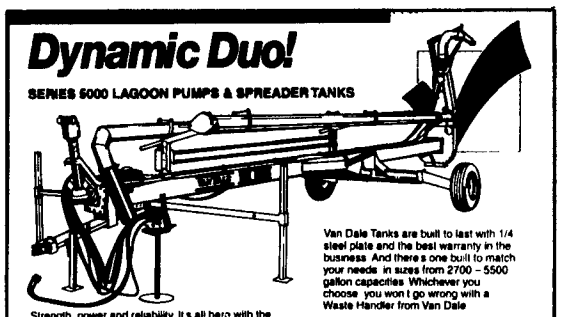
SERIES 5000 LAGOON PUMPS & SPREADER TANKS



Van Dale Tanks are built to last with 1/4 steel plate and the best warranty in the business. And there's one built to match your needs in sizes from 2700 – 5500 gallon capacities. Whichever you choose you won't go wrong with a Waste Handler from Van Dale.

Strength, power and reliability. It's all here with the new Series 5000 Lagoon Pumps. These pumps have the perfect combination of agitation volume and pressure needed to break up hard surface crust or bottom manure solids with speed and power. And with up to 5000 G.P.M. agitation capacity it can blast a stream of manure 100 or more in any direction to create an easy pumping and spreading slurry. The new Series 5000 trailer mounted or 3-point hitch by far the fastest and easiest to operate pumps on the market.

ALL-NEW SUPER BOOM™

THE HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMP

When you're looking for a skid-steer, there's the challengers and then there's the champ. Well say hello to the undisputed champ in the all-new Model LX885 New Holland Super Boom™ skid-steer loader.

It has a 60-horsepower, turbocharged diesel engine for the ultimate in power. Its massive 2,200-lb. operating load picks up where all others leave off. Of course, it has the features you expect from New Holland, such as the best speed, stability, visibility, lift height and dump reach in the industry. Add that to the Pick Up 'n Go™ universal attachment system and there's nothing it can't handle. Stop by today and put the champ to work for you.

NO. 1 SPREADER

MADE FOR HARD WORK AND HEAVY LOADS

The choice of farmers in North America year after year, New Holland box spreaders can be counted on to do the heavy work that can't wait.

The model 145 hauls up to 177 bushels of material on one load. The rugged A-frame hitch carries the load safely from below and does not pull it from the front.

Of course, the sides and floor boards will be replaced free for 12 years, if they fail. And only your New Holland dealer can offer this Bonded Protection.

Cut stall clean-out time by 50% with a Millcreek Compact Spreader.

"The spreading efficiency sure outweighs the price. This is a wonderful machine. I couldn't be more pleased."
EARL SINKS - Brock, Texas

Say "Good-Bye" to back-breaking manure handling and cut stall clean-out time in half. Hook an affordable Millcreek Compact Spreader to your 10 hp garden tractor, take it right to the stall for easy loading. No more wheelbarrow.

Millcreek Spreaders last and last

Since spreaders are our specialty, we put more into each one. For example our 20-year guaranteed floor will never rust or rot. Positive chain drive provides excellent spreading action. And tough steel construction holds up to rugged farm use. Seven sizes, for 1-horse barns to 50-horse stables. PTO and ground drive models available.

The New White 6045 ROPS. When you're working in and under low overheads, this low profile 45 PTO hp tractor is a great value for today's farmer. The 6045 gives you a low profile straddle mount and a 12F/12R synchronized reverser transmission to change direction in any gear. For reliable power, there's a liquid-cooled diesel engine. And its true center line power front axle with a 50-degree turning angle helps you get around the tight spaces. Plus, the 6045 has a 2-year/2000-hour AGCO warranty on 100% parts and labor, with no deductible. Climb into a 6045 at your local White dealer. And ask about flexible Agricredit financing plans, offering low rates and waiver of interest contracts.

Logging with Le Winch!

Made in the USA

Le Winch is built specifically for the woodsman interested in protecting the forest by harvesting his own trees. Excellent for the part-time logger as well, Le Winch is a cost effective alternative to expensive skidders.

Skid logs 10 times faster!

- Ideal for 3 pt. hitch to 20-50 h.p. tractors w/ pto.
- Heavy duty pulley w/ overload clutch.
- Dozer blade provides maximum stability.

Vitamix Makes Antibiotics Obsolete!
You Can Sell The Milk
When You Use Vitamix Instead Of Antibiotics

A dairyman's helper gave a cow an antibiotic and forgot to make a written record of it. He then went on vacation and for the next five days, the milk from 900 cows went down the drain!! The $42,000.00 lost would have bought enough Vitamix to last for years and years for that dairyman's whole herd.

You can sell the milk when feeding Vitamix. Vitamix is a mixture of vitamins, minerals, enzymes, electrolytes, and proteins, especially calculated to feed the immune system. Vitamix is the result of over 20 years research and over 20,000 feeding experiments. Vitamixingredients are so micro pulverized and easily digestible that some of them melt in the mouth and are absorbed into the bloodstream while the cow is still chewing her feed. Her organs increase the output of antibodies (white cells) within minutes, and can often double the output of antibodies within one hour after consuming Vitamix, and you can get Vitamix without a prescription. Vitamix is all natural. You just put Vitamix in the feed whenever there are symptoms of a contagious disease or infection.

The cow's immune system can cure any and every kind of contagious disease and infection quicker, safer, more consistently than any medical drug in the world when you support the immune system. The immune system is the only real defense. I keep cows and horses for feeding experiments.The last time I used an antibiotic was in 1984 and haven't lost a cow, calf or horse since I quit using antibiotics.

Any time any human or animal gets a contagious disease or any kind of infection, it is for one reason, and one reason only; The immune system failed to do an adequate job of defending against it. In other words, the immune system let you down.

Every time you use antibiotics, sulfa drug or an immune stimulator; you weaken the immune system. See the Physicians Desk Reference (PDR) for more information on the side effects of antibiotics. The information in the PDR was provided by the drug companies that make the drugs as required by law.

Shouldn't we be feeding the immune system instead? Support the immune system. Their lives and health depend on it. Feed Vitamix every time for every contagious disease or infection.
Vitamix is the best procedure in the world for Mastitis. It is quick and easy and you can sell the milk when feeding Vitamix.

How long does it take when you take the "Support the immune system approach?" I have seen calves that were down, had high fever, bloody scours and were dehydrated. One needed help to hold its head up. The only thing I gave them was Vitamix and water. In three hours, I had to run them down and get them cornered to give the Vitamix. Dairymen tell me that Vitamix is faster than anything else they ever used.

When there is a serious case of anything contagious or infectious; I give Vitamix once an hour for three hours, or until they are back on their feed and doing noticeably better. I continue Vitamix six times daily for a few days. Vitamix typically costs only $2 to $3 a day for a cow (less for a calf). The total cost for one cow for one illness is typically $8 to $10 from start to finish.

Vitamix costs less than antibiotics, and you can get it without a prescription. Vitamix is completely drug free!!! You can sell the milk when you use Vitamix !!! ( When you use antibiotics, you pour the milk out for 5 days, sometimes more. You risk making a mistake and pouring all your milk out for 5 days or more.)

You save money Every Time you use Vitamix. Get some Vitamix now to keep on hand. Use Vitamix as soon as you see symptoms of anything contagious or infectious. You will know you did the right thing within hours.

Preventing and curing all contagious disease and infections boils down to this. Increasing the capacity to produce white cells (Antibodies). All white cells are made by the bone marrow. Antibiotics cause "bone marrow depression" thereby reducing its ability to make white cells to fight diseases and infection (See Physician's Desk Reference Book [PDR]).

I have done over 20,000 feeding experiments on healing the body, and have yet to find an incurable contagious disease or infection.

Why sit around waiting for a miracle? You can order Vitamix right now. Miracles are great and they do happen now and then; if you wait around one might happen for you. But the immune system is a miracle. You can order Vitamix today and keep it on hand, then you will have it when you need it.
Vitamix ...when you need a miracle. The best source of information about Vitamix is people who have used it. Ask a friend about Vitamix.

CHALLENGES OF WINTER VENTILATION

William D. Weaver, Jr.
Prof. & Head
Dept. Of
Poultry Science

Recently a young faculty member in the Department of Poultry Science returned to State College following a long week of driving the somewhat bumpy roads of Pennsylvania.

Riding with a number of servicepeople and visiting even a greater number of broiler houses, the faculty member said to me, "I believe that if we could correct the design and operation of the mechanical ventilation systems in those houses we could solve a large majority of the health and management problems facing the broiler industry today."

I chuckled and agreed, and indicated that approximately 25 years earlier I had spent a number of similar weeks riding in serviceperson's cars and visiting broiler houses in another state and had come to precisely the same conclusion. Then he asked, "Does this mean that we have done little to improve environments in our poultry houses over this period of time?"

I indicated that a number of improvements had been made; however, during this same period of time geneticists had selected broilers to grow much more rapidly than their ancestors 25 years ago. In fact, through selection, geneticists have been able to reduce the age required for broilers to reach a specific weight, say 4.5 pounds, by approximately one day each year. In other words, whereas it takes approximately 45 days to produce a 4.5-pound broiler (straight run) today, it would have taken 70 days to reach that same weight a quarter of a century ago.

Unfortunately, while accomplishing phenomenal increases in growth, geneticists have been forced to give up certain "fitness" traits, one of which is the bird's ability to withstand harsh environments. In other words, environmental conditions and ammonia levels that would not have caused a problem 25 years ago can severely compromise the performance of broilers today. Likewise, ventilation systems that may have been adequate several years ago could be totally unacceptable when growing current strains of broilers.

Winter or cold weather negative pressure ventilation systems must be designed to bring air in at the eaves on both sides of the house and direct it across the ceiling, allowing it to mix with the warm inside air before reaching the floor, and consequently the birds. As the moisture holding capacity of air doubles for each 20 degree Fahrenheit increase in temperature, it is critical that cold outside air be warmed before it reaches the litter.

Experience has shown that proper incoming air direction and air velocity, which is generally measured as static pressure, can best be accomplished with relatively short (normally 4 feet long and 6 or 7 inches wide) inlets, intermittently spaced 12 to 16 feet on center (oc), and equipped with an insulated, hinged baffle that directs the air across the ceiling. Inlets should be connected and operated with a manometer (static pressure) controlled automatic winching system. The system should be operated at 0.08 to 0.10 inches static pressure, which will allow air to enter the building at approximately 1,000 feet per minute and mix with the warm ceiling air.

Injecting smoke at the point air enters the room is an excellent way to evaluate the performance of a winter ventilation system. When operating properly, the incoming air jet should carry the smoke across the ceiling to at least the center of the room before much dissipation occurs.

Sometimes, even when the static pressure (inlet velocity) is adequate, the smoke will not reach the center of the building. In these cases the producer should determine if the air is actually being directed across the ceiling. If air direction is not the problem, then it may be a case where the size of the air jet is too small. This occurs when the air inlet is not allowed to open wide enough and consequently allowing only a narrow "ribbon" of air to enter. (Remember the larger the incoming air mass at a given velocity/static pressure, the farther it will travel.)

Again, experience has shown that air inlets must be open approximately 1 inch when the static pressure is 0.10 of an inch to ensure that the incoming air jet reaches the center of the building (50 feet wide). In cases where this combination of width and static pressure can not be accomplished during colder weather, the inlets can be

NETAFIM Quality Works

Our experience shows.

Top quality hay requires timely handling. The proven reliability of the Massey Ferguson 300 Series tractors helps ensure you will get to the field on time, and stay there without breakdowns until the job is done.

Cool-running Perkins diesel engines develop the high torque at low engine rpm needed for efficient mowing, raking and baling. Choose from a variety of transmissions, each of which delivers maximum productivity.

These 55-95 PTO horsepower workhorses are available in footstep models or with a quiet, comfortable Hi-Line+ cab on most models. Add a loader and an MF 300 Series tractor can handle your bale moving chores with ease, too.

Massey Ferguson® has been the world's best-selling brand of tractors for 32 years. See why with a test-drive today at your local MF® dealer.

shortened or the inlets spaced further apart (but not more than 20 feet oc) to increase throw. Also, more fan capacity may be required, which can be accomplished by synchronizing two fans on a single timer or two timers.

Wintertime ventilation is most critical in the production of broiler chickens. Producers are constantly being asked to increase the rates of ventilation to control ammonia, but in doing so are required to burn more fuel so as to maintain desirable room temperatures.

The key is to design the inlet and fan systems to operate most efficiently and then run the system adequate amounts of time to maintain litter moisture between 20 and 30 percent and ammonia level below 25 to 30 ppm.

1 To enter and be eligible for prizes, complete the Official Entry Form (available at participating Firestone farm tire outlets) and deposit it with or mail it to your nearest participating Firestone farm tire retailer — or neatly print or type your name, address, ZIP code, phone number and age on a plain 3" x 5" piece of paper and mail it to: Firestone Rear Farm Tire Giveaway, Attn: Mindy Cownie, 2633 Fleur Drive, Des Moines, IA 50321. Entries must be received by April 30, 1997. Winners will be selected in a random drawing to be held on or about June 1, 1997, from all eligible entries received. Official Entry Form must be filled out completely to be eligible.

2 The odds of winning depend on the number of eligible entries received. Prizes are guaranteed to be awarded. No substitution, refund or transfer of prizes is permitted. Selection of the winners via a random drawing will be under the supervision of the Firestone Agricultural Tire Company (a division of Bridgestone/Firestone, Inc.), whose decisions are final. Each winner will be notified by mail or telephone.

3 Prize winners will be obligated to sign an Affidavit of Eligibility, Publicity Release and Release of Liability, in form and substance satisfactory to Firestone, within 30 days of notification, or an alternate winner will be selected. Any federal, state and local taxes are the sole responsibility of the winners. Approximate retail value of each pair of the Firestone rear farm tires: $400 - $2,800. Actual retail value varies by tire design and size. For the names of the prize winners, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope by June 1, 1997, to: Firestone Rear Farm Tire Giveaway Winners, Attn: Mindy Cownie, 2633 Fleur Drive, Des Moines, IA 50321. Requests will be fulfilled after the contest ends.

4 Contest is open to anyone who is 18 or older, except employees of the Firestone Agricultural Tire Company, Bridgestone/Firestone, Inc., or its affiliates, Firestone farm tire dealerships, their advertising and promotional agencies, and the immediate families of each. Void where prohibited by law. All federal, state and local laws and regulations apply.

Company Honors Drivers

BLUE BALL (Lancaster Co.) — Martin Limestone, Inc. honored 59 truck drivers at the company's 22nd annual driver safety award banquet recently.

The award honors drivers for operating one or more consecutive years without a chargeable accident.

Drivers from New Holland Concrete in New Holland, Burkholder Paving in Ephrata, and Martin Limestone in Blue Ball, all divisions of Martin Limestone, Inc., logged more than two million miles during the year, delivering crushed limestone, agricultural limestone, Diamond-tex, asphalt, concrete block products, and ready-mix concrete throughout eastern Pennsylvania and surrounding states.

Thirty-five drivers received recognition for compiling five or more consecutive years without a chargeable accident. Drivers recognized for 22 consecutive years were Lloyd W. Fox from New Holland Concrete and H. Ed Lapp from Martin Limestone.

Allan A. Sheaffer from Martin Limestone earned an award for 20 years.

Rick L. Buch from Martin Limestone earned an award for 19 years. Henry W. Horst from New Holland Concrete and James E. Smoker from Martin Limestone received recognition for 18 years. Receiving a 14-year award was Donald L. Landis from Burkholder Paving.

Drivers receiving 13-year awards are Robert A. Riehl and John J. Haas from New Holland Concrete and Ray M. Brubaker from Martin Limestone.

Earning 11-year awards are Gerald Scot Stoltzfus, Marvin Z. Martin, Smith C. Burkey, and Floyd L. Stoltzfus from New Holland Concrete and Robert R. Snader, E. Clair Bowman, and Martin L. Zimmerman from Martin Limestone.

Two drivers earned 10-year awards Hershey Zimmerman from New Holland Concrete and Warren Scott Patten from Martin Limestone.

Nine-year awards were earned by George Galbraith, Lamar Kennel from New Holland Concrete, and Timothy Sprecher from Martin Limestone.

Eight-year awards earned are Mike Hess and M. Rick Lied from New Holland Concrete and William L. Martin from Martin Limestone.

Drivers earning the seven year award are Mervin Reiff from Burkholder Paving, Glenn Redcay from New Holland Concrete, and Randy Weaver from Martin Limestone.

Ned Martin and Rob Rissler from Burkholder Paving and William A. Martin of New Holland Concrete earned six-year awards.

White Oak Mills Presents Seminar

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — The White Oak Mills Dairy Appreciation Seminar was held at the Kauffman Community Center recently.

Speakers included Dr. James E. Nocek and Dr. Paul R. Greenough. Attending the seminar were William Snider, president of Snider's Elevator Inc., and John Wanger, senior v.p., White Oak Mills. Wagner is co-owner of White Oak Mills, Elizabethtown and Snider is owner of Snider's Elevator Inc., Lemasters.

Topics at the meeting included carbohydrate digestion in dairy cows and maximizing grain feeding opportunities.

Susan Snider manager of marketing, Snider's Elevator Inc. and Jennifer Walter, manager of sales and marketing, White Oak Mills recently met to discuss the introduction of White Oak's "Nutri-Catalyst"® into Snider's product line. Before the meeting, Snider guided Walter and, Don Lloyd, vice president of dairy sales, and John Wagner, senior vice president of corporate sales, all of White Oak Mills, through a tour of Snider's Elevator Inc. Lemasters facility.

York Farm Credit, Clugston Provide Prize

YORK (York Co.) — York Farm Credit, ACA, and Clugstown Ag and Turf continued their tradition of providing farmers with useful tools for their farms by providing free use of new machinery to prize winners at the Franklin County Extension Corn Clinic.

Winners were rewarded with free delivery and use of equipment sponsored by York Farm Credit, ACA and Clugston Ag and Turf, Dave Layman won the use of a new John Deere tractor for one week, Lester Wingert won three days use of a new Bobcat Skid Steer Loader, and Carl Pugh won one day free use of a new forage box.

More than 235 people participated in the corn clinic meeting recently and these winners were chosen from 93 entries.

Badger Farm Equipment On The Roll Again

ST. NAZIANZ, Wis. — Badger farm equipment dealers recently received good news about the future of their product lines and continued parts availability. The announcement came as a sister company of Miller-St. Nazianz purchased the product lines and parts business of what was formerly known as Badger Northland. The new transaction promises a renewed supply of parts for the existing population of Badger equipment, along with restoring the new product inventory and backing it with retail finance support.

The new company said that Badger equipment will soon be rolling again with its familiar green color and well-known Badger name. Major product lines will include forage boxes, forage blowers, silo unloaders, barn cleaners, plus manure tankers and pumps.

Company president John Miller said the acquisition will provide immediate benefits to Badger customers. "Our first priority is to refill the parts pipeline so Badger users can continue to keep their equipment in top operating condition. Then, we'll build a fresh inventory of new, high quality Badger equipment," he said. In the meantime, the company suggests customers contact local Badger dealers for information on the progress.

Miller-St. Nazianz designs, manufactures and markets the Miller Pro brand of forage boxes, running gear, high lift dump boxes, rotary cam action rakes, trailer crop sprayers, commercial truck sprayers, field cultivators, and hay and grain elevators. Retail financing for equipment buyers is also available. The company's state-of-the-art design and manufacturing facility employs high tech engineering, the latest robotic welding, computer controlled techniques, plus an electrostatic prime and finish coating process. It is located at St. Nazianz, Wis.

Miller-St. Nazianz has long been recognized for providing high-performing agricultural equipment incorporating the latest designs and highest quality materials. The company has been in business for nearly 100 years, and continually receives high marks from its customers for responsive, personal, customer service support. Miller said the company's plans call for major new additions to both the Badger and Miller Pro product lines. Several new products will be premiered at this year's Wisconsin Farm Progress Show which takes place near St. Nazianz.

Kreamer Celebrates 50th

KREAMER (Snyder Co.) — Kreamer Feed, Inc. will be celebrating its 50th anniversary in 1997.

Founded in March 1947 by George W. Robinson as a retail feed store, the company added its first grind and mix operation in 1952 and have expanded operations many times. Kreamer now has an automated feed mill for all types of poultry or livestock feed.

They were one of the pioneers in poultry contracting in the mid-50s and are one of the few family owned businesses that have been contracting poultry for more than 40 years.

Today George W. Robinson is chairman of the board, William D. Robinson is president, Edward G. Robinson is vice president, and Keith Fleetwood is general manager. They specialize in producing all types of poultry for different ethnic and religious groups, as well as broilers and roasters for processors.

They are planning on an open house in June and a customer barbecue in September. They would very much like to invite anyone who has been a part of their success over the years to contact them for more information.

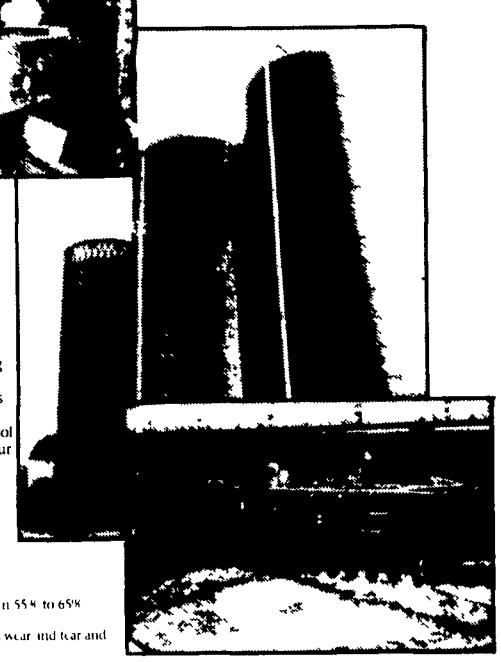
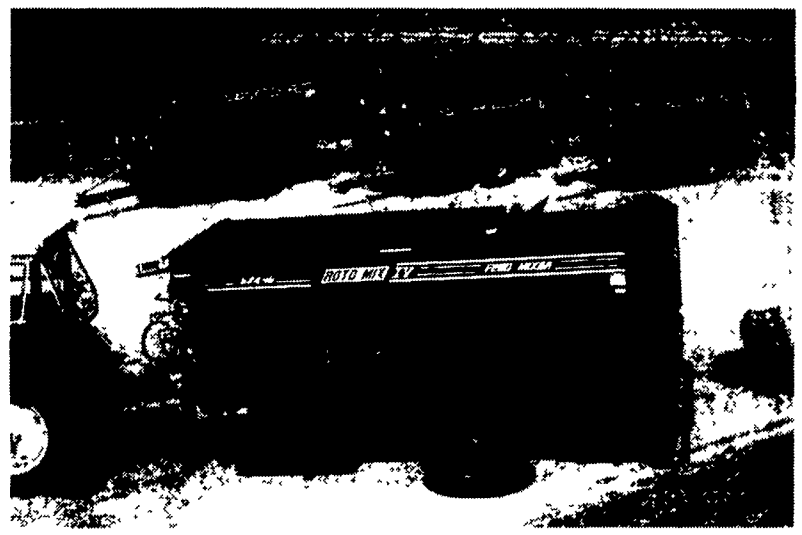
BIG JIM® Quantum™ SYSTEM
FOR CONVENTIONAL SILOS AND BOTTOM UNLOADING SILO CONVERSION SYSTEMS (B U C S)



Big Jim QUANTUM™ is a totally redesigned heavy-duty system that offers the best features of both Jamesway's Big Jim and B U C S® unloading systems plus a whole lot more Now no matter what type of forage silo you own – conventional or oxygen limited – you can look to the future with a system that truly handles big capacity and fast feeding better than any unloader top or bottom A system that's easy to own with no doors to change or dirty chutes to climb A system that makes it easy for you to control ration feeding And a system that puts your tower silo investment to its best use far better than any type of bunker silo With Big Jim QUANTUM you get

- FASTER FEED UNLOADING up to 35 tons per hour or up to 1 166 pounds per minute
- HIGHER SILO CAPACITY pack up to 35 4 more forage into your silo
- GREATER FEED VALUE ensile forage between 55 8 to 65 8 moisture content
- EASIER MAINTENANCE AND REPAIR less wear and tear and components are accessible

ROTO-MIX FEED MIXERS



The ROTO-MIX professionals know that quality feed means increased consumption, therefore, higher production levels With ROTO-MIX IV you reduce fines, minimize shrinkage, and eliminate dead spots The gentle tumbling action mixes fragile flaked and high-moisture ingredients without grinding, resulting in a fluffier, more nutritional ration Nothing robs a ration of nutritional value more than fines Conventional auger mixers use pressure to move the feed through the mixing chamber, thus crushing the feed and creating fines But the ROTO-MIX patented mixing system uses a rotor to gently lift the feed past the wedging point of the lower side auger, keeping fines to a minimum and reducing nutritional loss Even the most nutritious ration is effective only if the cattle eat the complete ration Improperly mixed feed allows the cattle to "nose out" what they don't want, disrupting the balance of nutrients But the ROTO-MIX end-to-end side to-side mixing system provides the most thorough TMR available, ensuring that your cattle will consume a balanced ration of nutrients in every pound of feed they eat

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

"HOW WILL YOU BE STORING YOUR VALUABLE FORAGES AND GRAINS IN THE 21st CENTURY?"

It's not too early to begin planning your storage and feeding systems for the year 2000 and beyond.

As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency; this can have as great an influence on PROFIT as milk price changes.

Protect your valuable feeds from the elements... increase the efficiency of your feeds, your animals, and your labor.

Rural Economy

Cost-efficient Centurydrain® roofing and siding is on some of the best looking buildings in the country.

Build with Centurydrain roofing and siding and you've built a money-wise structure. Full-hard, high tensile galvanized steel, and an exclusive drain channel for a dry interior give you a building that'll handle years of hard duty and hard weather. Good looking, too. Crisp lines and plenty of bright, long-lasting colors make Wheeling Centurydrain as handsome as it is economical.

90 Cow Tie Stall Barn—Atglen, PA
Lapp's Barn Equipment can install a high-performance/high efficiency tunnel ventilation system in your barn. A tunnel ventilation system will give you an even air flow throughout your barn of 2-5 mph. This gives you the advantage of better controlling temperature to give your cows more comfort which means more milk!! Also, a tunnel ventilation system eliminates circulating fans, provides summer and winter ventilation and controls fly problems! An optional unit can even automate your ventilation so you will never even have to worry about it when you're not there, so you can concentrate on other things!
At Lapp's, we sell high quality ventilation systems manufactured by Acme Engineering, Acme products feature such things as

- Galvanized Construction
- Wide Cambered Propeller
- Rivited Blades
- Unique Captured Bearings
- Vertical Support Frame
- Screens Pre-cut
- Totally Enclosed Motors
- Optional Discharge Diffuser Cone
- Optional Belt Tightener

If you've been considering starting in llamas, or having a llama for a pet, why not stop in to see our herd.

Our young males start at $500, our weanling females at $2,500, our pregnant females at $3,500. A deposit will hold any of our crias (baby llamas) for you.

We prefer seling off the farm, rather than subjecting our animals to the stress of auctions.

All of our llamas are registered with the International Llama Registry. Some of the finest wool and blood lines can be found in our herd, incuding Otter Creek Harold.

All llamas can be halter led, and are gently trained by teenagers.

1997 Wayne County Dairy Day To Be Held March 8

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — The 1997 Wayne County Dairy Day will be held on Saturday, March 8th from 9:30 a.m. to about 3:15 p.m., at the Honesdale High School off of Terrace Street in Honesdale.

Dairy Day is held each year to provide area dairy farmers with new technology, new products and current dairy information. It is also conducted to recognize the importance of the dairy industry to our local economy. Dairy Day is sponsored jointly by the Penn State Cooperative Extension and area farm businesses and agricultural organizations.

This year's educational topics will include: "Pesticide Update Education Program," "Greenhouse Barns for Dairy Animals," "Future Opportunities Under the New Federal Milk Marketing Orders," "Dairy Stakeholders Program and Other Dairy Programs" and "Farm Safety Demonstration." The 1996-1997 Wayne County Dairy Maids will also be at Dairy Day with their dairy promotion information and educational presentation.

Each year, area dairymen and dairy farm families have an opportunity to visit and talk with area agri-businesses, A.I. breeding cooperatives, feed dealers and nutrition services, farm organizations and groups plus area financial and lending offices. Dairy Day is a great opportunity for all of these dairy-oriented people and agri-businesses to exchange ideas, new technology and products and lots of good useful dairy industry information.

Door prizes will be awarded throughout the day culminating in the drawing, at the end of the Dairy Day program, for the two $100 U.S. Savings Bonds.

Milk, ice cream and cheese bars will be set up in the hallway of the school and near the auditorium. These are courtesy of area milk cooperatives and handlers.

Lunch will be served at about 12:00 noon until about 1:00-1:15 p.m. in the school cafeteria, and is provided courtesy of the 1997 Wayne County Dairy Day exhibitors.

Area dairy farm families planning to attend the 1997 Wayne County Dairy are reminded that lunch reservations are required. Only those with lunch reservations will be guaranteed to be served. So, please call your lunch reservations to the Wayne County Cooperative Extension at 253-5970 extension 239. Two types of tickets are available — children's tickets (5 to 12 years of age) and adults (13 years to ?). Please specify how many of each your family will need. Final date for these lunch reservations is March 6. Please call.

For additional information about the 1997 Wayne County Dairy Day, please contact the Wayne County Cooperative Extension at 253-5970 extension 239.

Author To Speak At Conservation District's Annual Banquet

SHAMOKIN (Northumberland Co.) — Susan Q. Stranahan, award-winning author of the widely-sold book, "Susquehanna, River of Dreams," and staff writer at The Philadelphia Inquirer, is scheduled to speak at the conservation district's annual awards banquet, which has been scheduled for March 13 at Shikellamy High School in Sunbury.

Stranahan's news stories about the Three Mile Island nuclear accident were a major component of the articles that earned the Inquirer the Pulitzer Prize for general reporting. She has won a number of other state and national reporting awards, and was an Alicia Patterson Foundation Fellow in 1983.

Having written about regional and national environmental issues for more than two decades, Stranahan has written articles for The New York Times and The Washington Post, as well as the National Wildlife Federation, Audubdon, and Sierra magazines. She has a vast knowledge of the Susquehanna River because of her research for the book.

After a roast beef dinner, numerous individuals and groups will be awarded for conservation work they have done in the past year, including Northumberland County's Outstanding Farmer of the Year and the Conservation Educator of the Year. Following the awards presentations, Stranahan will present slides with her speech.

Stranahan will be available for book signing after the banquet, and if anyone is interested in purchasing the book, they are encouraged to contact the conservation district office at (717) 988-4224. The banquet is open to the public and reservations can be made by calling the same number.

MAKE IT Happen! FFA

Manor FFA

Recently the Agriculture Department at Penn Manor High School received a donation from the Autozone Corporation of America as a part of their "Partners in Education" program.

Physically speaking, the agriculture department received over seven thousand pounds worth of mechanically related equipment and teaching materials. This translates into a donation estimated to be $96,000 worth of goods. Included in the sizable donation were welding equipment, mechanical parts, tools, books, and other valuable learning aids.

Recently Marvin Allen, the Pennsylvania district representative for Autozone and Ohio Representative Bill Myers came to Penn Manor High School, where Dr. Michael Moskalski, the Penn Manor superintendent, and Valerie Breneisen, high school principal accepted the donation on behalf of the Penn Manor School District and the Penn Manor Agriculture Department.

Erik Ober, a student at Penn Manor High School Agriculture Department and member of Manor FFA, recently has been working at overhauling a 1964 Farmall 706 diesel tractor.

Erik is an senior at Penn Manor High School and is enrolled in several agriculture classes. Erik brought the tractor in to Agriculture Mechanics III class in September. Erik tore the tractor down and refinished the cylinder heads, reqired the entire electrical system, repaired the cooling system, repaired the hydraulic system, cleaned the fuel system, and restored the tractor to the original factory colors.

Erik is employed at Guy Eshelman Farms, where he has worked for the past three years.

FOUR MAJOR INNOVATIONS

Make it the best in the world!

HI-LIFT Legs

Let you raise Volumaxx™ 15" higher than previous models, bringing it completely above the silo wall, so you can use a side distributor if you wish.

Stainless Steel in Impeller/Blower Areas

New reversible rigid or swinging paddles, impeller band, and discharge throat V-Band are now all stainless steel for longer wear and less maintenance.

High Performance Roughage Auger

New 16° forward-pitched flighting design keeps material moving toward the center of the auger tube and away from the auger's digging action. Massive 10" auger gives you more efficiency and capacity.

COMPACTION COMMANDERS
NO-TILL RIPPER/DEEP RIPPER - 3-5-7 Shanks

Brillion introduces their new Compaction Commander...designed to break up hard-pan and compaction as deep as 20". The standard V-shaped alloy point and wear strip leaves residue on the surface with minimal soil disturbance. Auto-rest shanks with 20" of trip height allows for non-stop tillage. Parabolic shanks lift and fracture the soil. 39" of underframe clearance assures trouble free operation even in heavy residue.

FLAIL SHREDDERS

Flail Shreader Heaviest gearbox on the market eliminates the number one cause of downtime. Either cup or side slicer knives. 540 or 1000 RPM.

SOIL COMMANDERS
4-5-7-9 Shanks

The Brillion Soil Commanders take Residue Management to the next generation of soil conservation efficiency.
The Soil Commanders are versatile tillage tools designed to meet the needs of the mid-size farmer who uses a 150-200 H.P. tractor. One of the keys to the machine's versatility is that it uses interchangeable shank legs and individually mounted disk assemblies instead of a disk gang. This makes possible a machine with disk assemblies on the front and rear of the frame with chisel plow or deep-ripper shanks on 15", 24", 27" or 30" spacings.

Young Farmers Hold Annual Banquet

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — On Friday, Feb. 7, the Ephrata Area Young Farmers Association held its 28th Annual banquet at Durlach-Mt. Airy Fire Hall.

Special guests were Dr. Sandra Hoover, assistant superintendent, Ephrata School District; Drew Myers, school board member, Ephrata School District; Jodi Brown, vo-ag teacher, Ephrata Senior High School; Ernest Orr, vo-ag teacher, Ephrata Senior High School; and Garry Mauer, 1996 president of the Pennsylvania Young Farmers.

Remarks were given by Michael Brubaker, adviser, EAYF; Garry Mauer, PAYF; Hoover, Ephrata School District; Amy and Jen, Cloister FFA program.

Recognition was given to individuals and organizations who were sponsors of this year's banquet.

The presentation of awards was made by EAYF advisor Michael Brubaker to the following: Highest Herd in Milk, Fat and Protein - Robert and Ruth Fox. 2nd Highest Herd in Milk, Fat and Protein - Nevin and Denise Horning. Highest increase in Milk, Fat and Protein - Paul Eugene and Shirley Bollinger. 2nd Highest increase in Fat and Protein - Tom and Sue Bollinger. 2nd Highest increase of Milk - Leonard and Joyce Martin. Highest Corn Silage Yield - Tom Sr. and Barbara Zartman.

There were 11 Active Member awards given out this year. They are Harry Becker, Jr., Robert Fox, Phil Riser, Harold Martin, Earl G. Martin, Nevin Horning, Clark Stauffer, Leonard Martin, Ira Zartman, Luke Ray Zimmerman, and Mary Schantz.

The Appreciation Award went to Dr. Soistmann for his support of the EAYF program; and the Community Service Awards went to Jodi Brown, vo-ag teacher and Ernest Orr, vo-ag teacher, Ephrata Senior High School.

Following the awards, Fred Weaver, 1996 president, introduced the 1997 officers. They are Luke Ray Zimmerman, president; Paul E. Zimmerman, vice president; Richard Stehr, secretary; Harold Martin, treasurer; and Dori Brunken, public relations.

Financial Planning

On Tuesday, Feb. 7, the Ephrata Area Young Farmers met at the Ephrata Senior High School to learn about financial planning.

Guest speakers were Dave Weidman and Douglas Tanner of American Express Financial Advisors, Inc.

Weidman explained to the EAYF how important it is to have professional financial planning and estate planning performed.

Six key scenarios are wealth replacement trust, having adequate protection, accumulating wealth, managing income tax, planning for retirement, and preserve wealth.

Young Farmer Tour, Picnic

HUNTSDALE (Cumberland Co.) — The Cumberland County Young Adult Farmers will be hosting the 1997 Pennsylvania State Young Farmer Summer Tour and Picnic, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 15 and 16.

The tour will be headquartered at the Penn Township Firehall near Huntsdale in Cumberland County. The objectives of the summer tour and picnic include education, program sharing, and statewide business meetings.

The farmers anticipate 150 from across the state to participate in this two-day event.

The Summer Tour Committee is working diligently to keep costs to a minimum. However with an event such as this one, costs are incurred. Support of this activity through a monetary contribution would be greatly appreciated.

Tuesday, July 15, will be the State Summer Tour Fellowship Banquet and will be held at the Penn Township Fire Hall.

Getting rid of those annoying hang-ups in your operation is easier than ever.

The new SURGE® One Touch™ makes stanchion milking as easy as this. A lightweight, gun-grip design integrates the milk line and pulsation connections into one simple process. Yet it's built incredibly tough to handle the real world demands of the dairy barn.

Most importantly, One Touch brings high-tech automation to stanchion operators with two optional management modules.

The TIMEKEEPER™ II module signals you when the cow finishes milking and displays how long she took to milk...promoting fast, consistent milking that leads to better udder health.

The Milk Yield Module measures individual cow production and milking time, allowing instant analysis of each cow's performance.

By putting today's production information at your fingertips, the SURGE One Touch lets you capture your cow's performance in the palm of your hand.

Wetlands Project Seeks Evaluation Criteria

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — To most folks, wetlands are mashy ponds with a duck or two floating on the water.

To Robert Brooks, associate professor of wildlife ecology in Penn State's School of Forest Resources," all wetlands are not created equal." The results of a three-year study of 51 natural wetland sites in Pennsylvania have shown this to be true.

Brooks, director of the Penn State Cooperative Wetlands Center, said Pennsylvania is losing hundreds of acres of wetlands per year to development and other uses. Simultaneously, state agencies, private companies and private citizens are restoring or creating hundreds of wetland acres each year.

The project, funded by the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Region III, gives agency employees and other professionals specific guidelines to describe and categorize a variety of wetland types, including natural wetlands used as reference sites for researchers and mitigation projects.

A series of assessment techniques to help professionals evaluate restored or created wetlands have been developed during the study.

"A wetland is an elusive thing to categorize," Brooks said. "The best way to describe our work is that we are creating a sort of template or blueprint that can best match the characteristics of a certain type of wetland to the site where you intend to replace or restore a wetland."

The project identified 51 sites as reference wetlands and categorized them into types, such as riparian depressions, headwater floodplains, mainstem floodplains, and slope wetlands. At each individual site, characteristics such as plant life, animal life, soil composition, sedimentation and basin shape also were analyzed and categorized.

"The project also extensively researched bird, amphibian and plant species that inhabit only certain wetland habitats — called indicator species," Brooks said. "To truly create or restore a wetland in a specific site, you have to match the structure and characteristics of whatever wetland type best fit the site. Otherwise, the wetland will function differently."

Brooks explains that forested wetlands fed by groundwater are the most adundant type of wetlands in the Mid-Atlantic area, and these forested areas are most commonly lost to development. If the forested wetlands are restored or created, the most common type is an open-water pond with emergent forest vegetation.

"The flora and fauna associated with forested wetlands and open-water wetlands are markedly different," Brooks said. "What this means is that some types of wetlands will be very hard to replace, and if the choice comes down to destroying a wetland, it's important to know which types can be difficult to replace."

The team's research also revealed that while different types of wetlands obviously have different characteristics, created wetlands have different characteristics from the wetland types they are modeled on. "A created wetland looks like a natural site, but it really doesn't behave like one," he said.

Although Brooks says the wetlands assessment project has given resource professionals the tools with which to identify or describe wetland types, the next step to completing the portrait of the state's wetlands is understanding how wetlands function.

"What we're missing is the personality of wetlands," Brooks said. "What do wetlands do, and why do they do it?"

To find the key to the "personality" of wetlands, the Penn State Cooperative Wetlands Center is initiating another three-year wetland project, led by Brooks and C. Andrew Cole, affiliate assistant professor of landscape architecture, designed to discover how wetlands function, including how wetlands change over time and how human disturbances affect their natural progression.

"You always need more information to improve on the designs of the future," Brooks said.

Hog Calling Contest

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that for the third straight year, a hog calling contest will highlight the Tenth Annual Maryland Department of Agriculture Open House, March 22, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

"This is the tenth consecutive year for our Open House and I want to urge as many Marylanders as possible to stop by and see how what we do helps both the producers and consumers of food. I particularly recommend the Open House for families with children. We have many activities for the youngsters to participate in including a petting zoo, laboratory tours, face painting and a farm puppet show," said Riley.

Additional activities at the Open House include craft demonstrations, a hay bale toss, and food sampling. Visitors will be able to tour the chemical, weights and measures, and plant laboratories and learn about many of the department's other programs.

The Maryland Department of Agriculture is located outside of Annapolis in Parole off of Riva Road at 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, Md. Admission is free and there is plenty of free parking.

For more information on the Open House, call the Maryland Department of Agriculture Open House, Marketing Services at (410) 841-5770.

Ag Secretary Awards Grants For Youth Programs

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius announced that 21 Pennsylvania youth organizations have been selected to receive a total of $47,597 through the Agricultural and Rural Youth Organization Grant Program.

"Gov. Tom Ridge is pleased to continue to support our state's agricultural youth programs with these grants, because our young people represent agriculture's future," Brosius said.

The Agricultural and Rural Youth Grant Board chose the winning projects based on how each would impact the greatest number of youth, and utilize existing or volunteer resources. Board members include representatives from the Agriculture Department, Education Department, Pennsylvania Rural Electric Association, Penn State Cooperative Extension, 4-H, FFA, Pennsylvania State Grange and the General Assembly.

Initiated in 1992, the program allows agriculture youth organizations to apply for direct grants up to $2,500 to fund educational projects, programs, and seminars. Every area of the state is represented under this year's grants which will fund programs ranging from 4-H camps and educational trips to a Future Farmers of America (FFA) chapter's portable gardening facility.

The grant program is funded by the Agriculture Department to increase the awareness of agricultural and rural issues. As part of his 1997-1998 budget proposal, Gov. Ridge has requested $50,000 for this program.

Recipients of this year's grants, listed by county, are:

- Beaver — Blackhawk FFA, $2,291 for a portable garden facility
- Berks/Chester — Twin Valley FFA, $2,500 for "Food for America" program designed for elementary students
- Butler — Southwest Regional 4-H, $2,500 for 4-H camp that places emphasis on entomology
- Carbon — Carbon County 4-H Development Committee, $1,000 for 4-H summer recreation program
- Chester — Oxford FFA, $1,837 for stream and ground water study for elementary presentation
- Clinton — Clinton County 4-H Development Fund, $2,500 for state citizenship program
- Clinton — Keystone Central FFA, $2,500 for comparison of chemical insect control versus biological insect control
- Columbia — Northwest Area Blazing Saddles 4-H Horse and Pony Club, $2,300 for rope project for Camp Victory
- Cumberland — Cumberland County 4-H Development Fund, $2,500 for an agriculture science camp
- Franklin — Franklin County 4-H Development Fund, $2,500 for an educational awareness program on agricultural production and management
- Fulton — Southern Fulton FFA, $2,500 for hydroponic unit

Susquehanna Conservation Team's Tour March 26

MONTROSE (Susquehanna Co.) — The Susquehanna Conservation Team has announced its upcoming Third Annual Barnyard Treatment Tour. The tour will highlight the observance of "Conservation District Week" and the Susquehanna Conservation District's 50th Anniversary.

The tour will begin on March 26 at 10 a.m. at Andre & Son Fertilizer Plant, Montrose, and finish at 3 p.m.

•Jeff Bechtel, Jessup Township. The farm features 3,750 square feet of reinforced gravel barnyard, 4,195 square feet of reinforced gravel access roads, a milkhouse waste/barnyard runoff treatment system, a one month concreted manure stacking pad, rotation grazing, and roof runoff management.

•Curtis Hepler, New Milford Township. The farm includes 8,829 square feet of concrete beef feedlot, a feedlot runoff treatment system, 2,725 square feet of reinforced gravel area, stream bank fencing and cattle crossings, and rotational grazing.

This tour provides an opportunity for farmers who are planning their own barnyards and for those interested in visiting environmentally conscious farms. There will be a $5 charge for the tour and lunch.

To preregister, contact John Benscoter, Susquehanna Conservation District, (717) 278-4600 ext. 284 or Robert Hotchkiss, Natural Resources Conservation Service, (717) 278-1011.

Cornell, N.Y. Pork Producers Gear Up For Swine School

ITHACA, N.Y. — In cooperation with Cornell University, the New York Pork Producers will be sponsoring the upcoming Cornell Swine School and Trade Show to be held March 20-21 at Morrison Hall and Livestock Pavilion.

With the theme, "Opportunities for Competitiveness in the 21st Century," the two-day session will include speakers from various agribusinesses, universities, state extension, and state producers.

Starting off the Thursday morning session will be John Otten from the Ontario Pork Corporation who will speak on "Opportunities Available for Contract Production."

Dr. Barb Straw, DVM from Michigan state, will be doing three sessions. The first on Thursday is entitled "Preventing Latrogenic (Owner-Inflicted) Pig Injuries." On Friday, Dr. Straw will speak on "Pre-Weaning Mortality and Crossfostering" and "Management Strategies To Reduce Swine Disease."

Other sessions include use of altnerative sources of phytase in swine diets, parasite control in high health herds, technology update, and genetics to produce high quality/profit pigs.

There will also be concurrent evening sessions.

Cost for the Swine School is $10, if registering before March 14. After March 14, cost is $15. For more information, contact Dr. Tro Bui at Cornell University, (607) 255-4505.

Lehigh County Accepts Farmland Preservation Applications

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) —The Lehigh County Agricultural Land Preservation Board is accepting applications from Lehigh County farmland owners with an interest in preserving farmland through the sale of development rights.

Through this program, qualified Lehigh County farmland owners can apply to sell agricultural conservation easements to the commonwealth of Pennsylvania and/or the county of Lehigh.

Agricultural conservation easements preserve farmland by permanently limiting all forms of nonagricultural development on eased farm properties. In return for giving up development rights, landowners receive cash payments up to the difference between the fair market value and the agricultural value of their properties.

To date, the agricultural conservation easement program has preserved 46 farms with a total of 5,310 acres of farmland in Lehigh County.

The State Agricultural Land Preservation Board recently announced that Lehigh County will receive $2,312,468 this year for farmland preservation. In addition, Lehigh County has committed $500,000 for the program in 1997.

Applications may be picked up in room 105 of the Lehigh County Agricultural Center, 4184 Dorney Park Road in South Whitehall. The deadline for submitting an application is Monday, March 31. Call Jeff Zehr at (610) 391-9583 for more information.
